Therefore, pivots are finely polished, jewels are of ruby or sapphire the oil carefully refined—all to reduce friction. On these bearings the balance revolves 432,000 times daily. Astounding, isn't it? Continued from page 1.

said that the company accepted the franchise granted to it by the common council in the utmost good faith and with the determination to conform to every provision of the franchise. He stated that it would be the purpose of the management of the road at all times to please the citizens of the city of Salem, and that the company would commit no act on Union street which would incite the displeasure of the people living along said street or any other part of the city.

Mr. McNary stated that he had been frequently assured by the owners of the company, who are honorable men, that the management realized the necessity of treating the property owners and authorities of Salem with the greatest consideration, as any other policy, or an ugly or arbitrary one would work a ruination with the greatest consideration, as the annoyance incident thereto would be unbearable. Above all, the council declared that the franchise contained no provision which would permit the company to transgress upon the rights of any citizen.—Statesman.
