happy this week that Dr. Killlem has to keep a rock on his head to hold him from jumping out of his boots. The cause of all this is that he got rid of two postage stamps Wednesday which will be delivered by boat to Horseweed Falls, the postmaster at that place having run out of stamps lately and being short on cash could not put in a new supply. He has promised our postmaster that he will return his stamps as soon as times get better over there. Our people are all ruffed up about this transaction as it proves that Pumpkin Hill is on the map. The postmaster wants us to mention that he has 11 more stamps to loan out and hopes that neighboring towns will take advantage of this offer.
