"Moonshining" in Scotland.
The discovery was made, recently, in the mountainous region near Kyle of Lochalsh (Scotland) by the Rosshire preventive staff of a complete illicit whisky distilling plant. The still was covered with a cairn, and had a capacity of 20 gallons, the smoke being led along the mountain side. The smugglers had conducted a regular traffic.

PINAFORE WAS TOO POPULAR

Once Everybody Sang or Played it or Made Continued Use of its Catch Phrases.

There was a time when the vogue of "Pinafore" was simply amazing. It was not copyrighted and after its success in London it was pirated in the United States. This piracy was the initial cause of Gilbert's hatred of America and Americans.

However, if America did not send him its dollars, it was quite ready to spread his fame, says the Bookman. Church choirs added "Pinafore" to their repertoires, and it is recorded that 100,000 barrel organs were constructed to play nothing else. Here is an ironical note from a newspaper of the time:

"At present there are 42 companies playing 'Pinafore.' Companies formed after 6 p. m. yesterday are not included."

Its catch phrase, "What, never? Well, hardly ever!" was deadly. It is told, for instance, that one editor barred his staff from using it.

"It occurred 20 times in as many articles yesterday. Never let me see it used again." "What, never?" was the unanimous question. "Well, hardly ever," replied the wretched man.

The readiness of W. S. Gilbert's wit is well illustrated by this story told of him. He and F. C. Burnard, the editor of Punch, were guests at the same dinner table where a wise host placed the rival humorists at opposite ends of the room in the hope of distributing equally the witty table talk.

Continual shouts of laughter rose from Gilbert's corner until Burnard, after ineffectual attempts to arouse a similar jocularity in his immediate circle and unable to conceal his chagrin, leaned forward and said in his most sarcastic manner:

"I suppose Mr. Gilbert is telling some of those funny stories which he occasionally sends to Punch but which don't appear."

To which Gilbert dryly replied: "I don't know who sends the funny stories to Punch, but it's very true they don't appear."

Sponge Cake.

Three eggs, a quarter of a pound of flour, four tablespoonsful of sugar, grated rind of half a lemon. Sift the flour on to a piece of paper, adding one teaspoonful of baking powder, and sift again. Put the eggs into a basin and beat them for fully ten minutes, add the sugar and beat for twenty minutes. Stir in the flour, baking powder and lemon rind as lightly as possible. Butter a cake tin, then dust it over with flour. Pour the mixture into the prepared tin, and bake in a very moderate oven for about one hour. This mixture may be baked in small gem pans if preferred.

Continent That Was Lost.

One of the wonders of the world that men hear little about is the Lost Continent. Sea-going men are familiar with the chain of little islands that extend from the continent of Asia down to Australia. Should the ocean go down five hundred feet this Lost Continent would be restored. It is believed that a few aeons ago the Lost Continent really existed.

Braid, Ribbon and Small Flowers Mark Hats for Children's Wear

TWO excellent samples of the spring styles for misses are pictured here. Braids (of the lacy kind), ribbon and small flowers are the materials used. Shapes, both for misses and children, are much like those shown for grown people, but the composition of these hats so far as trimming and making is concerned are entirely different.

Plaques of Val or other light laces are used with great success. In Fig. 1 a lace Tuscan braid is made up with platted Val lace and finished with a ribbon bow in a dull rose color. It is a very fine combination in just the right tones. This shape is always becoming and always fashionable.

Innumerable fancy bonnets grow daily more popular. No longer confined to small children, the miss and the debutante cling to these childish modes as long as possible. There is no doubt they lend a hint of the spring-time of life to any wearer whose face is youthful.

The example shown here is made of white hair braid with rosettes and ties of blue ribbon. The wreath of closest June roses across the front outlines the coronet, and the crown is a small soft tan. This is one of many shapes which the beautiful little "Wilhelmina" or Dutch bonnet brought in its train.

Bonnets for little girls are delightful miniatures in shape, of those designed for their mother. Like everything diminutive, they are quaint and pleasing from the mere fact that they are small.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

HAS NUMEROUS GOOD POINTS

Walking Costume That Will Make Up Well in Many Kinds of Materials.

There are many materials well suited to this simple costume.

It has the skirt made with a narrow panel down the left side of front; three pieces of satin are inserted from the foot upwards; buttons and loops are also used for trimming.

The short coat is semi-fitting and has a tuck on each shoulder, kept in position by small buttons sewn close together. The satin is used for the collar, pocket flaps and cuffs.

Hat of straw to match, trimmed with a ribbon bow and wings.

Materials required: 4 1/2 yards 48 inches wide, 3/4 yard satin 20 inches wide, 5 large and 20 small buttons, 4 yards silk or satin for lining coat.

Cotton Corduroys.

Corduroys this summer will be very much in evidence.

So many women like the velvet finished corduroys that they will doubtless be glad to see the same weave introduced into the cotton fabrics.

The new spring cotton corduroys much resemble the velvet ones, though they have not, of course, the same brilliant finish. There is the same cordlike weave, however, and the cotton corduroys will doubtless prove as good for hard service as the other members of the corduroy family.

To Mend Hole in Sweater.

To mend a hole in a sweater, use yarn as for darning, start at the top and chain stitch down the length of the hole with a darning needle, catching each loop securely. You will have a neat piece of work and no one will notice where the hole has been.

Shaded Feathers.

Shaded feathers are to be much worn this season. A color combination apparently in high favor is red and dark, bright cerise.

WAYS OF SERVING CHEESE

Some Suggestions for the Housekeeper Who Wishes to Avoid Monotony.

The housekeeper who does not believe in monotony does not serve cheese in the same way two days in succession. A little planning will enable her to run three or four different kinds of cheese at the same time, keeping them all fresh by putting them in an airtight cold place.

As most cheeses spoil quickly it is well to buy in smaller portions, especially in warm weather. Some cheeses are so perishable that grocers will not handle them in summer, and they should not be bought unless to be eaten at once.

The same kind of cheese may be served in various forms. Take the popular cream cheese, probably more used than any other one make. If you pass it out in squares one day, the next mix it in balls sprinkled with parsley; again mix with chopped pimientos; or thin slightly with whipped cream, mix with chopped red peppers, and remold into a flat thin cake, which is passed whole.

Instead of serving bar-le-due and cream cheese separately, stir together into a mixture about the consistency of creamed butter and sugar.

Fried cheese balls are delicious served with plain lettuce and French dressing. Mix into the cheese chopped parsley, a dash of cayenne, a pinch of salt, and two drops of onion juice. Mold into balls, dip in egg and bread crumbs, and fry in boiling lard before serving.

Another fried cheese with lettuce is made of the English or ordinary American cheese cut in strips like French fried potatoes. Dip these in seasoned egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep fat when ready for use.

EYE PETTIT'S EYE SALVE

Mistrusted Santa Claus.

As Christmas time drew near Bob expressed a wish for some specially desired article. His mother suggested that he write to Santa Claus about it. "Mother," said the child, after some hesitation, "I—I think everything of Santa, and I know how good he is an' everthing, but, mother, he's so awful busy that he forgets, sometimes! Last year, you 'member, I asked him for a toy goat 'an' he sent me four dogs. I wish you 'look after this one thing yourself!"

Pie Sufficed for Large Party.

Over 90 persons partook, the other day at Gorleston, Suffolk, England, of a gigantic sea-pie, into the making of which there entered two stone of flour, six rabbits, six ox and sheep kidneys, 28 pounds of beefsteak, two score of green vegetables, half a stone of onions, and two stone of turnips and carrots. The total weight of the pie was over two hundred pounds, and it took two days to cook.

All Are Ours.

We lament the hostility of circumstances and the elusive nature of opportunity; but if we are in the stream of power all circumstances are ours. The master of right living is keyed to his surroundings and lives as the rose opens to the sky and air. Study yourself, lay firm hold on the deep germs of angelhood, the folded blossoms of beauty, and bid them come forth!

Sauce for Fricassee.

Stir together two tablespoonsful of butter and one of flour previously mixed with a little milk. Add a pint of milk and white stock mixed in equal quantities; or a pint of milk alone. Add a sliced carrot, a chopped onion, a few sprigs of parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Put into the sauce whatever meat it is intended to fricassee and stew gently until tender. Remove the pieces into another saucepan, thicken with the yolks of two eggs, squeeze in the juice of half a lemon, pour over the meat and serve very hot.

enjoyed the Judge's Lunch.

Aman, who appeared to be one of the unemployed, entered unobserved the chamber of one of the judges in the Four Courts, Dublin, Ireland, the other day, and helped himself to the lunch which had been prepared for the judge. While he was pouring out a cup of tea he was discovered by the attendant in charge, who had him removed and went to look for a policeman. In the meantime the man escaped.

Deadly Venetian.

A contrast to the Venetian glasses, which were popularly supposed to fly to pieces if poisoned liquor were poured into them, were glasses which poisoned all who drank from them. The poison was crystallized at the bottom of the glass, from which it was indistinguishable, and as it dissolved very slowly it could be used many times with deadly effect. Some such glasses can be seen at the British Museum.
