TREATISE ON ROCK ROADS

LIMESTONE TO BE TESTED AT KANSAS UNIVERSITY

Counties and Towns May Have the Benefit For the Asking—Materials and Methods Found That Will Make Macadam Last Indefinitely.

The engineering department of the University of Kansas has decided to join the good roads movement. From now on it will be equipped to give the benefit of its testing laboratories to the counties and cities in the state of Kansas on road materials and methods. A bulletin will be published soon by the department giving the standard tests on more than 200 samples of limestone from the eastern half of the state. The regents established a testing station at Lawrence about a year ago, but up to this time there have been no funds to publish the results of the tests that have been made. The tests in the first bulletin are of stones available for macadamizing, of which there is practically an unlimited amount.

In 1905 Professor W. C. Hoad, who has charge of the work, had two senior students begin an investigation of the value of Kansas limestones for road-making, and they tested nearly a hundred samples. In the following year two more students, Edward N. Noyes and D. C. McConaughy, carried on the tests. Last year more tests were made from time to time until the department has a good idea of what limestones will make macadam roads. There is a wonderful difference in them, some being practically worthless, while others—and they are in the majority—are first class material.

Two tests are applied, one to determine the toughness and wearing qualities of the stones and the other to determine the cementing properties of the powder that is made by the road roller and the wear of traffic. It sometimes happens that a stone that is good in one respect is worthless on account of the lack of the other quality. Wearing qualities are determined by the standard "rattler" test, which was originated in France thirty years ago. The samples of some are broken into uniform pieces, so that fifty will weigh approximately eleven pounds. They are put into a "rattler," which consists of an iron cylinder, set at an angle of thirty degrees with the axis of rotation. In the test, lasting five hours, the cylinder is rotated 100,000 times, and the amount ground off the samples in that time by weight determines the measure of wearing quality of the stones. In making the cement test the powder is taken from the "rattler" and mixed with water. It is allowed to harden in cylindrical briquettes and is tested for its resistance under the trip hammer.

"We expect to be able to make tests from now on for any town or county that has a macadamizing project under way," said Professor Hoad, "and I believe the work will be a great thing for the good roads movement in the state. There are any amount of limestones which, if properly selected and put on the roads, will make roads that last indefinitely."

There are only six other testing stations in the United States that are equipped for the tests now being made at the university. The only other one west of Ohio is at the Iowa Agricultural college.—Kansas City Star.

ROAD DRAG PARADE.

Novel Movement at Sturgeon, Mo., For Good Highways.

A road drag parade half a mile in length attracted a crowd of people to Sturgeon, Mo., the other day and undoubtedly converted many who will take up the work in the future.

The parade was headed by the Sturgeon band. In carriages were the officers of the Brotherhood of Road Draggers, and then followed the drags, which were furnished by the farmers living near town. At the end of the procession an automobile owned by G. A. Pollard carried a drag, and this feature was liberally applauded along the line of march.

Sturgeon is trying to sustain her reputation of having the best dirt roads of any city in the state, and the road drag is doing the work.

Good Roads Prescription.

At a recent meeting of the highway commission and road supervisors of Baltimore county, Md., Dr. Charles L. Mattfeldt, one of the highway commissioners, wrote the following prescription for good roads:

- Good stone
- On good grades
- Over good base
- Dry and well packed.
- Rolled and rolled.
- Oiled or tarred
- And properly drained.
- Dustless and waterproof—Success will follow.

It will be noticed that the letters forming the beginning of each line spell "good roads."

Highway Maintaining Scheme.

Many German highways are lined with cherry trees. When the fruit is ripe it is gathered and sold, and the proceeds go to the fund for maintaining the highways.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine or known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.
