Special Chapel Held To Greet Legislators

A special Chapel meeting was called Friday afternoon so that the visiting members of the Legislature might have an opportunity to meet the students, and the students an opportunity to meet them.

President Landers introduced them as follows: Howard Kilham of Portland, chairman of the Committee on Public Institutions and Buildings. James H. Hazlett of Hood River. Lloyd T. Reynolds of Marion County. R. J. Kirkwood of Portland. Otto J. Wilson of Marion County. C. L. Bratcher of Polk County.

All but Mr. Wilson are members of the committee on Public Institutions and Buildings. Each spoke briefly in sympathy and support of the cause of O. N. S.

Alpha Gamma Delta

A number of new members were taken in to the Alpha Gamma Delta society last Wednesday evening. The committee in charge of initiation was: Doris Dalrymple, Alta Brash and Doris Healey. The new members were given an opportunity to reveal their literary talent when they were asked to entertain the old members in various ways. Several girls were called upon to orate four minutes on such important subjects as, "Whether a House burns up or down", "Why Wilbur Rowe's famous saying is 'A stitch in time saves nine'", and "The benefits of mud". The laundry list song to the tune of La Paloma was a special treat. An impromptu play was also much enjoyed. The program was sufficient test of their literary ability to admit them to the society. A Polar Cake for each member concluded the party.

The new members are: Eunice Nickle, Dorothy Cooke, Mildred Starret, Berdell Sloper, Gertrude Wickham Esma Gilliam, Eunice Kibler, Fannie Johnson, Gladys Emery, Mary McCann Vida McCoy, Tominda Moore, Helen Rayburn, Edith Conely, Ruth Bowron, and Elizabeth Ramsay.

Some of these people have not yet been initiated—but since they did not appear on Wednesday, they will be initiated at some time in the near future.

The Alpha Gamma Delta's will present their program on Saturday January 30 in the chapel. A surprise awaits you. Come and see it.

Delphian Initiation

The old and new Delphians assembled last Thursday evening for an hour of merriment and fun. The fifteen new members came cheerfully albeit a trifle fearfully and were received enthusiastically into our group. Their hearts beat violently in expectation of dire things, they met nothing more than rouge and eskimo pies.

The fifteen newly initiated Delphians are: Louise Parker, Ruth Bottin, Beatrice Vogt, Mildred Rumble, Barbara Fuda, Matilda Knips, Pauline Brown, Anna Harrison, Christina Campbell, Bertha King, Alice LeKander, Etta Anderson, Gertrude Oldmark, Gwendolyn Bill, Martha Christensen, Muriel Matthews and Lucille Harrison.

Sacajewea Club

Did you notice any chicken feathers roaming around on any fair ladies' heads? They, in case you are in lejo Saturday.

Mr. A. R. Shumway, representative from Umatilla county, gave a very interesting talk Saturday at the Farmer's Union meeting at the schoolhouse.

Mrs. R. A. Withycombe spent the week-end at her home near Hillsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson were Salem visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones were Independence visitors Tuesday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blodgett last week.

doubt as to their identity or sanity, are the new members of the Sacajewea Club. We held our initiation Thursday in the Training School. Ask the girls how they like flour and if it makes a good substitute for powder! But don't ask them too much! We initiated some of the finest girls in school and we know that they are going to cooperate in every way possible with our club and with our O. N. S.

Vespertine Initiation

Shrieks of anguish and amusement that pealed from the chapel during the Vespertine initiation last Thursday evening insured those who heard that some one was having an exciting time. Those who were initiated and turned into animals, frogs and singers will admit that their one night out was very exciting. Those who entertained the older, more dignified members were branded—for one evening and the following day with the Vespertine Crescent. Just before the meeting broke up everyone turned into cannibals and enjoyed eating dollies made from all day suckers.

Junior House Still Moving

Did you ever have a grandfather who sent you goodies when you were far from home? Well, the Junior House girls are lucky enough to have a girl in their midst who has such a grandfather and a delightful party was enjoyed by the members of the house Wednesday, January fourteen, when the package addressed to Bernice Schroeder was received and the contents; cake and cookies, were enjoyed with chocolate made by the girls.

The girls now living at the Junior House are Jeanette Miller, Irene Woodworth, Doris Linton, Rose Potter, Helen Laird, Wilda Clark, Dorris McKee, Dorothy Doan, Naoma Cobb, Irma Cobb, Ora Offield, Lillian McCalister, Josephine Savage, Gertrude Gumm, Thelma Crandall and Bernice Schroeder.

Miss Brainerd as the house mother of this jolly group helps us to uphold the standards of our house.

O. C. Q's Start New Term With Their Goal Standing High

The stars which were elected at the first meeting of the O. C. Q. society January 15 and who will lead, no doubt, the O. C. Q's to success are: president, Theoda Gribble; Secretary, Thelma Crandall, Treasurer, Amelia Siegenthaler, sergeant-at-arms, Emma Hansen; and reporter, Rose Potter.

The new members initiated January 22 will never forget or regret their joining O. C. Q. They were met with some of the shining pep of the society on that evening. Miss Eastman bravely carried her load after finding to her surprise, she too, was to be initiated and become an O. C. Q by reading her way in. Her act was enjoyed by all.

Other new members also will never forget the evening, especially when they hear such words as Mud, Fairy Dance, Handkerchief and many other words related to fond memory. The society is also planning some good work this term.

Normal School appeared on the campus the evening of January 17. The purpose of the appearance was to entertain our football team who surely deserve as much honor as we can give them. The place of this appearance was the gymnasium which was cleverly divided and decorated so as to appear more homelike with several floor lamps furnishing the light. Dancing was the chief amusement of the evening, everyone joining. Dainty refreshments were served about 9:30 and after more dancing everyone regretfully departed about 10:30. Needless to say everyone enjoyed the evening to the fullest extent.

While yet the morning air is sweet and cool.
Then fly away to feed his hungry brood,
Beneath the friendly, sheltering cottonwood.
I pray you, keep the beauty and the charm
Of summer sunsets, nor one joy withhold,
When Phoebus gently spread across the Arm,
Her wave-like flood of shimmering, molten gold,
That quiet hour before the shadows grey,
Have veiled the crowning glory of the day.

To Mnemosyne
Chaste mother of the Muses, kindly make
A catalogue of lovely things for me
Arrange to call when Boreas sweeps the lake,
To shut me in and bear me company,
And, heeding not grim Boreas and his crew,
Your list of summer treasures we review.
Preserve the picture of each glorious morn,
For winter use, safe in your treasure chest—
The rosy tints that herald Day, new born—
The first to grace Denali's hoary crest,
And every poem found in tree or field—
Or flower, from Mother Nature's generous yield.
In fancy we will tread the rose-grown path
That leads down to the willow shaded pool,
Where robin takes his early morning bath,
