SURVIVORS LAND IN NEW YORK

Officers and crew.....	545-745
Rescued by Carpathia:	705
Passengers.....	210-745
Officers and crew.....	195
Died in lifeboat.....	1
Died on Carpathia.....	1
Total death list.....	1601

By Carlos M. L. Hurd, Post-Dispatch and New York World staff reporter, who arrived on the Carpathia.

New York—Facts which I have established by inquiries on the Carpathia as positively as they could be established in view of the silence of the surviving officers are:

That the Titanic's officers knew, several hours before the crash, of the possible nearness of the iceberg.

That the Titanic's speed, nearly 23 knots an hour, was not slackened.

That the number of lifeboats on the Titanic was insufficient to accommodate more than one-third of the passengers, to say nothing of the crew.

Most members of the crew say that there were 16 lifeboats and two collapsibles; none say there were more than 20 boats in all. The 700 who escaped filled most of the 16 lifeboats.

Had the ship struck the iceberg head-on with whatever resulting shock, the bulkhead system of watertight compartments probably would have saved the vessel. As one man expressed it, it was the impossible that happened when, with a shock unbelievably mild, the ship's side was torn for a length which made the bulkhead system ineffective.

At 11:45 came the sudden sound of two guns, a warning of immediate danger.

The crash against the iceberg which had been sighted at only a quarter of a mile, came almost simultaneously with the click of the levers operated by those on the bridge, which stopped the engines and closed the watertight doors.

Captain Smith was on the bridge a moment later, giving orders for the summoning on deck of all aboard and for the putting on of life preservers and the lowering of the lifeboats.

The first boats lowered contained more men passengers than the later ones, as the men were on deck first and not enough women were there to fill them.

When a moment later the rush of frightened women and crying children to the deck began, enforcement of the women first rule became rigid. Officers loading some of the boats drew revolvers, but in most cases the men, both passengers and crew, behaved in a way that called for no such restraint.

Members of the crew discredited all reports of suicide and say Captain Smith remained on the bridge until just before the ship sank, leaping only after those on the deck had been washed away. It is also related that when a cook later sought to pull him aboard a lifeboat, he exclaimed, "Let me go," and jerking away, went down.

The following named men of world-wide note are known to have gone down on the Titanic: Colonel John Jacob Astor, financier; Benjamin Guggenheim, mining magnate; C. M. Hays, railway magnate; W. T. Stead, English editor; Isidor Straus, merchant prince; Colonel Washington Roebling, engineer; Clarence Moore, sportsman; Major Archibald Butt, soldier and personal aid of President Taft; F. D. Millet, American artist; G. D. Widener, "traction king"; Walter D. Douglas, millionaire manufacturer; George Floyd Eitel, automobile magnate; Henry B. Harris, theatrical manager.

China Names Yale Man.

New York—Chung Mun Yu, the old Yale coxswain, has been appointed minister of the Chinese republic to the United States, according to a Shanghai dispatch to the Herald. Chung entered Yale in 1883, after preliminary studies in the Hartford, Conn., public schools, and made the crew in his Freshman year, steering Yale's shell to victory against Harvard. He was elected to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the only one of his race to be so honored. Later he acted as an interpreter at the legation in Washington.

Great Tunnel to Start.

Seattle—May 1 the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway will start construction of a three-mile tunnel through the Cascade mountains, it is announced here. Workmen are building bunkhouses at Rockdale, and as fast as these are completed three gangs of 250 men each will be put to work on the project, which will cost nearly $5,000,000. The tunnel will shorten the line seven miles, and will eliminate the grade at the summit.

Men Stand in Icy Water.

New York—W. J. Hawksford, of London, a first-class passenger, said one of the collapsible rafts was placed in the water with 30 men on it, but instead of rising to the surface, as it should have done, it began slowly to sink, until the men on it were immersed in the ice-cold water up to their waists.
