CROP OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

Everybody Smiling Over Encouraging Prospects

During the past week a representative of the Enterprise has conversed with a large number of farmers living around Independence relative to the crop conditions in the vicinity and in every case it has been all that the farmers have hoped for and in some cases even more. The recent rains have benefitted the small grain crops immensely, while the straw, as a whole, will be short, the grain is heading out nicely. This is particularly true of the spring grain. The dreaded injury to the hay crop by the prolonged siege of dampness did not materialize. Hay is a good crop and almost without exception—barring future showers—will be of good undamaged quality. Potatoes are sure to be a monstrous crop everywhere, the rains coming at just the right time for their benefit.

Along with the diversified farmers the hop growers are feeling jubilant. The crops are short, to be sure, perhaps 50 per cent, but if present indications do not belie themselves, the quality will show up good. In the matter of prices it seems that everything is right up to the notch, with an indication of going higher rather than lower. Verily the farmer the merchant and even the printer hath just cause to be jubilant, because, with so much prosperity in the community the merchants won't feel too poor to advertise and the farmer is sure to come in and enroll his name on the book of honor at this office, and to show you our heart is in the right place we will offer to trust you until after you have sold your hops.
