counted but once; it is counted accurately, more rapidly than under any present system, and the machine shows the operator the exact amount of money that is paid out, and foots up the total at the end of the day's business.

"With banks, each one of these machines will easily do away with the services of one teller, and it can't make a mistake."

The company is so confident of the ultimate success of the new venture that the officers are now preparing to expend a considerable sum of money in building and equipping a tool factory for the construction of several models.

Mr. Holmes will be in Independence during the remainder of this week endeavoring to place stock with some of our motled men.

No need to take the statement of someone living far away as evidence. Here's a case right in this locality. E. Woods, 22 North 5th St., Salem, Ore., says: "It gives me pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Although I have never used this remedy myself, it has been taken by members of my family for kidney and bladder trouble with good results." For sale by all dealers. ## Standing by the Family Name

A maker has his own reason for putting his name on a piano. It is a creditable piece of work. He is willing to assume the responsibility for its future.

Makers who send us pianos without their factory imprint have their own reasons also. Stenciling on the name board any name that strikes a retailer's fancy their own personality does not appear in the attraction at all; why, then, invite trouble? The dealers who sell these fatherless "stencil" instruments—sell them, recommend them, do everything but become accountable for them. How can they? Their interest in a piano that bears one name this year, another the next, must be more or less transient. The purchaser cares nothing about that. He does care, though, about the instrument wearing well. Not for one year nor for ten, but long after the dealer may have, and doubtless has, gone out of business. That is why all sound piano reasoning leads to buying from the manufacturer or from his direct representatives. Here is the

Matchless Baldwin Pianos

Grand Prix-Paris, 1900. Grand Prize-St. Louis, 1904.

Its makers work with half a century's experience at their command. Flawless materials are chosen. Specialized craftsmen toll over every detail. The whole is refined, polished, brought to rare perfection. When the instrument goes out into the world to meet artistic standards, the makers not only sign it with their own name but (such is the personal "paternal" nature of their feeling) follow its career with as keen an interest as a father keeping track of a particularly promising child.

The name "Baldwin" on your piano is sterling assurance of continued satisfaction. To the big mass of buildings comprising the Baldwin home you may look for the redeeming of this pledge. Skillful control of factory economies brings price within the lowest figure consistent with high quality.
