EVENTS IN OREGON

Hypnotism Excuse for Elgamy.

Portland—Ward Robertson, employed on the famous "horse radish patch," near Beaverton, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Constable Wagner on a charge of polygamy. He is held at the county jail in the sum of $2500.

Mrs. Julia Gundlark, or rather Mrs. Robertson, No. 5, is the complainant, and it is said that Mrs. Robertson No. 4, who resides at Beaverton, will appear as a willing witness against her husband. Wife No. 5 lives in this city, and there are many strange features in connection with the case.

Robertson has been married five times, including the ceremony by which he was married to Mrs. Gundlark. Mrs. Gundlark, wife No. 5, has also been married five times, including her marriage to Robertson. He is 55 years of age, the father of five children, four of whom are dead. Robertson admits that he married the woman, having never obtained a divorce from his wife. The woman declares she did not know he was married when she consented to become his wife.

Another strange feature is that each claims to have been hypnotized by the other. The man would never have married the woman, he says, but for the hypnotic influence of her eyes; the woman would never have married the man, she says, but for the hypnotic influence of his voice.

Richard Scott Dies at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee—Richard Scott, of Milwaukee, one of the best known men of Oregon, died suddenly at 12:45 Monday morning at his home. His death was most unexpected, heart failure being the cause. Mr. Scott had been in his usual health Sunday and his sudden death was a great shock to his family.

Mr. Scott was apparently in his usual health Sunday. He attended church at Sellwood in the morning and appeared to be well at night. He ate his usual meals Sunday and did not complain of illness. His death occurred after he had retired for the night, having passed away without the least warning. The end came painlessly and after being stricken he died at once.

Mr. Scott was very prominent in the Oddfellows, which was the only lodge he ever joined. He was past grand master, as well as being trustee of the Oddfellows' home, a position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Scott was 62 years old at the time of his death. He was born in Devonshire, England, and came to Oregon in 1870.

Daughter Identifies Father.

Oregon City—The identity of the man who was found September 13 near Oswego, has been ascertained to be F. A. Williamson, of Lents, Or.

Mrs. Elsie B. Robertson, his daughter, with whom he lived, gave an accurate description of her father, on whose body was found $660 in $20 gold pieces. Last week she visited the spot where her father's body was discovered, and in among the leaves was found his watch, in the back of which was her picture, with these words:

"This is my daughter's picture. Her name is Elsie B. Robertson. She lives at Firland Station, Oregon. I am F. A. Williamson, her father. This wide world is my home."

Williamson was subject to heart trouble and suffered a fatal attack while out in the woods. He had been dead at least six weeks when his body was found.

Auto Driver Wins From Farmer.

Salem—A most unusual automobile case was tried in the circuit court here last week, when an automobile driver sought damages from a farmer whose team plunged into his automobile. C. W. Cutsforth, of Gervais, was the plaintiff and he wanted $940 damages for injury to himself and auto. M. Benjamin, also of Gervais, was defendant.

As Benjamin drove his prancing horse alongside the auto, he lost his bearings in the darkness and excitement and tried to drive his horses across the road close behind the automobile lights. When the horses stopped with their heads towards the auto, Benjamin lashed them with his whip and they sprang into the machine.

That the jury thought the teamster at fault is shown by their verdict of $400 damages awarded the plaintiff.

Scores of Horses Dying.

Pendleton—Nearly 160 head of horses have died and more are affected with a mysterious disease, in a small section of country about ten miles west of Walla Walla, according to an authentic report reaching this city. Several different veterinarians have been called in and a number of post mortem examinations have been held, but so far the doctors have been unable to determine exactly the cause of death.

The most commonly accepted theory is that the animals have been poisoned by stubblefield fodder, as it is well known that moulds and different kinds of fungus growths frequently form in stubblefields. In many cases this mould or fungus is poisonous and it is thought that this must be the cause of the present epidemic among the horses just across the line in Washington.
