

When Washington Was Host At Mount Vernon

The Silver Service was a feature of the entertaining, just as it is today. The graceful simplicity of the Colonial patterns gave to the Silver of those days rare beauty of lines and ornamentation—a perfection of taste and artistic conception more appreciated today than ever before.

The anniversary of Washington's birth seems a fitting time to display Colonial patterns in Silverware. We are making a special exhibit of these designs for the occasion, and invite you to examine this exquisite Silver.

Political Camouflage

This is the season when political bosses of all parties begin to paint their parties in glowing colors for the most part in approved camouflage. The first evidence of such activity was evidenced when the staid New York Times, which handles "all the news that's fit to print," gravely announced recently that North Dakota had voted 50,379 in favor of President Coolidge and 27,340 for Johnson. The figures gave heart to the Coolidge men and cast a damper on those who favored the man from the West. So far so good. The people however, are not told that these figures came as the result of a "state proposal convention," one of those delightful little inventions of the political boss framed chiefly for purposes of propaganda.

It is interesting to note that the members of the "state proposal convention" are self-appointed agents of the old guard. More interesting, however, is the manner in which they arrive at their total vote. One gentleman arises and states he comes from a district which nominally polls 15,000 votes. Therefore, he casts those 15,000 votes for Coolidge, or Johnson as the case may be. Another member arises and "coming from a district having 10,000 votes," he casts 10,000 for the man he has been directed by the bosses to support. These 15,000 and 10,000 voters have not authorized delegates to vote for them. They have never even expressed themselves on the question. But the secretary of the convention adds the figures as voted and the result is seriously given out to the country as the voice of the state. In this case there was recorded a sweeping victory for Coolidge. It might, with equal absurdity, have been declared a sweeping victory for Johnson.

It is political frauds of this character that are causing the rapid spread of so-called independence in politics, and it is truly unfortunate when responsible newspapers lend themselves to such public deception. After all, regardless of their political leanings, the people want to know the truth, not to be deceived.

Now comes a new threatened contest between the proposed release from an insane asylum of Harry Thaw, slayer of Stanford White. Thaw has done very nicely since he has been in the asylum and so have the people. The world can still get along without disturbing the existing condition.

The people would like to have the soldier get a bonus. At the same time they would like taxes reduced. At the same time they would like to keep on soaking the rich through taxation. How much depends on whose ox is gored!

Louis C. Kirby, Minister

Mrs. L. A. Robinson, Supt.

Last Sunday morning our church service reached the high-water mark. God's gracious presence was wonderfully displayed at the close of the service when over thirty young people offered themselves to God for World Service. It was a sight long to be remembered.

The Sunday School also showed another step forward in attendance. Surely God is with us and we feel thankful for it. We hope the other churches are also sharing the spirit of revivalism. Surely we need more of God and less of indifference in Monmouth.

In the morning the pastor and Official Board accepted nine grown persons into the church.

The following are the announcements:

Jollity and liveliness characterized the party given in the administration building on the evening of February 9, 1924. The rooms utilized were attractively decorated with streamers and dangling hearts, suggestive of St. Valentine's day. Among the many amusements of the evening were the web of fate, the heart hunt, old fashioned song games and various contests. Since this is leap year a proposal contest in which the men were made the victims caused much excitement.

Refreshments were in the form of brick ice cream and heart shaped cakes which were greatly enjoyed by the guests after their exciting evening.

RARE EAGLE IN LONDON ZOO

New Arrival Has Easy Time of it, if He Can Forget He is a Prisoner.

"Tim," a large white-tailed sea eagle from Mesopotamia, presented by Sir Percy Cox, has just arrived at the zoo and is lying with the sea lions in the profitable pastime of catching fish thrown by the keeper.

Though the newcomer is the sole representative of his species in the garden the white-tailed sea eagle was, at one time, fairly common in England as far south as the Lake district.

Now it is verging on extinction in these islands, there being only a few pairs left, which nest on the inaccessible cliffs of the west of Scotland and Ireland.

To look at this feathered giant of the air, you would think him particularly fierce and unapproachable, but "Tim's" appearance is deceptive, for he is really quite tame.

Under the tuition of his keeper, he is speedily becoming proficient in the art of aerial sprat-catching—which probably accounts for his docility.

"Tim" seems wise enough to realize that catching "flying fish" is better than swooping at keeper's caps, as some of his kindred do, and for his good conduct he is occasionally rewarded with a nice home-bred rat, by way of a change.

Eagles, however, are treacherous birds, and the keeper is quite as watchful as "Tim" when in his company.—A. E. H., in London Daily Chronicle.
