Mrs. Nellie Ward, of Seattle, Wash who has been making her mother, Mrs. Lydia Wilson a week or ten days visit, left today for her home. Attorney Fletcher is "cripping about" these mornings with a game foot, but says he is good for a hundred yards in a foot race with any one. Mrs. John Turner is spending a few days at Newport this week. She has lived here for nearly twenty years and this is her first visit to the coast. J. C. Kreamer and wife left Tuesday morning for Silverton and other places. Mr. Kreamer is looking up a location and may engage in business for himself. Clint Moore was seen pestinating about the streets of Portland the first of the week. He says he went to escort O. A. Kreamer about and show him the sights. Mrs. George Carbray and Miss Lizzie Sullivan returned home Wednesday after two weeks most delightfully spent at Vancouver, B. C. and Seattle with friends and relatives. Abe Henry, wife and two sons, are spending a week at the seashore city of Newport. Mrs. Henry has never saw the ocean waves and the sight of the mighty deep will be enjoyed by her. John Turner and wife, Sherman Bowman and wife of Lenox, Iowa, who are house guests at the Turner home, and Carmon Henry were Amity visitors Sunday, going in Mr. Henry's car. D. Ackerman was thrown against a telephone pole from his motorcycle Sunday evening in North Independence and may lose one of his fingers as a result, as one was badly torn which required several stitches to hold it in its proper position. Ralph Cooley, one of the buyers of the Salem Woolen Mills Store, left Sunday for Chicago, New York and other eastern cities and clothing markets. He probably will remain in the market the remainder of the year purchasing goods for the firm and his going assures the many patrons of this store a full supply of all kinds of men and boys clothing and furnishing goods of the very latest models and the newest designs of fabrics. It is very evident that owing to present conditions, there is not an oversupply of clothing available for the coming season; but full arrangements for supplying this store are provided for.
