Homer Lodge, No. 45, K. of P. is progressing today with remarkable rapidity. The order is composed of enthusiastic men who are just now making a unanimous endeavor to promote the purposes of the order and that they have met with achievements is seen in the enormous growth of the lodge within the past year. During the busy season the attendance was comparatively small, but with the beginning of the lodge period of the year it has increased remarkably as has the interest.

Perhaps nothing shows the culture and enlightenment of a city quite so much as the number of societies which flourish among its people. Man is a social being and the highest development of this proclivity is probably found in the number of lodges in Independence to which we have access today. Certainly the amalgamation of men of diverse temperaments and propensities into an organization of fraternal assistance or mutual uplifting cannot help but be a long step in the economy of evolution, and the K. of P. Lodge is certainly playing a prominent part in the good work.

Independence is well provided with societies and there is scarcely a night in the week when the stranger within our gates, if he possesses the proper grip and "open sesame" cannot meet in council with friends and brethren, nor are these opportunities open only to men, as is evinced by the number of ladies' clubs and organizations.

Really, it is not necessary for us to attempt to eulogize the K. of P. Lodge of Independence, as the order, with its vast membership, will speak for itself, but we might say, in conclusion, that if you are not a regular attendant we would advise you to become one at once and manifest an interest in the fraternity whose foundation was laid in the centuries almost lost in the dim past, and the grand beauty of which shall be concluded only when the mission of Him who came from the Father shall be perfected.

It would be well for the country members and visitors to note that the meeting hour is 7:30 o'clock sharp.
