Mayor Franklin P. Story, of Atlantic City, was arrested on a warrant charging him with ignoring an order of State Attorney-General Wilson, which notified the Mayor to enforce the law against Sunday selling of liquor.

William Clyde Fitch, known to playgoers in every part of the world as Clyde Fitch, the successful American playwright, died, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Fitch had been spending the summer motoring through Germany and was en route to Paris when seized.

W. J. Bryan narrowly escaped injury at Springfield, Mo., when a motor car, in which he was being taken to make an address, got beyond control, going down a steep hill. The brake broke, but the car was stopped just on the edge of an embankment.

Isaac Brock, of Waco, Tex., who claimed to have seen 26 Presidents elected, is dead at an age said to be 121 years. According to Brock's family Bible and other documents, he was born in Buncombe County, North Carolina, March 1, 1788.

The full return of prosperity to the railroads of the United States is evidenced in reports just published of the gross earnings of 25 roads for the first half of August. For the first time since the panic of 1907 the aggregate weekly gross earnings exceed the high records reached in August, 1907.

The Legislative act prohibiting wholesale as well as retail sale of liquor in the State of Tennessee was upheld except as regards sales for shipment outside of the state, in an opinion handed down in Chancery Court at Chattanooga by Chancellor T. M. McConnell.

The awards of the contracts for the two American dreadnoughts of 26,000 tons each, the battleships Wyoming and Arkansas, will be made to William Cramp & Sons, of Philadelphia, and the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J.

William R. Hearst, at a meeting of the Independence party's county committee in New York, declared that he was prepared to use all his power in an effort to defeat Tammany at the approaching municipal election. He announced himself as favoring fusion with the various anti-Tammany organizations if he were satisfied that the organizations were loyal in general to the principles of the Independence party.

E. Le Febvre, the French aviator, was killed by a fall from his aeroplane, in which he was practicing Tuesday. The machine left the ground easily and flew around the aerodrome at a height of about 20 feet. Suddenly without apparent reason, the machine tipped sharply downward and struck the ground with great violence.

Brownsville Hop Crop Short

Reports from the Brownsville section are to the effect that the crop will be unusually small this year, and the yards which were not sprayed this year are hardly worth picking. In other yards spraying did not seem to kill the hop lice. A number of yards have been plowed up and set out to orchard. The late frosts caught many of the vines and they opened up very uneven this year. The usual price of 50c a box was paid for picking and as many of the growers have already contracted their hops for two and even three years ahead, so to them the outlook is very discouraging.

Hill on Crop Conditions

James J. Hill, the great railroad builder and perhaps no less noted as the one who was instrumental in introducing the particular brand of mustard in the northwest that bears his name, is out in a statement bearing on crop conditions in the northwest. He is credited with saying that the press reports which have persistently claimed this year's crop to be a big one is doing a great injustice to the country by over-speculation. Mr. Hill says: "I believe that the north west will harvest a crop that will be about 50,000,000 larger than some previous years, but the statement that a bumper crop is expected is far from true."
