JOHN DEERE BUGGIES ARE ALL RIGHT

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT

The day is not far distant when the political factions in the several counties of Oregon will don their war paint and take a high dive into the political sea. And it is a question of no small consequence, in regard to who will be able to raise his head above the surface after the storm has abated. But I want to say right here, let matters go as they may, the voters will be found masters of the situation.

Each and every candidate for office will have his hobby, and make promises, no doubt, but the day has come when the people demand the delivery of the goods. As the old story goes, promises are like pie-crust easily broken. In years past all that was needed to elect a candidate to office, was a brass band, and a dry goods box from which to deliver a speech. But now things are altogether different; the voters have awakened to a sense of the great responsibility that rests upon them. They no longer listen to the old worn out stories, that have been threshed out over and over again, but instead they are educating themselves along the lines of good government, and each year brings a marked improvement in the management of their affairs.

The November election is fast approaching, when there will be various measures submitted to the voters for their consideration. It would be well for us to study those questions before passing upon them, in order that we make no mistake. In my opinion some of those measures are purely local affairs, and do not concern us in the least. For instance we will say that the people residing in the eastern part of the state desired to create a new county, have we the right to say, "No, you are not entitled to a division of the county in question"? Or have we the right to say yes when a majority of the citizens are opposing it? We believe questions of this nature should be left wholly to the voters that are vitally interested, not to a people that know practically nothing of the existing conditions in the community affected. There are several measures to be voted upon that require more than a passing notice and we as voters of this great commonwealth should be fully prepared to cast our ballot intelligently, on each and every question submitted.

Torpid.

HERBINE

Is the Remedy You Need.

It is an invigorating tonic for a torpid liver. The first dose brings improvement, a few days use puts the liver in fine vigorous condition. Herbine also extends its restorative influence to the stomach and bowels. It helps digestion and food assimilation, purifies the bowels and brings back the habit of regular daily bowel movements. When the stomach, liver and bowels are active, bilious impurities no longer obstruct functional processes, the result of which is renewed energy, mental activity and cheerful spirits.

NEAL VISITS CRATER LAKE

Our enterprising merchant and postmaster, J. K. Neal, while visiting his son, Carl B. Neal, who has a government position in the forest reserve near Medford, reports having visited Crater Lake, says the Buena Vista correspondent of the Enterprise.

Mr. Neal says he spent the greater part of a day and two nights at the lake. While there he availed himself of the opportunity of taking a spin over the smooth waters and saw many things of interest, among which were the rugged walls surrounding the lake, towering far above the water's edge. Mr. Neal feels highly benefited by reason of his little jaunt out in the mountains, where the beautiful springs of pure water burst forth from the mountainside, and the beautiful snow-capped mountains look down upon the wayfarer.

To one who has never availed himself of the opportunity to take a stroll out in the mountains and delve in nature's handiwork, is missing the best part of his life. The giant tree, the flowers, the birds, all invite you to be one of their host. And what is better still, each and every one of them has a beautiful story to relate, a story that no one but mother nature can tell, a story that will cause us to have higher ideals, a story that is edifying, a story that will be stamped upon your memories for all time to come.
