In the society page of the Salem Journal of December 8th a large photo appears of Miss Olga Gray, who played the role of "Ethel Granger-Simpson" in the "Man from Home" in the "Man from Home" given under the auspices of the Elks for the benefit of the Red Cross. Miss Gray is a former Independence lady and is a niece of A. D. Davidson of this city. We clip the following from the Journal:—"The beautiful young woman who picture accompanies this sketch is revelation number one. She is Miss Olga Gray, a recent high school graduate, and one of the biggest "finds" the Elks play committee has made for a long time. Miss Gray will play the ingenue lead, Ethel Granger-Simpson in "The Man from Home." This is the part originally played by Olive Windham, and like played by Miss Windham, it will be Miss Grays' first big part in a big production. The similarity between the now-famous star and the Elks leading lady goes much further than that. Miss Gray looks like Miss Windham, talks like her, and acts like her, and if James Mott, the Elks director, doesn't miss his guess very, very far, the similarity will be carried further still, and Alga Gray will wake up next Thursday morning to find herself a very Venus among the stars who have already established their records in former Elks plays."

A pretty wedding of last week was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stenson, 1460 Van Buren street when their daughter, Miss Maude Stenson, plighted her troth with Lieutenant Ivan H. Loughary of Monmouth. Rev. M. Howard Fagan, of the Christian church read the ring ceremony before an embankment of palms and white chrysanthemums in the living room, back of which was draped a large American flag. Similar blossoms were arranged in the home. Miss Fanny Stenson played Lohengrin's wedding march. The bride was attractively gowned in a dainty gown of champagne tone and carried a shower arrangement of bride's roses and bovardia. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. C. C. Jacoby, of Mabel, as matron of honor, who wore a charming frock of taupe gray silk and carried pink roses. Mr. Jacoby acted as best man. Thirty-five relatives and close friends were present at the ceremony and the luncheon which followed: The bride has been employed for four years in the exchange office at O. A. C. and is an interesting girl with numerous acquaintances and friends. Mr. Loughary is a 1917 graduate of O. A. C., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loughary of Monmouth, and at the last training camp at the Presidio at San Francisco received a commission as second lieutenant. Lieutenant Loughary has been ordered to report at San Antonio Texas and he and Mrs. Loughary left Corvallis for that point. Mrs. Loughary expects to remain with her husband there for a time. Lieutenant Loughary has a wide circle of friends in Independence.
