Miss Bertha Bohannon went to Albany last Thursday to visit for a few days with Miss Ina Redfield of that city.

H. C. Hannon has just received a dozen fine pure bred White Leghorns from the Eugene Poultry Farm. They are beauties.

C. Underwood of Klamath Falls, a son-in-law of H. C. Chamberlain, is in Independence visiting at the home of Mr. Chamberlain.

Mrs. T. J. Fryer and son, Claude, left Wednesday for Castle Rock, Wn., to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Dr. Campbell of that city.

Jasper Craven and family moved to Dallas the first of the week. He and his brother, Riley, will go into the hardware business at that place.

Mrs. E. J. Hosler, who has been visiting with her many friends in Independence for sometime past, returned to her home at Olympia last Saturday.

Dr. R.E. Duganne went to Portland Friday to attend the foot ball game which was played between Corvallis O. A. C. boys and the U. of O. lads. He returned home Sunday.

Miss Ida Richardson returned from Portland Sunday evening after a pleasant visit at the home of Miss Dougherty of that place. She also visited Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Frazer at their Vancouver home.

C. N. Sherman, who recently purchased the Monmouth Hotel, has sold out his interest in that hostelry and expects to leave soon for Illinois. Mr. Sherman is an oil well prospector and will operate in that state.

A big game of football is to take place in Independence today between Oregon Agricultural College and the Independence players. Independence has been putting up good football and it would not be surprising if not probable that they would win in this big game.

H. Wood was in Independence last Friday. Mr. Wood said, when asked what he was doing in town, "One thing I wanted was to get the Enterprise sent to Black Rock. It looks too big for Independence. But the town has a chance to grow to it in the next few years. You have a crackerjack good paper and the people know it." Mr. Wood is in charge of the Cone Boarding House at Black Rock.

J. F. Smith, who resides four miles south of Monmouth, was a caller on the Enterprise Saturday. Mr. Smith brought into this office a winter pear that beats anything we have ever seen. It weighed two pounds and measured fourteen inches in circumference around the smallest way. He raised the pear on the old Helmick place. "We had Bartlett pears that were larger than this one," said Mr. Smith, "pears that would average a pound and a half apiece."

W. J. Steele, who was a caller on the Enterprise Saturday, while here from his home at Buena Vista, complimented the publisher on the splendid paper which is now being issued from this office. He said: "I can spend an hour reading the Enterprise now with pleasure and profit, while heretofore I wouldn't care to open it. It will go a long way toward rebuilding the town of Independence commercially. The town is not what it ought to be, but it will be greatly benefitted as a result of the good paper which you publish."

Geneva Wilcox is in Portland this week visiting with friends.

D. B. Taylor was transacting business in Corvallis the first of the week.

Mrs. W. R. Allin and little son are in Portland for a few days' visit with relatives and friends. Her parents reside in that city.

K. C. Eldridge departed Monday on his way to San Francisco, where he was called through the sudden illness of a sister who resides in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McElmurry and daughter, Verdie, left Monday morning for Spokane, Washington, where they will visit relatives for a month or two.

Dr. Fryer returned last Wednesday from California and Nevada. He had been gone about a year. He will remain here for a few weeks visiting with his parents.

W. J. and Robt. Steele of Buena Vista were in town last Saturday looking after business matters. These are the gentlemen who operate the ferry at Buena Vista.

Charles Gardner, who has been visiting at the home of Dr. Allin for some time, left for Portland Saturday afternoon. He talked favorably of locating in this city and he may decide to return.

The friends of Mrs. Lottie Hedges-Dorris will be pleased to learn that she is recovering, though slowly, from her recent stroke of bell paralysis. The last week has been a very encouraging one for her. Mrs. Dorris has a wide circle of friends who are grieved to learn of her illness.

Oregon Fir Makes Friends.

John Sebastian, passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island System, was a recent visitor at Portland, and while here secured samples of Oregon fir, with which wood he intends to finish the interior of one of the most unique dining cars yet seen. He had scarcely left when a telegram was received by the Portland Commercial Club from President B. L. Winchell of the Rock Island, asking for samples finished in different stains, as a car already nearly completed was to be in fir.

Sir William C. VanHorne, builder of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has in his Montreal mansion a room in Oregon fir, which is always admired by visitors.

VALUE OF A SMILE.

What It Did For a Scot in Calcutta During the Plague.

On the door leading into the private office of the treasurer of one of the Hartford banking institutions may be seen by all comers a plain white card, on which are these two words: "Keep Smiling."

Ask the treasurer the significance of the placard and he will say simply: "Just keep smiling. That makes everything easy. That's what smiles are for. A good, unfeigned, sincere smile is a veritable battering ram to knock hard things out of the way. Sometimes I smile out loud, all to myself, when I run against anything hard, and the invitation is out to whoever enters my door. I take it that people will smile as they read the card, and I want them to continue the act while in here."

He tells of a visitor who came to see him last winter, a Scotchman, who had served in India in the army. "My dear sir," said the visitor, "I am greeting that legend heartily. Many years ago, when the plague was raging, I was in Calcutta and sick. The hospitals were full, and with other patients I was lying in a shed, a very sick man. On each side of me a poor chap had died, when a man came around with one of the doctors to measure the bodies. As they finished the second fellow's measurement they looked at me, and the man said, "Three of 'em, heigh?" and whipped out his tape measure at my side. In spite of all effort I could only stare. To save my life I couldn't speak or move. All I could do was to smile, and I just smiled. Instead of the measuring line I was given better attention and recovered. The smile did it! That's right! Keep smiling." — Hartford Times.

Fee Bowls.

"Fee bowls" are no longer to be seen in the chambers of barristers. They have been replaced by checks. One used by Baron Martin of the court of exchequer during his career at the bar from 1830 to 1850 has just been presented to the library of the Inner Temple by his grandson. Only a few surviving lawyers of venerable age can now recall the use of fee bowls. One of them, George F. Pollock, who was born in 1821 and called to the bar in 1843, gives some interesting information on the subject in London Notes and Queries. He says these bowls were in general use during his early years at the bar. Fees were paid in cash when the briefs were delivered. When his father, Lord Chief Baron Pollock, was raised to the bench he inherited and used the paternal fee bowl.

J. P. Morgan's Library.

Every three months J. P. Morgan has everything in his house and famous library reindexed, and the work requires the services of several connoisseurs for three or four days. Mr. Morgan's sole object is to protect himself in case of fire. I understand that not a week goes by that many, very many, pieces of valuable bric-a-brac and works of art are added to his wonderful collection. Incidentally the new library has already been the scene of some big deals and will be the scene of many more, as Mr. Morgan's friends know that he is gradually retiring from public life and, instead of going to Wall street, Wall street comes to him and meets him in the library.—New York Telegraph.
