Now she comes into a fortune of $2,000,000—gold for land purchased by her grand-dad, John Baird, now dead, at 35 years ago a poor Brooklyn policeman. Old John Baird was blamed to tell the family he had purchased the Florida land. A recent search for title revealed the fact, then the heirs were located now, the Baird children.

Farm Reminders

February is the month in which clover is usually seeded on winter grains in Oregon. To maintain a reputation as a grower of good clover seed, it is desirable to sow clover as free from buckhorn as possible. The seed testing laboratory at Corvallis will be busy in February and March, so it is desirable to get samples of clover seed to the laboratory early for testing.

The crop of Grimm alfalfa seed was considerably larger in 1924 than heretofore, and the seed will probably be somewhat cheaper. There will doubtless be a larger planting of that very important variety in western Oregon this year, says the experiment station. It is important to get this planted on soils that are mellow, well drained, and sweet, and can be made reasonably free from weeds.

Sweet clover until late years has been considered a noxious weed, but the experiment station has since shown that it may have a place in Southern Oregon in pastures and ranges particularly where the soil is dry and not sour. After it is once started properly it keeps itself re-seeded.

Vision

From the past we look forward to the future. From what we have done we learn how to do better. So, as each New Year comes around, we review what has been done and gain vision for the future, enabling us to plan for larger endeavor, and better service in our contact with the public. We see, in 1925, ways in which we can make our store more valuable, more appreciated by the public. If you have liked our merchandise, our policies, our service in the past, you will like them more in the future. An earnest desire to really serve, and a greater knowledge of how to do so, assure that. This is the message we have for our patrons in wishing you all
