The Homelike Society met Tuesday afternoon with a large number of members and guests present. After a short business session the meeting was given over to Mrs. T. J. Edwards who had promised us a talk on the care and culture of chrysanthemums, which she explained very carefully from the very start of the tiny plant until you behold with delight the gorgeous blossoms. Those who love chrysanthemums and did not hear this very interesting talk missed a real treat.

Mrs. A. M. Arant was also present and told us in an interesting way of her experience and success at growing chrysanthemums, which the society appreciated very much.
