A LETTER TO FRIENDS

The following is a letter written by Mary Alice Plummer, known here as Pearl Basy, to her friends in Independence.

Dear Mrs. Fennell: I thought I would write you a few lines telling you I am feeling better than the day you and Mrs. Reggies were here. I sat up all day today and part of yesterday so you can judge by that I am feeling better.

I would like to come home to see all my friends and hope will not have to remain away from you all so long. I do hope I can have the opportunity of that happiness soon. I know how what kind friends mean and do appreciate your ever loving kindness.

Mrs. Fennell, did you forget the writing tablet? Hope not. My but the pink ribbon and white ribbon was so nice. I liked the three nice new dresses so well; the white one will wear on the fourth of July. Did you tell Mr. Hanna I was so sorry—and I don't need to live in a dread nor fear now for you all are so good and kind to me now. Don't let old Basy get the third girl to abuse and shame as you would soon be taking away the third girl. They were very abusive to me, at all times. Don't tell them where I am and I did not miss being away from them; indeed it was a great relief. You know I will be 20 this October 7th—was born in 1891. Mrs. Fennell, I do love you and dear little Mabel Boydson, she is so sweet. My love to you and all my friends—it seems so good to claim my own name—hope you will find my mother. Write to me soon.

With love,
Mary Alice Plummer.

A GRAND DISPLAY

Visitors at Independence during the week were unanimous in speaking a word of praise for the stock exhibition put on every forenoon during the race meet. Many were heard to remark that it surpassed anything that has ever been given in this city and few towns in Oregon have ever presented a better display of stock horses than that seen on Main street during the three days of the races.

Next week we hope to give the names of those securing prizes.
