

How Many Miles From a Cord Tire?

Men are everywhere telling remarkable tales about mileage from Miller Cords.

But remember that mileage varies with conditions. Size and load, road and care affect it.

One man who has sold and watched many thousand Miller Tires says this:

"I find that Millers excel other tires in service from 50 per cent to 75 per cent."

The Hpdson Taxi Co. of Detroit reports a 15,000-mile average on rather heavy taxis.

The Eldorado Stage Co. of Los Angeles, after long comparisons of 22 makes, say that Millers excel all.

Miller factory tests, which are severe, last year showed a rear-wheel average of 15,000 miles on Cords. They proved that Millers, with rare exceptions, outwore every tire compared.

They proved the new Miller tread the best of all treads by 25 per cent.

Test one for yourself. It will give you new ideas about tire mileage. It will, in all probability, break all records on your car.

Miller experts in ten years have done much to serve you. For your own sake, learn what they have done.

USED BY ANCIENT PHYSICIAN

Graeco-Roman Medical and Surgical Instruments of Bronze Now in Johns Hopkins University.

William H. Buckler, who served on the staff of the American embassy in London during the war, has presented to the Archeologist museum of Johns Hopkins university, of which he was a former trustee, a set of ancient Graeco-Roman medical and surgical instruments found two years ago near Kolophon, in Asia Minor.

The collection was on exhibition in London and was formerly in the possession of the late Alfred O. Van Lennep, Dutch vice consul in Smyrna, who owned a large estate near Kolophon and was well acquainted with the excavations and discoveries in that vicinity.

The instruments, 30 in number, are all of bronze, with but one exception. They were probably the property of some Roman physician living in Asia Minor in the first or second century A. D., and the fact that they were all found in one place is doubtless explained, in the opinion of experts, by the ancient custom of burying a person's worldly possessions with him.

The set includes surgical knives and elevators, forceps, tenacula (sharp hooks), a unique drill bow, for use in injuries and diseases of the skull, scoops, probes and a cautery.

The drill bow is, from the point of view of the archeologist, perhaps the most interesting object. It is like a tool used by carpenters.

SHEPHERD BECAME A PRINCE

Emir Feisal of Arabia Seemed an Altogether Negligible Object in His Early Life.

Emir Feisal of Arabia began life as a dirty little shepherd boy. His mother was an Arabian girl of Mecca and a cousin of his father. When Feisal was still a baby Sherif Hussein sent him into the desert to live with a Bedu tribe, because it is considered more wholesome for a boy to grow up in the open desert country than in a city or village. In Constantinople Feisal contracted consumption, writes Lowell Thomas in Asia, but when the desert has taken it out of him, although he is still very thin and has a waist only 21 inches in circumference. He smokes cigarettes day and night and eats sparingly. About the tribe he is celebrated as an animal. His shot and a good horseman and a better rider. Feisal is distinguished and thoughtfully modern in his views. The people follow him, not through fear, but because they love him. He is much too kind and liberal-minded to rule as an oriental despot of the old school and he may be depended upon to usher in an entirely new order of things for his people.

Wouldn't Wash.

Chatting with Sir Ernest Shackleton, the famous antarctic explorer, he told me that one of the best stories he has heard concerns a famous artist.

He was showing a lady visiting over his studio one day and produced a charming little landscape painting that there was a story behind it. "I was out to the forest," he explained. "I had all my materials with me except an empty canvas. I came upon a subject that enthralled me, and felt I must record it. I was determined not to be felled, so I took out my handkerchief, stretched it across my case, and painted on that."

The lady looked at the landscape and then turned a shocked face to the artist. "You'll never be able to wash that paint out," she said.—London Tit-Bits.

Encourage the Swallow.

If you want to free the neighborhood of mosquitoes encourage swallows to make themselves at home, says the American Forestry association of Washington. These birds feed almost entirely upon obnoxious insects and they will do much toward protecting orchards and other trees from insect pests. No better investment can be made, therefore, than some houses set out for martins and other swallows. Of the blue swallows the purple martin is the largest, the male being entirely blue above and below, while the female is blue above with a gray breast. Swallows are highly migratory, most of them spending the winter in South America.

Scientific Triumph.

Students of the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh placed a radio transmitter in Central hall to send out the music of an orchestra playing in the hall to scores of radio students in the district listening in. Professor Rath, hearing the music in the experiment station of the university, half a mile away, succeeded by the use of a megaphone—an instrument to increase the sound from a radio receiver—and two strings of electric wires, in passing it on a half-mile to the Heaz house, where students danced to it.

The Press Agent's Work.

The old-time press agent is now known as a "publicity expert" and his business has greatly developed in recent years. Outside of the regular theatrical press agents, every American city has a small army of men who find lucrative employment in giving publicity to financial and industrial enterprises, philanthropic and educational institutions, hotels and restaurants, and a wide variety of other things that depend for their success upon the patronage of the public.
