NORMAL NOTES

Wednesday evening President and Mrs. Ackerman entertained the February Seniors at dinner. The girls had a delightful time and are especially proud of their unique and lovely "place cards," which requests included the Misses Hyde, Strachan, Morrison, Bohannon, McAlpine, Lynn, Williamson and president and Mrs. Ackerman.

Miss McAlpine's talk, "The Postal Savings Bank," which was given Thursday morning, was most instructive. The subject had been thoroughly worked out and was splendidly given. No one could help having a clear understanding of Uncle Sam's savings department.

Friday night was the regular meeting of the Literary Societies. The Delphians had their first debate, the question being the "Consolidation of Schools," which, according to the results of the debate, seems to be an excellent plan.

The Vespertines and Normals had their regular work. The societies are making preparations for the Intercollegiate Debate at McMinnville on March 8; An inter-society contest will be held sometime in February for the purpose of choosing the delegates to represent the normal in the Intercollegiate contest.

Saturday afternoon the Entre Nous Club at died "The Tempest" from Shakespear. Miss McAlpine had the review; Miss Lorraine Johnson character sketch of Miranda and reading from the play was given by M'ss Morrison, all of these were enjoyed very much. After the Literary program, the hostesses, Misses Mickelson, Copeland, Temple and Twoby, varied the social hour by taking the club to Clark's for dinner.

Saturday night the girls of the normal had a German Bat Ball contest; the seniors and Freshmen won by the score of 10, while the sophomores and juniors made 8 points.

The same night the February seniors all took their dolls and went to play with Esther Copeland, Mabel Temple, Sarah Mickelson and Ruth Twoby, at the home of Mrs. Boone. The little hostesses took their guests and their dolls to the moving picture show, then went to the contest of the gym where the spectators enjoyed the "kid party" as much as the "kids."
