Monmouth
Meditations

On Jackson street there is a leak in the water main which has resulted in a permanent pool in the road. A young and husky frog has made the pool his home and now when the evenings are pleasant he lifts up his voice in melodious song.

T. J. Wedekind's house on Main street is now practically up and ready for the finishing. Neighbor Wedekind has built his house a great deal like the sectional book cases are increased in capacity by the addition of permanent units. The third addition is the final one, and with the work mostly to the credit of his own hands, he has a home which anyone might be proud to possess.

While there is general complaint that interest lags in the primary campaign, Glen Holman of Dallas is getting ready for energetic work during the remaining two weeks of the struggle. He is a candidate for presidential elector on the Republican ticket and has shaved off his mustache that nothing may interfere with intensive work while the campaign lasts.

The bus service which awakens protests in Dallas has served Monmouth acceptably for several years past. It may have irritated the pride a little when it was first established, but candor now acknowledges that so far as passenger service is concerned, we now have a considerably superior service to what we had in the days of the railroad. Of course there is reason for this for the paved road has made it possible not only to have very comfortable bus service connections with all the trains on the main line, but have also given us three direct round trips daily to Salem. When these are compared to the "peanut roaster" which traveled between Monmouth and Independence and the gasoline car that made the circuit by way of Dallas, it will be acknowledged that the advantage is with our present service.

From time to time it is told that the "Ku Klux" is supporting this or that candidate because one is supposed to be affiliated with the order, and opposing another worthy candidate because he is not affiliated in the same way. Frankly, we do not believe it. Quite likely there are leaders within the ranks of the hooded organization that would like to dictate in this way and who would appreciate the personal power this would give them, but the rank and file of the American people are not constituted that way. Most people like to do their own thinking and pick their own candidates.

How Many Laps?

A maid entered a suburban bus,
And firmly grasped a strap,
And every time they hit a hole
She sat in a different lap.
The holes grew deeper, the jerking worse

Till at last she gasped with a smile
"Will some one kindly tell me please
How many laps to the mile?"

KGO RADIO COLLEGE

Mountains and deserts of the great West need no longer be barriers to anyone seeking an education, for the Radio College is now a reality and on Monday nights at eight o'clock thousands tune in on KGO, the Pacific Coast Station of the General Electric Co., and receive instruction in agriculture, language, music, economics and literature.

A course in Spanish, by Professor Oscar Galeno, is so organized that listeners may send KGO stamped envelopes and receive in return leaflets which will aid them in taking instruction.

Professor F. L. Griffin, head of the Department of Agriculture, University of California, conducts the course in agriculture. Among the speakers to be heard are R. L. Adams, "The Cost of Producing Milk", C. L. Roadhouse, "Relation of Dairying to Agriculture and Human Welfare", L. J. Fletcher, "The Farmer as an Engineer", and E. C. Voorhees "Opportunities in Agriculture for Young Men."

Music is taught by Alice Bum-baugh, instructor of musical history and harmony at Mills College, Oakland, assisted by Carl Anderson. Demonstrations during the lectures will be given by Katherine Uner of the Mills College faculty.

The course in economics will include speakers from the faculty of the University of California, and visiting experts on various economic subjects, under the direction of Edna Kelley Barker.

Wilda Wilson Church has prepared the course in Literature assisted by Dr. Aurelia Rhinehardt, President of Mills College. Joseph H. Jackson, Literary Editor of the Sunset Magazine and Frederick O'Brien, author of South Sea tales, will contribute talks.

Salem Newspaper

Commends A. R. Cadle

The Salem Statesman recently printed the following complimentary article relative to A. R. Cadle, candidate for sheriff.

The Republicans of Polk County have a chance to make an unusually good selection for sheriff if they nominate A. R. Cadle who is asking for the nomination. Mr. Cadle is experienced as a business man. He is a successful farmer and understands the people of his county to a marked degree. He was born and raised on a farm, educated at Marysville, Tenn. He came to Oregon in 1905 and located on a farm near Rickreall which he still occupies. In 1911 he was instructor in YMCA automobile school in Portland, holding the position two years. From 1914 to 1921 he carried on a mercantile establishment in Rickreall together with his farming business. He was active in war drives and headed a number of drives. He has always been a progressive citizen, alert to the needs of the people and in sympathy with them. He is a member of the Evangelical church at Rickreall and the Masonic lodge at the same place and of the Chapter in Dallas. He has always taken a large interest in education, being responsible for a number of school laws which he fostered. He is a member of the school board in his community and has always taken a deep interest in educational work. He has devoted his time to the public welfare and no man in Polk county has a better record. The nomination of Mr. Cadle followed by his election will mean an economical law enforcement policy in his county.

Is Better Than

Fountain of Youth

States 58 Year Old Okla-homan, Who Says Korex Compound Made Him Young.

"My rheumatism of years' standing has not bothered me since I started taking korex compound," says Harry G. Thompson of 1932 W. 30th St., Oklahoma City, "and I feel ever so much better in every way. A week ago I was completely played out. Today I am gaining in weight and I can now work outside in all kinds of weather. Korex is better than a Fountain of Youth. I feel twenty years younger."

The beneficial effects of korex are healthful, natural and lasting, according to enthusiastic users. Thousands the world over are now taking it to relieve aching muscles, poor circulation, rapid decline, loss of appetite, premature old age and general run down, played-out condition. Korex may now be had in Monmouth at Perkins Pharmacy according to the American distributors of korex compound.

Mark Twain said:

"There are two times when a man should not speculate. When he can't afford it and when he can."

If you feel the speculative "fever" coming on, consult a good Banker Practitioner. Let him prescribe a dose of "common sense talk."

Consult with one of our officers before your "fever" gets "too high" We may be able to ward off a serious "set-back."
