Preserved Cherries.

Stone the cherries, preserving every drop of juice. Weigh the fruit, allowing pound for pound for sugar. Put a layer of fruit for one of sugar until all is used up; pour over the juice and boil gently until the syrup begins to thicken. The short-stemmed cherries or the Morellas are the best for preserves. Sweet cherries will not do.

WORTH TIME AND TROUBLE.

Salad Rolls Call for Care in the Making, but the Result Repays All the Outlay.

Scald one cup milk, add three tablespoons butter, one and a half tablespoons sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add one yeastcake, dissolved in one-quarter cupfuls lukewarm water and one and a half cupfuls flour. Cover and let rise, then add white of one egg beaten stiff, and foured to knead. Again let rise, shape in small biscuits, place in rows on floured board, cover with cloth and let it rise until light and well puffed. Flour handle of wooden spoon, and make a deep crease in middle of each biscuit, take up and press edges together. Place closely in buttered pan, cover, let rise, brush over with one egg slightly beaten and diluted with one tablespoonful milk and bake 12 or 15 minutes in a hot oven. This may seem quite a process to go through, but when done and ready to be eaten one feels really repaid. They are the best I ever ate.

Premium Fruit Cake.

Sugar, three cups; butter, one and one-half cups; six eggs; sour cream one and one-half cups; saleratus or soda, two teaspoonfuls; currants, one half pound; raisins, three-fourths pound; citron, one-fourth pound; one nutmeg, flour. Directions, beat the eggs thoroughly, then add sugar and butter and beat till smooth; dissolve the saleratus in a little warm water and put in the cream and make the cake quite thin with flour to prevent the fruit from settling to the bottom. Do not chop the raisins, but cut them in halves and remove the seeds; else use seedless raisins. Then scald a few moments to soften, drain and flour (dredge); then before putting into the cake cut the citron in thin slices, and as you fill in a layer of cake put the citron over evenly, then more of the cake mixture and another layer of the citron and so on until the citron is evenly divided through the whole.

Frightened by Meteor's Fall.

The flash of a ten-ton meteor, its tail seemingly hundreds of yards long, lightened up the Alleghany Valley for three miles, the other day, just above Pittsburgh, as it fell. CATARRHAL COUGH

Is Caused by Catarrh of the Throat and Bronchial Tubes.

Some coughs are produced by a grave organic disease of the lungs. Other coughs are produced by heart disease. An irritable stomach will produce a cough. Stomach coughs are more common than is generally supposed.

Catarrh will also produce a cough. Catarrh of the bronchial tubes. Catarrh of the larynx. Catarrh of the pharynx.

In a catarrhal cough the amount of expectoration is limited. It is not so easy to raise as in cases of organic diseases of the lungs. It may be frothy or stringy mucus, difficult to expectorate. People will go on for months with this sort of a cough and give it no attention.

Ordinary cough medicines that are intended to lull the sensitive nerves that are irritated by the catarrh will do no good. In fact, they do harm.

What is needed is Peruna, which strikes at once at the cause of such a cough. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. As soon as the catarrh is removed from the throat and bronchial tubes the cough disappears.

Usually the directions on the bottle are sufficient. In some cases where the cough is very continuous and annoying a tablespoonful every hour is a better way to take it. But a multitude of people who are suffering with this sort of cough and yet going about their usual business need only take the Peruna according to the directions on the bottle.

WAS WITHIN PALE OF LAW

Unfeeling Father Buried Child as One Might a Dog, but He Could Not Be Punished.

Can a man be punished for failing to provide a Christian burial for his deceased infant child? In the recent case of Seaton vs. commonwealth, 149 Southwestern Reporter, 871, defendant was convicted on such a charge, and appeals to the court of appeals of Kentucky, the docket states. A child of the defendant having died, he set about to bury it. Taking some piece of rough board, he made a rude box to serve as a coffin. Although he had good lumber out of which he could have made a better and more presentable box, he said that he did not propose using his good lumber for this purpose. This box was taken to a point in the woods lot and a grave dug by two neighbors about two feet deep. Defendant brought the corpse from the house in a small paper box to where the grave was being dug, placed it upon the ground and assisted in digging the grave. When completed, the paper box with the corpse was placed in the wooden box and lowered. The grave was then filled to a level with the surrounding ground, defendant assisting by tramping the dirt as it was being put back into the grave.

No services of any kind were heard at the grave. Do these facts constitute a crime? The court holds that it was the right of the defendant to select the place where his child should be buried, and he violated no law or duty in selecting a spot in the woods rather than in a cemetery. There is no rule of law defining how a corpse shall be dressed for burial, or the character of coffin or casket in which it should be incased, or the material out of which the box in which the coffin is to be placed shall be made, nor the depth of the grave; nor is it an offense not to notify relatives and friends so that they may be present at the interment, for they have no legal right to be present. There is no law imposing upon those having in charge the burial of the dead any duty to have the interment accompanied with religious ceremony. The court concludes with the following: "It was no doubt the extremely miserly and niggardly disposition manifested by appellant that aroused the indignation of his neighbors, causing the indictment, and ultimately induced the jury to assess the fine against him which it did. While, by the facts in the record, appellant is shown to be a man utterly lacked in parental instinct, he has kept himself within the pale of the law. At the conclusion of the evidence the trial judge should have directed a verdict in his favor."

Public Men and Sleep.

The declaration of Doctor Foertmeyer of Cincinnati, that seven hours of sleep are enough for any man, and that the fellow who indulges himself in the arms of Morpheus for a longer period every night is in danger of injuring himself, comes so closely upon the heels of President Wilson's flat that he must have nine hours that it is certain to start a controversy almost to end nowhere, for if there is one thing in which every man is a law unto himself, it is in the matter of sleep.

Ex-President Taft, normal man in every respect, enjoys as much sleep as President Wilson needs. Apparently there is no reason why President Wilson should not sleep as long as he likes, for Mr. Taft does. He retires at midnight usually, and arises only in time for a nine o'clock breakfast; so it will be seen that the routine of a president's day is not incompatible with feather bed indulgence. McKinley was a light sleeper, being a night owl and an early riser, while Grover Cleveland dearly loved to sit up until a late hour with a few cronies, evidently being of the opinion, as the poet has it, that the best way to lengthen one's days is to steal a few hours from the night.

Bashful Youth Obeyed Orders.

He was a nervous and flustered young man as he entered the court to give evidence in an important case.

It was his first experience of publicity in any shape or form, and the amount of interest shown in his utterance—he who had never even addressed a meeting of the local debating society—went straight to his head. His replies, to say the least of it, were unintelligible.

"Speak up! Speak up!" called counsel irritably at last. "The lady shorthand writer cannot hear a single word of what you're saying. Kindly turn towards her and speak to her."

There was a moment's pause, while the young man blushed vividly. Then, to the amusement of the court, he rose from his chair, made a profound obeisance in the direction of the aforesaid mentioned young woman, and murmured bashfully:

"How d'you do?"

Chance for Inventors.

The preparation of nixtamal by hand is quite laborious, the Mexican women of the peon class spending a fair proportion of each day mashing the day's supply of nixtamal on a metate with a stone rolling pin after it has been prepared for this process by being boiled with lime. Nixtamal is the name of the corn itself after having been so treated; after grinding it is known as masa. As the tortillas and tamales made from masa prepared in the manner described form the staple diet of the Mexican people, a machine for the easy preparation of nixtamal ought to find a wide sale.

Spread Dread Plague.

In the days of King Charles II news traveled slowly in England and before the people of Cornwall knew about the terrible plague in London there came to Bodmin itinerant traders with pack mules laden with silk and satin growns, rich robes, plumed hats and expensive laces, which were offered for sale at ridiculous prices. The countryside rushed to purchase, and the merchants, having disposed of all their stock, departed. Then within a day or two the purchasers were attacked by a strange sickness, and died by scores. The gaudy clothes had been stripped from the bodies of those who had died of plague in London.

And so the kingly life is a life in quest of big things. Everyone is painfully familiar with the temptation to fritter away life in interests that are small and mean. HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed: many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, ½ drachm; Lavona de Composee', 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add a few drops of To-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary.

Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

Go to your druggist and ask for an eight ounce bottle containing six ounces of Bay Rum; also one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals, and a two-ounce bottle of Lavona de Composee'. Mix the ingredients yourself at your own home. Add the Menthol Crystals to the Bay Rum and then pour in the Lavona de Composee' and add the To-Kalon Perfume. Let it stand one-half hour and it is ready for use.

CARE AND USE OF CASSEROLE.

Excellent Servant of the Cook Must Have Proper Treatment, and This Advice Is Good.

Before using a casserole for the first time, it is well to temper it; this is best done by covering it with cold water. Then letting the water come to the boiling point, remove from the fire, and let the casserole remain in the water until it is cold.

Under no circumstances let the casserole be put on the stove without water or fat in it; if this is done the dish will crack.

Avoid sudden changes of temperature with the casserole; that is, do not take it from the hot stove or oven and place it in cold water or in a wet sink; this will prove disastrous to the dish.

Casserole cooking requires only moderate heat; if something is being cooked in the casserole at the same time that intense heat is required for something else, take the precaution of setting the casserole in a pan of water.

In cooking anything in a casserole it is well to allow twice the time for cooking that would be required were the stew or vegetables or fruit cooked in the ordinary way.

Lemonade Ginger Punch.

Five lemons, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of boiling water, ginger ale, fresh mint, cold water, one-half heaping teaspoonful of gelatin. Wash the lemons and slice them; then sprinkle over the sugar. Let stand for 30 minutes, and then add one quart of cold water. Dissolve the gelatine in the boiling water and add it to the lemon mixture. Pour the whole into a punch bowl and add the ginger ale, allowing one quart of ginger ale for each quart of the other liquid. Half an hour before serving add a few stems of fresh mint.

Banana Pie.

Line a deep plate with rich crust and bake a delicate brown. Filling: Take a scant cup of sugar in your sauce pan and cream into a generous teaspoon of butter (not melted), beat in the yolks of two eggs and two tablespoons flour, and a cup of boiling water and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Add a little vanilla after this cream is cool. Slice into the crust a layer of bananas alternated with a layer of cream. There should be two layers of each. Frost with the whites of two eggs, beaten stiff, with two teaspoons of sugar. Brown in oven. Serve cold.

Queen Victoria Detested Tobacco.

The number of smoking rooms now distributed over Windsor castle would considerably astonish Queen Victoria could she but see them. Her late majesty could never bring herself to do more than tolerate the weed in any form, and the smoking room was always relegated to a very distant part of her various residences. Nor were the guests permitted to solace themselves with a quiet smoke in their own apartments, as on their arrival they were specially warned not to do so.

Step to Your Own Drum.

Why should we be in such desperate haste to succeed, and in such desperate enterprises? If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away. It is not important that he should mature as soon as an apple tree or an oak. Shall he turn his spring into summer?—Thoreau.

Still, As Servants Go, Old.

Mrs. Heath sniffed audibly when her sister happened to mention, with considerable awe, a certain neighbor. "Daisy!" the married woman exclaimed. "Why Daisy should speak of her help as 'old family servants' I can't imagine!" "But why shouldn't she, if she wants to?" inquired the sister. "Because the one she's had longest is her cook, and so far, she's stayed six months!"—Youth's Companion.

Alas, Yes!

How Paris Helps Poor.

The fact that the receipts of Paris theaters have more than doubled in the last twenty years is a good thing for the Paris poor, since every buyer of a theater ticket in Paris has to pay a ten per cent tax for the poor, the total amount of which for the last year was $1,300,000.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.
