CHARLES EDWARD HICKS

Printed at Independence, Ore., post office as second-class matter.

Subscription, $1.50 Per Year

We are told by the telegraphic reports that King Edward kept the queen and a large party waiting until 12:30 o'clock the other night for supper while he played a game of bridge. That's nothing. We have known of several cases of where a man has kept his wife waiting for twenty-four hours while he was off loosing in a game of draw. The only remarkable thing about the story is that the queen did not lose her patience.

What do you think of it? People are fainting in Chicago from heat and rain continues in Kansas and Missouri, and still we have some calamity howlers in Oregon who are not satisfied with the weather.

Col. Hofer is the most unpopular man in Oregon with Jefferson farmers at present. He got the rain, or claims that he did, and skipped out to Salem where he couldn't be reached by phone to have him stop it so that it wouldn't spoil the hay crop.

The Editor of the Enterprise attended the cherry fair at Salem last Saturday, and while there took a prize. But, just our luck, the man in charge made us put it right back.

Lane county, with a beautiful display of thirty boxes of cherries won the grand prize and county exhibit at the Salem cherry fair. Polk county got second place.

Albany is having lots of trouble with a blind pig. They ought to get a good steering committee and the poor beast wouldn't be butting into everything.

During the last year 535 new residences were built in Eugene. This means an increase in the population of that town nearly 2000.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Rev. C. C. Poling will preach in the Evangelical church in Independence on Saturday, the 17th, at 8 p. m.; at Saver on Sunday, the 18th, at 11 a. m., at Wells at 3 p. m. and at Buena Vista at 8 p. m.

At the Methodist church the usual services will be held. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and preaching by the pastor, Rev. H. G. McCain, in the morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

There will be no services at the Christian church next Sunday, on account of the absence of the pastor. Sunday school will be held at the usual hour.

Next Sunday morning the regular services will be held at Calvary Presbyterian church, with Sunday school at 10 o'clock, and morning worship with sermon by the pastor at 11 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock in the evening a sacred concert will be given at Calvary Presbyterian church instead of the usual preaching services, when solos, duets and singing by the choir will fill the program. Several popular soloists of Independence will participate and an enjoyable service is promised. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. Laura Miller of Newberg has been visiting at the home of Dr. Butler the past few days.

Back From the Races

F. H. Copeland, the trainer and rider who has charge of Wm. Percival's stable of gallopers, returned Saturday from Seattle where he had been attending the races. He took over St. Sylvania and Miss Condon. He started in only one race, winning second money. It was five-eighths of a mile and the time made was 1.02. He reports that the races there were a failure this year on account of the attendance being light. The fair, however, was a great attraction. The meet, which was advertised to cover ten days, was cut down to three.

Mr. Copeland is at present working out his string of horses at the race track in order to have them in shape for the meet at Roseburg, which is to take place in about three weeks.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy the Best and Surest

"It affords me pleasure to state that I consider the preparation known as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy the best and surest of good results of any I have ever used in my family," says P. E. Herdington of Mt. Aerial, Ky. This is the universal verdict of all who use this remedy. Its cures are so prompt and effectual that people take pleasure in recommending it. For sale by P. M. Kirkland.

The farmers have a smile on their faces since the weather has settled. They say it might have been worse.

ENTERTAINS HIS FRIENDS ROYAL

Quite the social event of the season was the delightful manner in which H. Hirschberg entertained a party of thirty of his friends Wednesday. A special train, personally conducted by himself, conveyed the party over Mr. Hirschberg's lines to Dallas where they were joined by President L. Gerlinger, of the Salem, Falls City & Western Railroad, who accompanied them over the Gerlinger lines, supplying a heavy engine for pulling the train up the steep grades leading into the depth of the coast range of mountains where the process of logging the heavy timber of that section was in active operation.

The skill with which the immense trees, for which Oregon is famous, were brought crashing down the mountains and placed on the flat cars, was a sight which, to use the real estate dealers favorite phrase, must be seen to be appreciated. Interest from the visitors from afar was scarcely more intense than that of the Oregonians who had seen the same thing many times before.

Aside from the intellectual benefit of the trip, the preparation of the noon-day meal, was a lesson in the equality of labor which would have temporarily delighted the eyes of the 'suffragist' enthusiasts. The accusation that western women are indifferent on that subject would have been fully explained to anyone who had witnessed the skill and alacrity with which the men of the party built fires, prepared coffee, fried juicy beef steaks, bacon and potatoes, and then served them to the women, who in the mean time, had arranged the table with the dainties which had been previously prepared at home.

After the repast, which, of course, was delicious—all western meals are that—the party went back to the train and made a trip to the Spalding camp, about five miles up another spur of the mountains. A place for supper was decided upon and Messrs. Conkey, Kirkland and Drexler were left to fish down the stream and bring in enough trout for the hungry mountain climbers at an hour long after the sun had gone to rest. The absence of a camera was the only thing which prevented a life-size portrait of the catch from being printed in this column. In order that the exact statistics may be on record for historical references, Mr. Kirkland's basket contained two infant minnows, Mr. Drexler's one and Mr. Conkey's one.

Owing to Mr. Hirschberg's solicitude for the comfort and pleasure of his guests and Mr. Gerlinger's courtesies, the day passed off most happily without a delay or accident of any kind to mar its perfection.

The members of the party were: Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Butler, Mrs. and Mrs. G. W. Conkey, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Drexler, Mrs. C. L. Fitchard, Mrs. G. C. Skinner, Mrs. Claire Irvine, Miss Dorothy Fitchard, Dr. H. C. Dunsmore, Ross Nelson, Frank Kirkland, Maurice Butler, Moss Walker, and H. W. A. Swift and son, James, of Waukesha, Minnesota, who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. V. Butler, and son, Jay Butler, Jr., of Monmouth Mrs. Laura Miller of Newberg, who is guest of her many friends and relatives in the county, Mrs. Pearl Naylor-Davis, and Miss Addison Naylor, of Portland who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hall and family of Monmouth, Miss Erma Hall of Portland and Miss Opal Hall, of New York, who are spending their vacation at their home at Monmouth, L. Gerlinger and Carl Williams of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. W. Messener, of McMinnville.

The ladies of the Leisure Hour Reading Club were entertained at the home of D. B. Taylor last Saturday by Mrs. D. A. Hodge, Mrs. S. B. Walker, Mrs. P. M. Kirkland, Mrs. W. R. Allin, and Mrs. D. B. Taylor. In the guessing contest Mrs. J. E. Hubbard and Mrs. Willard Craven were the winners. A dainty lunch was served and the afternoon was most enjoyably spent. There were about thirty ladies present.

Died Saturday, July 10, 1909, at the home of her father, J. F. Smith, five miles south of Independence, Mrs. George Whiteaker, Jr., from consumption, aged 21 years and 10 months. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m., under the direction of Bice & Calbreath. Interment was made in Monmouth cemetery.

Carl Percival returned Tuesday from Seattle where he had been in attendance at the fair for the last two weeks. Carl says the fair is way up in G. While there he provided himself with one of the souvenir pins inscribed A-Y-P, which is an abbreviation for "after your purse."
