HIGH SCHOOL

School opened Monday morning with almost full attendance. The members of the faculty are all back again and are resuming the work with their regular classes.

The death of Robert Dawes, a member of the Freshman class, came as a shock to the student body. The funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon. The students attended the service in a body.

Wednesday evening our basket ball team played Silverton here. The score was in their favor. The crowd attendant at the game reminded us forcibly how much we need that new High School gym.

In the Country Gentleman Contest, Leon Phillips came out as leader of the Barnies; Velma Strain of Sessie Susies and Dorothy Partridge of the Spark Plugs. The party to be given by the losing teams, the Sessie Susies and Spark Plugs to the winners, the Barnies, will occur some time next week.

Found Dead

Coroner Keeney was called to Dallas Tuesday because of the death of Abe Decan, who was found dead in the woods where he had been working, two miles west of Dallas. Decan, who owned a small piece of land, had lived in a small house thereon, and was cutting wood on the Ellendale farm. Apparently he had stooped to pick up his coat and had fallen over in an attack of apoplexy. There was no sign of violence of any kind and Coroner Keeney did not feel it necessary to hold an inquest. It is supposed the dead man has a brother, a minister in Washington, and efforts are being made to locate him.

Representatives Fuller and Bratcher were in Monmouth Wednesday looking over the needs of the Normal School. They were presented to the student body in chapel Wednesday morning.

Professor T. H. Gentle is so much improved that he is able to get about with the help of a cane. He expects to meet with his classes at the Normal on Monday morning.

Mrs. Gregory has a rack of wool dresses at $5.00.

The Normal basket ball season opened Wednesday evening with a game with the City of Portland five. It was a fast, clean game, Portland winning 32 to 15.

There will be a game tonight between the Normal and Pacific College.

Lapps Contented With Few Creature Comforts

No one knows when the Lapps came into Sweden, but for centuries this queer little people, a branch of the Mongol tribe, have wandered about the mountains with their reindeer, living a more or less nomadic life and holding their own in population, although not increasing in any number.

During the summer months, when the reindeer are on the move, the Lapp contents himself with a birch-pole tent covered with canvas or turf, so that it may readily be moved from place to place. Some of the homes have modern comforts, but as a rule the Lapp contents himself with very little, says the Baltimore Sun.

In autumn the young reindeer are marked on the ear with their owner's name. At this time there is a gathering of all the tribes, and, though to a stranger all reindeer look exactly alike, a Lapp will point out his own in the herd with unerring knowledge. Nor does a Lapp remove his neighbor's mark.

A Man's Prayer

Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces a pound, and 100 cents a dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience and untroubled by the faces of those to whom I may have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in earning it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money. Blind me to the faults of other fellows and reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic so as to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkening shades make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here lies a man."—Herrington Sun.
