MILLIONS FOR RESEARCH
Washington.—Funds for research work in many fields, including excavations in the holy city of the ancient Maya people in Mexico, have been provided for by the Carnegie Institution which has appropriated $1,200,000 for next year's budget. The Maya excavations will be made at Chichen Itza, in Mexico. Dr. Sylvester G. Morley will be in charge of the work, which is expected to reveal new facts about middle American antiquity.

Puppy Saved From Flames
Kansas City.—A wall from the interior of a burning building in the downtown district here recently caused the cry to go up that a woman was trapped in the flames. L. R. 16,000 Tourists in Alps
Berne.—Winter sports are flourishing in Switzerland this year, and as a result the number of winter tourists has reached a total of 16,000, 6,000 more than last season. The visitors include 4,000 Germans, 2,000 English and 750 Americans.

Dustless Pavement Types
The extent to which the dustless types of pavement are being adopted is shown by testimony given recently before the senate committee on post offices and post roads at Washington by Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, whose tabulations showed that 107 federal aid projects completed and paid for to May 25 last year were roads built of bituminous materials. These highways were constructed in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas and California.

YOU NEVER KNOW
By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A LONG the journey here and there
You often find a flow'r,
Just anytime or anywhere,
No special place or hour,
They aren't planted in a row;
You never guess, you never know;
Around a bend a fellow goes,
And right ahead he sees a rose.

You never know: Within a ditch
A lily may unfold,
Or cowslips make a meadow rich
With all their yellow gold.
The road is rough, but oftentimes
Around a rock an ivy climbs,
And many a weary eye has met
Beside a stone, a violet.

God sows His blessings like His seeds,
No special hour or place;
The moment of our saddest needs
We often see His face.
In hours of joy and hours of care,
Just any time and anywhere,
His fairest flow'rs He seems to sow
Along life's road—you never know.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

YOUTH
UPON the erect shoulders of the boys and the girls of the present must later fall the mantle of responsibility won by their parents.
The old folk have long played the leading role. They are gradually being incapacitated by the burden of years, weighing heavier upon them as the clock ticks off the weeks and months.

In a little while father and mother will give way to the younger generation, sit passively in their easy chairs and dream of the days that have gone, as did those who blazed the way before them.

The sun shines as brightly as it did a generation ago; the larks sing as blithely; the flowers bloom as gayly and Dan Cupid is just as alluring with his chuckling laughter and seductive love.

And certainly the seasons come and go with their punctilious regularity, but each day there push to the front new groups of men and women anxious to take their part in the world drama.

The strange emotions that accompany the birth of power are much alike the world over. Ideas and ideals have but slight variations.

Men think of pursuits and professions; women of homes and wifely duties. Some go forth like children venturing into the dark; others strike out boldly and are caught by the whirlpool and hurled upon the rocks.

It often happens that those selected by the fates to become leaders are in the beginning the most timorous, yet a consciousness of importance does not overwhelm them.

They are great-hearted and have within them the capabilities of accomplishing great things.

And this is the usual mental attitude of those who are qualified to take up the heavier burdens and march on till the end of their days without complaint. Having been well brought up, they are strong in body and sunny in nature.

They fall at once into their rightful place and take up their duties with the precision of soldiers who have just come from an exacting drillmaster.

What their parents did only 20 or 25 years ago, they have resolved shall be continued and, if possible, be done better, so that the men and women of the future may go to loftier heights in thought, and in all manner of progressive achievement.

FARM STOCK

LONG-HAIRED GOATS GROWING IN FAVOR

While goats are among the oldest of domestic animals, in our own country they occupy a minor place in the farm economy. Yet "specialized" goats, or "special purpose goats," we might better call them, can be made a profitable adjunct to the live stock program of most farms.
Growing in popularity and importance is the Angora goat, or long-haired "mohair" goat. These animals are great weed and brush eradicators, and can be advantageously pastured with horses, cattle, sheep or swine. They are a godsend in timbered country and to clear land of weeds and brush. They are as easily kept as other farm animals and are usually hardy and rather more free from disease than ordinary live stock.
Well-bred Angoras are handsome, attractive and intelligent animals that are interesting to raise and profitable for those who give them proper attention. Certain strains of Angoras are clean, white, nonpungent, nonodoriferous animals that are a delight to young and old. These specially bred Angoras grow very long fleeces, and it is the extra long mohair that commands the fancy price. Some of this product is said to be worth as high as $30 a pound. This means the longest portion of the clip, which is sorted and graded at shearing time and sold as extra long staple. The shorter mohair sells for $2 a pound—sometimes more, and sometimes less, depending upon the market.
In these days when many farmers are looking around for ways and means to diversify without materially increasing their farm equipment, the Angora ought to appeal to the enterprising as a source of profit—especially on cheap or rough lands and on farms not quoted at fancy prices.

Sheep Give Big Profits Besides Clearing Land
Thirty farmers who raised sheep chiefly for the purpose of clearing land in 1923 made a profit of $28,823.53, compilation of their reports to Oklahoma A. and M. college shows.
Fourteen of the sheep raisers said feed for the year did not cost them anything, because the animals lived on weeds and waste. They did not include in their profits the value of the land the sheep cleared, or the cost of clearing by other methods.
Combined flocks of the group of 30 farmers counted 3,617 ewes January 1 last year. P. H. Lowery, live stock specialist in the extension division of the college, reports. They were valued at $22,765, thus showing the profit to be nearly 120 per cent.
From the ewes on hand, 3,115 lambs were raised which sold for $21,853.28. Wool sheared from the combined flocks weighed 23,477 pounds, and was sold for $8,450.45. Sixteen members of the group made a total charge of $3,671.20 for feed, reports to Lowery show.

Easy Way to Drive Sows to Prevent Excitement
At farrowing time it is not always an easy matter to drive a heavy brood sow from the yard into the pen in the hog house where she is to farrow. To save time and undue excitement of the sow, use a simple device that can easily be made.
Make a bottomless crate of light but strong boards. The length of the crate ought to be at least six feet, a little longer than the largest sow to be handled and a little higher than the sow stands, say about three and one-half feet. The crate need not be clumsily or heavily made. It must be light enough for one man to carry.
When the sow to be put in the pen is eating or nosing about the ground, step up with the crate and quietly slip it over her. As she cannot turn around in it, she will walk forward; and as she walks, a man can guide her to the door of the pen, lift up one end of the crate and allow her to walk into the pen.

Live Stock Notes
Do not expect to develop pure breeds with scrub treatment.
Scrub cattle on scrub pasture is scrub business policy.
Under present conditions the hog will pay more for corn than will any dealer.
Ewes producing twin lambs must be well fed and looked after in order to grow their lambs profitably.
Milk is a very valuable feed for baby chicks, since it contains the vitamins so essential to growth and also protein required in a ration.
The thermometer used in the incubator should be tested to determine whether or not it is recording the temperature accurately.
The more ventilation allowed the more the egg evaporates. Skill in running the incubator consists in balancing these two factors so the eggs do not smother or dry out.

Advice For Mothers
Read What This Mother Says
Salem, Ore.—"I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during my first expectant period. It was such a comfort and means of strength that I took it the second and the third time. All through the days of expectancy I was able to do my work right up to the last without any feeling of discomfort. It is only right for me to tell of the benefit I derived from the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' and I think it is the best remedy for expectant mothers that has been put within our reach. For the sake of suffering mothers I am willing to have my testimonial published."
