Directions to Prepare Simple, Yet Remarkable Home Mixture

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable, though simple and harmless, prescription which anyone can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being a vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

FALLS CITY LOGGER CRUSHED

Gets Caught by Engine Cable and is Crushed to Death Under Logs

Clarence N. Vermillion, an employee of the Falls City Logging Company, who was crushed to death under a log Wednesday afternoon (of last week) is the second man within less than a week's time to become a victim to the sudden and unforeseen accidents that make the work of a logger one of the most hazardous of the various lines of labor on the Pacific Coast.

The accident occurred about three o'clock in the afternoon, while a number of logs were being pulled down out of the timber with the donkey engine. Vermillion was employed as a line tender. The line caught in some manner and when it sprung free with a sudden jerk, caught him and pinned him to the log which rolled over his body, crushing and bruising his head and fairly grinding his chest and thighs to a pulp. Death was practically instantaneous.

The body was brought to Dallas, Wednesday evening, where Coroner Chapman dressed and cared for it, and yesterday it was given into the charge of W. E. Johnston, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who will take the body to Jefferson City, Kansas, his native city, for burial.

Vermillion was unmarried and was about 25 years of age. Both of his parents are dead and he is survived only by his sister, Mrs. Johnston, of Little Falls, Washington, and two brothers.

The accident in which he met his death was entirely unexpected and could not be avoided and it is conceded that no blame can be attached to anyone for the unfortunate occurrence.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief until Mr. A. W. Miles of this place persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by P. M. Kirkland

Buys at Top Price

The Eugene Guard says: C. L. Fitchard, the Independence hop buyer, passed through Eugene on his way home from Cresswell, where he shipped two carloads of the R. O. Brady lot of hops. He bought the crop at 10 cents a pound.

It Wasn't a Butler.

R. R. Butler, who is to speak here at the closing republican rally, is reputed to desire the next republican nomination for congress. But if he is wise he will refrain. Another man tried to beat Congressman Ellis last spring and he is now enjoying the sleep of political death.—East Oregonian.

Fifty Years a Blacksmith

Samuel R. Worley of Hixburg, Va., has been shoeing horses for more than fifty years. He says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm has given me great relief from lame back and rheumatism. It is the best liniment in use." For sale by P. M. Kirkland.
