

JUNIOR HI-WAYS

VOLUME 2

NUMBER 10

BOY SCOUTS' VACATION

The Boy Scouts spent the Christmas vacation at Helmick Park, on the Luckiamute river. They stayed in their log cabin which they built a few months ago. They went on Wednesday evening and stayed until Sunday evening.

They followed their daily program closely. In the morning they had classes in First Aid and Signaling. There were twenty four boys in all, divided into four patrols. Ernest Calef was the senior patrol leader.

In the afternoon they played games and told stories, and had stunts in the evening. They had Taps at nine o'clock. The boys did their own cooking by patrols.

On Sunday morning they had Sunday School.

They stayed up until twelve o'clock on New Year's Eve, when they served candy given to them by Morlan & Son. Sunday afternoon they had ice cream served by Eshleman's.

The Boy Scouts all report having had an excellent time.

NEW STUDENT-TEACHERS

Judging by the work of the student-teachers during the past week, we have a strong group although few, if any, have had any teaching experience. Of course, as has been previously noted, some children learn in spite of their teachers, but with the help of so large and capable a body, the results at the end of the term should be quite gratifying. The following is a list of teachers who will have charge of the Junior High department:

Misses Alexander, Brooks, Downing, Gant, Ryker, Stark, White and Wilson. Messrs. Cameron, McCrae, Rodgers and Swearingen.

Jack C.

Once more the Junior Hi Ways makes its appearance. This is the first number edited by the new staff comprising the following members:

Manager—Leonard Fleischman
Editor-in-chief—Ethel Mills
Literary editor—Agnes Shecon
Athletics—Lyla May Tittle
Jokes—Edith Elder
Poet's Fancies—Bernice Harvey

The staff solicits a continuation of your kindly disposed reception of their humble efforts to make this feature a medium which will convey to the public interesting school news. If you will send in subscriptions to the Herald in recognition of this small service, we shall feel very well paid. Please mention "Junior Hi Ways" when sending subscription.

LINCOLN ROOM

This name is applied to one of the most attractive rooms in our building. So named, because of memories associated with the name. It was this room that several years ago chose Abraham Lincoln as their greatest hero. This room was actively interested in the sale of tickets for Mr. Gentle's lecture, the proceeds of which—amounting to over ninety dollars—was used to purchase the Lincoln statue in the hall. It was this room that purchased the wonderful flag back of the statue, and also through entertainments given, raised sufficient money to purchase the fine photograph of St. Gauden's Lincoln which hangs on the wall before them. The pupils of this room procured the bust of Longfellow, which attractively fills a corner. This room owns the flag that has been carried by our boys, to both O. N. S. chapel and our own assembly every week for more than eight years. This room has pride in its appearance. The desks—after ten years constant use—are unscarred. The curtains are kept evenly drawn, and the blackboards free from dust. We like our room best of all. We hope to find some way of supplying new shades, awnings to keep out the sun but to permit the curtains to be raised all the time. We also want lockers, so we may take better care of our belongings. We hope to have all these things, because we like to do things for our room.

NEW BOOKS

The pupils of the "Lincoln" room were the pleased recipients of three fine books. A gift of our student

A New Term is Begun

One might think that after a two weeks' vacation and all the good times that went with it, the boys and girls of the training school might be loath to return. However, as I walked just behind the troops of children who passed me, I was interested in the fragments of conversation which I overheard. "Are you glad to get back?" "I sure are." "There's nothing to do at home." Or perchance some one says "Well, I'm not, for there's that old algebra." Still, in spite of such remarks as the latter, I couldn't but think that everyone was ready to resume the usual routine, for did it not mean progress—association and cooperation with schoolmates in the things that were really worth while? Martha Jane (8) teachers last term. The Misses Enright, Hattan, McClure, Schmidt and Widmer. The books, "Tom Sawyer", "Treasure Island", and "Kidnaped" are in constant demand.

Lincoln Room Elects Officers

Officers for the new term were elected as follows: President, Kenneth Roth; vice president, Ronald Hamar; secretary and treasurer, Rhea Mae Huber; librarian, Laura Embree; assistant librarian, Alene Sloan; sergeant at arms, Velmer Wilson.

A student council was also appointed. The council will comprise the above named officers and also the following members: Verl White, Mary Elizabeth Stiles, Harold Santee, Philip Dodds and Twila Tittle. The student body meets in executive session every two weeks.

A NEW DEPARTMENT

A new department has been established in the training school. It is called the "Relief Room." This room serves a double purpose. For the teacher, it affords an opportunity to relieve an over crowded condition. No teacher with over fifty pupils, and those in two grades, can do much individual work with her pupils. Consequently, a part of the overflow of the 3rd and 4th grades will be taken care of in this room. The room is also designed to give certain pupils, who show unusual aptitude for certain subjects, a chance to concentrate too, it will afford others a chance to their efforts along those lines. Then receive more individual direction in subjects hard for them. The room is in charge of two efficient teachers under the general supervision of the methods department. E. E.

IDLE THOUGHTS OF AN IDOL FELLOW

DOWN ON THE BEACH
by Harold Santee

O! winds blow east and winds blow west,
But I like the winds from the ocean best.
I sail my kite to the sky so blue,
Clear up to the spot where the sun shines through.
I want to be down where the sea gulls are,
As they fly about by the old sand bar.
I want to hear the ocean's roar
When I romp with Sport along the shore.
Down where the Rogue flows into the sea,
O! that is the place where I should be,
Those happy days I remember yet,
There isn't a one I'll ever forget.

THE BOY'S MISFORTUNE AND WHAT CAME OF IT

Once there was a very ambitious boy. His father was very discouraged. He had worked hard all his life and still he and his family were very poor. His mother was an invalid. She had been crippled in an automobile accident. The father did not work very much any more and it seemed to be up to the boy to make a living. He did the very best he could.

One day the boy was driving across the railroad track on his way to town with his Ford which didn't seem to be working as it should have been. He was busily engaged in operating the machine just at the time the train was coming. The engineers were not watching closely and the train hit the automobile, pushing it along the track for about twenty feet. The train stopped immediately. The automobile was all in pieces lying on the track. The boy was hurt very badly. His right arm and left leg were broken. He had a deep gash on his forehead.

The engineer of the train had him taken to a hospital where he received all possible care. The next day an agent for the railroad company came to the hospital and asked the boy what damages he was going to sue for. The boy answered, "None at all." The agent was greatly astonished and asked him why not. The boy said that he should have been watching out as much as they.

The president of the railroad company came and talked to the boy. The boy told him all about himself and his family. The president agreed to pay the boy a good salary per week until he should be able to work again. L. F.

THE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

L. H. Willard—Pastor
Phone 3204

The Bible School lesson for Sunday will be: "The Christian's Use of the Bible." Deuteronomy 6: 4-9; 2 Timothy 3:14-17. The Bible is the Christian's Guide Book of Life. This school is interested in people learning how to live according to this Book; therefore all who do not attend somewhere are invited to sit in with one of our classes for there are classes for all. We start at 10:00 a. m.

Morning worship at eleven o'clock. The pastor will begin a series of sermons of the Holy Spirit—the One whom Jesus left to abide with men. The choir is now under the direction of Miss Ruth Barnes and special music is promised for each service.

Junior C. E. under the superintendency of Mrs. Willard meets during the same hour.

Senior and Intermediate C. E. meets at 6:30. Splendid meetings for young people.

At 7:30 some of the Normal School representatives who attended the National Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference recently held in Wisconsin will give a report of this great gathering.

You will receive a cordial welcome at all of our services. "John or Herod—Which Was the Real King?" will be the morning sermon topic.

At the evening service we will have the pleasure of listening to some of our Normal School students—Seven of them attended the International Conference held at Milwaukee, Wis., last month. These will make their reports before the three local churches Sunday night.

Our Bible School will meet in its three departments at 10 a. m.

We are following the group plan again in our Young People's organization which meets at 6:30.

The evening service follows at 7:30. Our chorus choir under the leadership of Miss Huckleberry is doing good work.

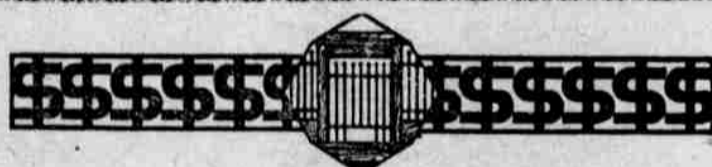

Choir practice Tuesday eve at 7 o'clock.

Prayer meeting Wednesday eve at 7:30.

Power Farming Entertainment

This school is held each year so our friends and neighbors may have the advantage of hearing experts lecture on power farming subjects and discuss with these experts any points which may be bothering them. We will have seven reels of motion pictures which are well worth your time. This year's school is different from any of the preceding ones and the picture reels are new so that those who have attended before will be well repaid by coming again and those who have not yet attended should not miss coming.

We will serve a free lunch at noon to those attending. Be sure to come and come on time.
