REVOLUTION THREATENS SPAIN

General Strikes Called and Nation is Under Martial Law.

Madrid—Spain is face to face with a crisis equal to that following the riots in Barcelona in 1909. The agitation and the power of the agitators on the masses have increased in proportion to the rigor of the repressive measures undertaken by the government.

What, at its origin, was purely a labor movement, now has developed into a revolutionary conflict, a commune having actually been proclaimed at two towns near Valencia and the authorities driven out.

The affiliated trades unions have decided to call a general strike all over Spain, and the government has decided upon the drastic step of "suspending the constitutional guarantee" throughout the country. This virtually means martial law.

Meetings have been forbidden. The military authorities, it is said officially, will not assume control except in extreme cases.

At Bilbao troops fired on a crowd that was endeavoring to free prisoners, including strike leaders, who were being taken through the streets. Twenty-six persons were wounded. The situation is grave.

King Alfonso has signed a decree suspending the constitutional guarantee throughout Spain. This act, which had been under consideration for some days, was taken to give the government power to deal sharply and promptly with the revolutionary agitation now fermenting in many parts of Spain, especially in the cities and industrial districts, where republican and revolutionary plans are being furthered under cover of workingmen's strikes.

The most serious situation is at Valencia, where a general strike was declared. The city was at once placed under martial law, and though there was more or less rioting throughout the day, the authorities had matters pretty well in hand until after dark, when the disturbers vented their fury in an attack on the officials in the adjacent township of Cullera.

The rioters murdered a judge and wounded other officials of the court which had been engaged in the trial of those arrested earlier in the day. The mob was finally dispersed by guards from the custom house.

CANADIANS SEE TAFT.

Many Cross Border to Hear Talk on Reciprocity.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—President Taft turned from politics while here and spent an enjoyable afternoon in Sault Ste. Marie. He spoke from in front of the local armory, but confined himself to local topics.

However, reciprocity, which the president so heartily endorsed, and which is a red-hot election issue in Canada, was spoken of in the crowds which greeted Mr. Taft. This came from the fact that a noticeable element in the assemblage was the great number of Canadians who had crossed from the other side of the St. Marys river to see, as many of them humorously put it, "the man who was going to annex Canada."

Mr. Taft produced a profound impression on them with his genial smile and hearty handshake, as he said: "A gentleman from Canada? Glad to meet you, sir."

In his address at the armory, Mr. Taft promised the people of the "lock city" that he would give his attention to the waterpower situation here and would see that the long-disputed subject was settled.

CARROTS VIE WITH BEEF.

Brothers Walk Across Country to Test Vegetarian Theory.

Chicago—Because a Harvard professor wants to show the relative value of a meat diet as against a vegetable diet for physical endurance, Jesse Buffum, 25 years old, and his brother, Warren, aged 23, are in Chicago on a walk from Boston to California. Jesse must subsist on meat and Warren on vegetables. Both must sleep on the roof when they stay at hotels. Each takes a turn at pushing a wheelbarrow which contains their baggage. They said they had spent one night in a field at Otis, Ind., in a heavy rainstorm.

Girls' Smokes Now Cost

Los Angeles—Cigar makers and other tobacco factory workers, including girls, who have been accustomed to having all the "free smokes" they want, must pay hereafter for the "makin's" and for all the cigars they use, according to a ruling of Claude I. Parker, collector of internal revenue. "The government is deprived annually of vast amounts of revenue by this practice of tobacco factory employes taking cigars, cigarettes and tobacco from untaxed stocks," said the collector.

Aviator Falls to Death.

Dewitt, Ia.—John A. Rosenbaum, of Chicago, was killed here when his aeroplane fell from a height of 50 feet. He had been in the air only 20 minutes when he lost control of the machine. Rosenbaum was making a trial flight when he met death. Other aviators previously had failed to make successful flights in the same machine and Rosenbaum declared he would prove that the machine would fly. He had just started to descend.
