

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON

The Garden Spot of the Willamette Valley.

A Few Facts Relative to the Willamette Valley, Polk County and Independence.

THE SOIL

The soil in the Willamette Valley is either a sandy loam or dark alluvial deposit and the depth varies from 2 feet to 100 feet deep. The soil around Independence and tributary is rich and especially adapted to raising Hops, Dairying and diversified farming.

PRODUCTS

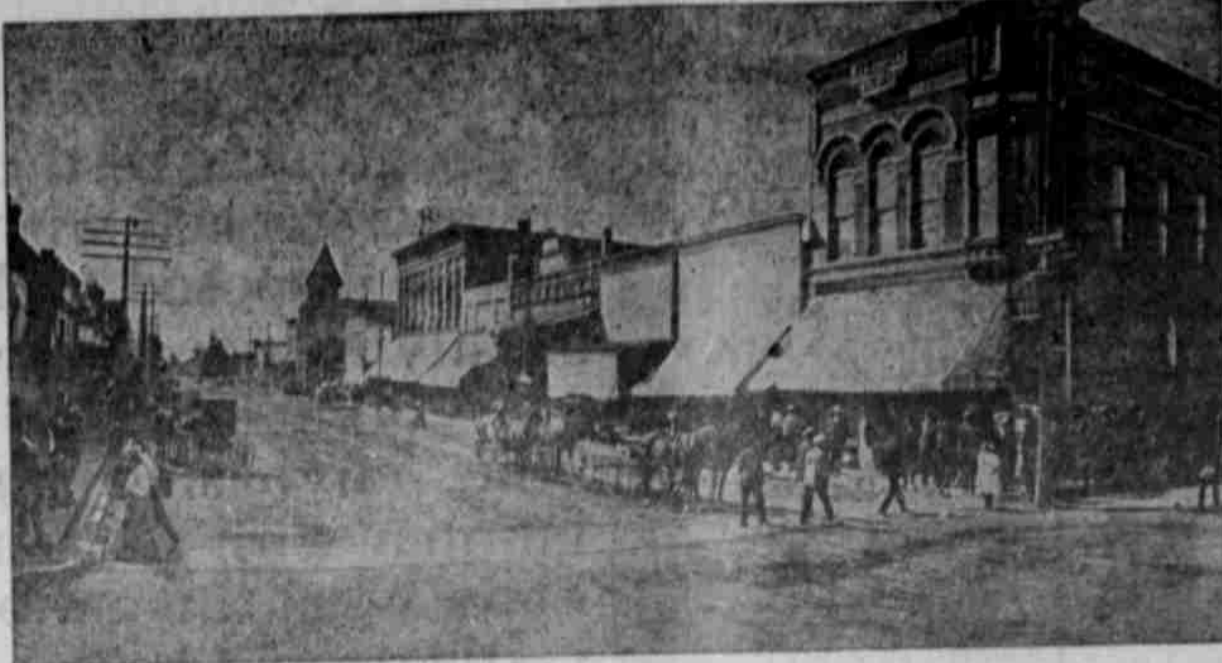

The products include almost everything grown in the temperate zone: Hops, Grains, Corn, Grasses, Vegetables and Fruits. Thousands of acres are being set out to Apples, Prunes, Peaches, Pears and Berries, all yielding abundantly, and finding ready markets.

AGRICULTURAL

Polk County is admirably adapted to general farming. The Rich Soil, Fine Climate and Abundant Rainfall, makes crops sure. Crop failures here are unknown. Clover, Cheat, Timothy, Vetch, Rape, Orchard Grass and Alfalfa grows fine, making three crops in one year.

FORESTS

In Polk County we have thousands of acres of fine Fir, Oak, Maple, Ash, Alder and Balm. This will make cheap fuel for wood for years to come.

MAIN STREET, INDEPENDENCE, OREGON

CLIMATE

Oregon's climate is unsurpassed—no extreme heat, no extreme cold, and no disagreeable winds; winters are very mild, being tempered by warm, soft rains from November until March. Snow is a rarity in this part of Oregon.

DAIRYING

Dairying and Stock Raising are prominent features of this county. The farmers find it very profitable; abundance of pure water, no blizzards, no flies.

MARKET

Are Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Alaska, Philippine Islands, China, Japan, Australia and Europe. Ships are being daily loaded at Portland with our products for these markets.

INDEPENDENCE

Is located on the west side of the Willamette river, on the Southern Pacific railroad, 70 miles south of Portland and only 12 miles from Salem, the State Capital, and has a population of about 1800. We have six churches, a public school and a high school, the best creamery in the state, sash and door factory, flour mills, hotel, National bank, and is the Hop Center of the world.

INDEPENDENCE raises over 3,921 acres of Hops within a radius of six miles, which produces yearly about 588,150 pounds of Hops, which if sold on the present market at 19 cents per pound would bring the huge sum of $111,748. Hop men annually pay out for hired labor the sum of $41,170.50, employing an army of men, women and children the year round.
