OREGON BRIEFLETS

Robbers broke into the postoffice at Lents during a Woodmen of the World banquet and secured between $200 and $300.

Goldman Anthony, 15 years old, and the self-confessed incendiary who burned several buildings in Baker City, was sentenced Saturday to the Reform School until he is 21 years old.

The annual convention of the school officers of Polk county was held at Dallas Saturday, with an attendance of about 80 school officers, representing the boards of every school district in the county.

Ejected from a car on the Salem electric line, compelled to walk two miles back along a lonely railroad track on a dark night and to sleep in an old shed, Mary E. O'Brien has brought a $5000 damage suit against the railroad at Portland.

Ignacius McNamee, of Portland, speaking on "Child Labor," won the varsity oratorical contest at Notre Dame University, Ind. He will receive the Green gold medal for oratory and will represent Notre Dame in the state contest.

Oil drilling operations were interrupted at Ontario by explosions of gas. Water from the 1000-foot wells shot 100 feet into the air. The gas in one of the wells caught fire and it was with difficulty that a huge boiler was lowered over the flame and the fire smothered.

Saturday evening while Charles McFarland, of the Southern Pacific freight department at Eugene, was assisting some workmen unload a shipment of plate glass at the depot, the big crate fell, pinning him underneath the load and breaking his arm.

Samuel R. Claypool, Oregon pioneer of 1846, hero of the Indian wars, former county commissioner of Linn county and member of the Oregon legislature, died at his home in Lebanon, at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the age of 72 years. He had been in ill health for the past two years. Mr. Claypool was a resident of Linn county for more than half a century.

The Oregon Railroad Commission has dismissed proceedings against the Coos Bay, Roseburg & Eastern, in which that road was accused of discrimination against the California & Oregon Coast Steamship Company. The commission ordered that the Corvallis & Eastern provide two toilet rooms in each of its passenger cars, except those running only between Albany and Corvallis.

That a bounty is needed on cougars, wolves and other wild animals to prevent their rapid increase in the mountains and foothills of Eastern Linn county is the assertion of residents of that part of the county, who have presented a big petition to the county court asking for a special tax levy on the 1909 roll for that purpose. They want a bounty of $10 on all cougars and wolves and $2.50 on wildcats and coyotes killed in Linn county during the coming year.

In the manufacture of lumber and its products for the year 1907, Oregon ranks tenth among the states, according to a pamphlet that has been issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor on the lumber cut of the United States for last year. Washington heads the list as the greatest lumber-producing state, while the following states are credited with a larger cut than that of Oregon: Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Minnesota.

Will Mack shot and fatally injured Miles Carter, proprietor of a soft drink establishment in Grants Pass. Mack went into the place and ordered a glass of near-beer, and after drinking it, refused to pay for it, and when pressed for the payment turned and fired point blank at Carter's head. Carter dodged so that the ball entered the left shoulder, passing downward and out at the back under the shoulder blade. Mack was captured by the sheriff and a deputy.

Binger Hermann, ex-congressman from Oregon, will go to Washington, D. C., to intercede with the committee on rivers and harbors in congress in the interests of the Coquille river bar and harbor, in the hope of getting an appropriation from that body for the bettering of the harbor at Bandon, and for dredging the up-river so that ocean boats can go to Coquille and possibly to Myrtle Point. Mr. Hermann goes as a special representative from this valley and his expenses will be borne by the citizens and business men.

The directors of the Water Users' Association, at Klamath Falls, have taken a determined stand not to pay over $18.60 per acre for Government irrigation. They will gather hundreds of affidavits showing that the water users were promised water at $18.60 per acre, including maintenance, and that the cost would not exceed $20 per acre in any event. If the Reclamation Service insists on the payment of $30 per acre and 75 cents maintenance charge, the association will go before Congress with a release bill for the difference.

George S. Nickerson, whose headquarters at present are in Winnemucca, Nev., has been taking measurements for several months along the Donder and Blitzen river in the northern slopes of Stein Mountains, the result of his investigation and calculations being that a man representing heavy capital has filed in the county clerk's office a claim to a water right on that stream of 4800 cubic inches, or 120 cubic feet per second, the intention being to develop an immense power for generating electricity to supply the entire Harney Valley with light and operating force.
