Get in the Habit of Trading Here

We make a specialty of fancy groceries—goods with a reputation for quality that pleases the most exacting taste, and we take special pride in recommending our grocery department to the people of Independence and vicinity. But our efforts to keep our GROCERY DEPARTMENT in the front ranks have been no greater than have been our efforts to make every department of the store just right. If you are not in the habit of making this establishment your shopping headquarters, get in the habit.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND PROGRESS OF OUR HOME STATE

A WEEK WITH BIRDS.

Special Short Course in Poultry at O. A. C. Farmers' Week.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis—A special short course in poultry farming has been arranged for farmers' week, December 9 to 14, at the Oregon Agricultural college, and Prof. James Dryden has planned an interesting schedule of daily lectures accompanied by practical demonstrations.

Types of poultry farming and different systems of management in the various sections of the country will be discussed, and original views on different poultry farms throughout the United States will be shown. There will also be views of plans of serviceable and practical poultry houses for the farm.

Breeding for egg-laying qualities will form a prominent part of the instructional work, and representatives of the different breeds will be shown. Special emphasis will be placed on egg-laying qualities and how good layers may be produced. In this connection the results of the breeding work at the experiment station will be summarized.

Hatching eggs under the hen will be compared with various artificial methods as to efficiency on the farm, and brooding and caring for the chicks will be studied in detail. Poultry foods and egg rations will be discussed, and Prof. Dryden will report the results of feeding experiments at the station.

The preparation of fowls for market will be given some attention, both as to fattening methods and fattening rations, and as to ways of killing and dressing the fowls. Marketing poultry products will also engage the attention of the visiting farmers. Mr. Dryden has made a careful study of the good and poor methods of handling eggs, candling and grading, packing and shipping to market, and the practical demonstrations, will cover all these points.

CHEMAWA HERD IMPROVED.

Modern Equipment to Be Provided and Instruction Broadened

Chemawa—The dairy herd at the Salem Indian school has been improved by the addition of ten fine Holstein cattle recently purchased by Superintendent Harry E. Wadsworth. The school herd for many years has not furnished sufficient milk for the students, owing to the inferior grade of cows. Superintendent Wadsworth intends to have a dairy herd of exceptional quality ample to furnish the students with plenty of milk.

The dairy barn will be remodeled along modern ideas and equipped with iron stanchions, concrete silos and other modern improvements.

Instruction to be given the boys in dairying is along practical lines. They will be taught how to care for and feed the dairy cow and the proper care of milk, as well as how to make butter and the growing of feed.

SHERMAN STUDENTS TRY.

County Soon to Become Famous for Poultry, Writes Teacher.

Salem—"I am in receipt of your letter relative to the poultry contest, which is to become state-wide among the school children of Oregon," writes W. C. Bryant, of Moro, to Superintendent Alderman. "Sherman county is especially adapted to a few things and among those things poultry. With a reasonably mild climate, with no dews and many natural advantages along similar lines, this county should become as well known for its poultry as it is now famous for wheat and fine draft horses."

He writes that plans are already under way for entering next year's contest and states that while other entries will not be excluded, the county is going to make a major in poultry.

OREGON EXHIBIT SCORES.

Crook County Wins Silver Cup for Forage Plants.

Minneapolis—The second annual Northwestern exposition came to a close with the celebrating of "Idaho day." Next year's session probably will be held in some Eastern city.

Announcement was made that Leonard & Ballentine, of Glendive, Mont., had won first prize for the best bushel of flax and that Crook county, in the Oregon Colonization company's exhibit was awarded the silver cup for the best display of forage plants.

Award of $5000 prize for the best five bushels of wheat probably will not be made until next week.

Klamath Mill Records Big Cut.

Klamath Falls—The Pelican Bay Lumber company's mill which closed down for the winter this week, has cut over 18,000,000 feet of lumber since starting about the middle of March says Mr. Mortensen, the manager, who will leave shortly for his home in Wisconsin. He hopes the mill will cut over 25,000,000 next season, and says that the loggers have cut over 20,000,000 feet of logs so far this year and will considerably increase that amount if the deep snow holds off until the holidays.

$70,000 Deal Made at Vale.

Vale—One of the biggest real estate deals ever known in Jordan valley was concluded last week, when Jerry Shea, sold his farm to Greg Valasquez for $70,000. The farm contains 320 acres and is well improved.

WORK IS STATEWIDE.

"Made-in-Oregon" Campaign Is Being Waged Vigorously.

Portland—"The Manufacturers' association is preparing to extend the campaign that we have been waging for the increased purchase and use of 'made-in-Oregon' goods throughout the state the last year," said W. H. McMonies, president of the Manufacturers' association.

"The time has now arrived for greater action, and in this it is the desire of the association to have the co-operation not merely of every manufacturer, but of every citizen in the state. We want the manufacturers to get together to assist in conducting this worthy campaign, to help us work more effectively for the good of one and all.

"With this end in view, the association conceived the idea of issuing invitations to the state manufacturers to come to the city during the Land show week in order that they might get acquainted, learn of each other's needs and prepare to wage more strenuously the campaign for Oregon's products before that of other states. In this way, too, it is hoped that the people in general will be awakened to the great necessity for loyalty to their cities, their counties and their state, while the loyalty of the manufacturers will be aroused in connection with the use and the exploitation of the raw products of the state.

"The society desires every jobber and retailer to push the sale of and to display effectively the manufactures and the produce of Oregon, to place such articles on the shelves and in the windows of the stores; in fact, in all the hundred and one ways known so well by these business men to see to it that our goods get as good a showing as those from elsewhere.

NEW INDUSTRY IS PLANNED.

Juice of Loganberry May Rival Famous Grape Juice.

Portland—Possibilities of the development of an important new industry in Oregon, in the extraction and preservation for the market of loganberry juice were discussed at the annual meeting of the State horticultural society.

Professor Lewis, of the Oregon Agricultural college, has been experimenting upon loganberry juice as a market commodity for some time, and especially during the past year he has made careful investigations and experiments in the matter. He said that he believed that loganberry juice will prove superior to grape juice when it is placed on the market in commercial quantities, and that such an industry may soon become a large factor in the agricultural prosperity of the state.

He said that 1000 acres would be required to support a factory for the manufacture of loganberry juice in paying quantities for the market, and expects soon to see several such factories established in the loganberry districts.

BOOKS AT COST IS PLAN.

Springfield Grange Drafts Bill to Go Before Legislature.

Springfield—The Springfield Grange has outlined its proposed bill to provide the school children of the state with books and supplies at cost. A draft of the proposed bill to be presented to the legislature is as follows: "This is an act for a better and more economical method of publishing and furnishing text books for the use of all public and high schools in the state of Oregon.

"Section 1.—Be it enacted by the house, the senate concurring, that all text books for use in all public and high schools of the state of Oregon shall hereafter be edited, printed and furnished to the schools of the state of Oregon at cost of material, labor and transportation.

"Section 2.—It shall be the duty of the county school superintendents to furnish the state superintendent of public instruction the approximate number of books of each grade needed and the destination of the same, not later than the first day of July each year. All books shall be delivered to destination not later than September 1 of each year."

It is planned to attach an emergency clause to the measure so that it will become operative at once.

Women of Ashland Will Vote.

Ashland—Ashland women will cast their first vote December 17 at the city election. Not only are they eligible to vote, after the governor's proclamation, on completion of the official count of the ballots, but are also eligible for holding or becoming candidates for any of the offices, but according to head suffrage leaders they will be content for the present with only casting their vote, as they do not care to pitch into another political fight so soon after their recent victory for suffrage.

Salmon Catch Low.

Gardiner—The catch of silverside salmon for the season now closing is considerably below the catch of 1911 on the Umpqua river and its tributaries. The pack of the two canneries operating here will total about 14,000 cases, against about 30,000 cases last year.
