CHAUTAQUA IS WORTH WHILE

Much interest is being manifested in the Chautauqua which will be held in Independence the last five days of this month. Through this means high-class entertainments are given at a very nominal cost.

These Chautauquas are worth while. The program this year is exceptionally good in the opinion of people who are competent to judge.

Reports of price cutting on wearing apparel are sweeping the country. These reductions are ranging from 20 to 50 percent and are without any apparent cause other than a feverish anxiety on the part of merchants to unload their stocks.

the situation by the manufacturers who do not propose to see any convulsions started if it is possible to avoid them.

The decision of Judge Skipworth in the Douglas county circuit court that the "highway commission has no right to abandon routes designated by the legislature" is likewise the contention of Independence.

Polk County Observer:—"The name of Z. C. Kimball appeared at the head of the editorial page of the last issue of the Independence Enterprise. It was made evident by the initial issue under his management that Mr. Kimball knows the business and that he will give Independence a newspaper that will be of real benefit to the town.

HOLD AND STRENGTHEN THE LINE

Hold and strengthen the line! The quick demobilization of the grand army that fought the good fight and kept the faith for America in the World War was an eloquent demonstration of the nation's love of peace.

Every man who wore the American uniform should be enrolled in The American Legion. The business of war is done; the obligations of American citizenship continue and are unending.

The stronger The American Legion, the more zealous its membership in teaching by precept and example the spirit of the Americanism of Washington and Lincoln, the greater the power of the nation itself to combat perils and stand four-square to all the world.

Many devices are constantly discussed looking to the elevation of the tone of American citizenship and the more perfect nationalization of America. No agency could with greater propriety undertake this work than The Legion.

The Legion is performing a great public service in strengthening America's lines of defense in times of peace. The realization of its program calls for the earnest participation of all those who touched elbows in camp and on the battle-line; the splendid youth who served America because they loved America.
