LITTLE TOT'S READY ANSWER

Fit Very Nicely. Considering Step-mother Got Her "Ready Made," Replied Miss Pollikins.

She was a pretty little tot, and everybody who knew her took pleasure in pausing to ask her some kind of a question, merely to show an interest and for the pleasure of hearing the musical cadence of her voice. Some of the questions were what might be termed leading, but for all she invariably had some kind of an answer. Among these latter inquiries was one from an intrusive busybody who was old enough to know better, but who belongs to a class of person who never learn. Knowing that the little girl had only recently become the possessor of a young and attractive stepmother, with a curiosity inborn she asked her very frankly:

"Well, Pollikins, how do you like your stepmother?"

The child raised her blue eyes gravely, and with her face glowing with happiness replied:

"Oh, very much, indeed, Mrs. Skillington! We fit very nicely, considering that she got us ready made."—Judge's Library.

Kept Her Word.

Senator Root was talking about a certain resourceful corporation. "They can get around anything," he said, a touch of admiration in his voice. "They remind me of a Narragansett girl."

"A Narragansett girl, driving a 60-horse-power gray roadster, admitted: 'Yes, I've accepted David.'"

"Why," said the girl beside her, "you told me positively that if Dave proposed to you your answer would be a word of two letters."

"The other girl, blushing a little, said softly:

"But I answered Dave in German."

A Philanthropist.

A north side lumber dealer contracted to supply a lot of lumber to a stranger. On looking it over he found it full of knotholes and told his customer about it frankly.

"You may not want this lumber," he said.

"Why not?"

"I'll have to be honest with you. It is full of knotholes."

The stranger only laughed.

"I'll take it," he declared. "The lumber is to go around some baseball grounds. Knotholes won't hurt matters any. I was a kid myself once."

HE KNEW.

Mr. Askitt—Why is it, doctor, that so many men are having nervous prostration. They didn't used to have in the old days.

The Old Doctor—No; in the old days, you see, we used to call it delirium tremens.

That Equalized It.

She (pouting)—You don't love me as much as you did. You used to hold me on your knees a whole hour, and now you tire in 45 minutes.

He—I love you just as much, darling, but you know while you were away this summer you gained 25 per cent in weight.

Business Ways.

"His wife is a business woman all right."

"What makes you say that?"

"She's installed a time clock in the hall, and he has to punch it when he goes out nights and when he gets back."

At the Shore.

Henry—Do you think she would accept me if I should propose?

Ethel—Why, of course! She has accepted lots worse looking chaps than you

Beauty in Expression.

If the great number of women who believe that they are sadly lacking in beauty who pass valuable time and money in vainly trying to acquire it could but be brought to realize that the highest form of beauty is that of expression! This is attained by the possession of inward graces, which frequently transform a so-called plain face into one more beautiful and winning than the combination of a perfect complexion and regular features.

Simple Club Doings.

While Mrs. W. was busy in her kitchen preparing the light refreshments for her bridge club, which includes the more well-to-do of the neighboring county, Sally Hill, a poor farmer's child, came in with a donation of home-made pickles. "My mother belongs to a club, too," said Sally. "Does she?" And what do they do? Play cards?" "No." "Sew?" "Oh, no; they just draw names out of a hat to see who'll have the next meeting."

Should Have Some Superstition.

We would not give a rap for the person who is without all superstition. We would a little bit prefer the man whose superstitions are pessimistic to the one who is so exceedingly superior as to think there is no luck in life, no favor nor disfavor in anything that may happen or in any circumstance that may surround our lives.—Exchange.

Origin of Popular Saying.

The origin of the saying that it takes nine tailors to make a man is thought by some to be a corruption of "nine tellers make a man," the "tellers" being another name for "tolls" of a bell. The English custom was to strike three times three tolls or "tellers" on the passing bell for the death of a man. It was three times two for a woman.

Two-Edged Sword.

Curiosity is finding out something about somebody else that doesn't concern you and which would make you mighty mad if somebody else found it out about you when it didn't concern somebody else.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Woman of Narrow Mind.

A woman lacking true culture is said to betray by conversation a mind of narrow compass, bounded on the north by her servants, on the east by her children, on the south by her ailments, and on the west by her clothes.—Burton Kingsland.

Locusts Blinded Aviator.

A Spanish aviator nearly lost his life by colliding with a swarm of locusts. He was flying at a height of 60 feet when he ran into the swarm, which so blinded him that he lost control of the machine.

African Ants.

These insects sometimes set forward in such multitudes that the whole earth seems to be in motion. A corps of them once was seen to attack and cover an elephant quietly feeding in a pasture. In eight hours nothing was to be seen but the skeleton of that enormous animal completely picked. The business was done, and the enemy marched on after fresh prey. Such power have the smallest creatures acting in concert.

Must Be Warned.

The Prussian building code has just received a rather remarkable amendment. It provides that the huts for the use of laborers connected with building operations must be suitably warmed between November 1 and April 1—when the outside temperature reaches fourteen degrees, that is, eighteen below freezing.

Wife (anxiously)—I do wish you were in some other work, dear. I am in constant fear that you will touch a charged wire at the shop." Hub—"Oh, the charged wire at the shop doesn't bother me; what I have more dread about is the charged account at the store."

Stoutsville, Ohio.—"I suffered from headaches, backache and was very irregular. A friend advised me to take Lydia E.
