COX GETS NOMINATION

James Middleton Cox of Ohio is the democratic nominee for president. It required 44 ballots to decide the question, with McAdoo and Palmer the closest contenders.

Cross-pulling characterized the convention, with the administration back of McAdoo; Bryan insisting upon a dry candidate and Cox favored by the wets.

Like Harding, the republican nominee, Cox is an Ohio newspaper man and has occupied a prominent part in Ohio public affairs for many years.

Summarized, his record shows a busy life. Born on an Ohio farm in 1870. His early training was in the public schools, then a printer's devil, a school teacher, private secretary, reporter and finally the owner of two newspapers.

His political career started in 1909, when he was elected congressman from the third Ohio district and served two terms. In 1913 he was elected governor of Ohio on a record plurality of 166,823; was defeated for re-election, but in 1916 was again placed in the governor's chair.

Cox has always been strong in the Ohio political field. He is not regarded as a progressive of the Wilson type, although he has been responsible for considerable desirable legislation in his home state.

It is rather a unique situation to have both the democratic and republican nominees from Ohio and both newspaper publishers. It is probable that the selection of Harding by the republicans was a factor in making Cox the democratic standard bearer.

Talk of a third party is becoming quite incessant, and it is possible that some one will be nominated who is regarded as more progressive than either Cox or Harding. However, such a candidate would have little chance of winning.

All indications point to a lively campaign. Cox will have the support of old time democracy with the possible exception of Bryan and some of the radical dry men but in order to win he must capture many voters who profess the republican belief. He will get some wet voters outside of his party and will lose some of the radical dry within his party.

Mrs. John Kirkland of Albany and her sister, Mrs. Fay Allison, of Cottage Grove were motoring through town Thursday and stopped a few hours with Mrs. Helen Kirkland.

Buena Vista

Ernest Moe of McMinnville was a week end visitor with home folks. He was accompanied home by his sisters, Misses Thelma and Alice Moe who will spend some time in the Walnut city while the latter will be under the doctor's care.

Miss Ruth Prather went to Suver Wednesday where she joined the Gohat family who left the next morning for Seaside to visit relatives and friends over the Fourth.

G. E. Harmon and wife transacted business in Salem Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Murphy and Mabel and Howard Murphy left Thursday for a several days' motor trip which will include Portland, Seaside and Astoria, returning home Monday.

Miss Lela McCann was an over Sunday visitor in Harrisburg and Eugene with friends and relatives.

A lawn party was held at the pretty country home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wells Saturday night, and later was turned into a 4th of July celebration. Ice cream and cake was served in the fore part of the evening and later a huge bonfire was built and marshmallows and weinies were roasted. A goodly number responded to the invitation and all report a royal good time.

J. R. Loy, who is a stockholder and also a member of the Monmouth Consolidated creamery, attended a meeting in that city Saturday night.

H. E. Prather and family, R. E. Prather and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Black, Mrs. J. R. Loy, Gilbert, Leslie and Clarence Loy, Arthur Black, Leland and Merlin Prather formed a party who took in the excursion to Newport from Corvallis Sunday, returning Monday night.

Dr. Butler of Independence was called to see Mrs. E. J. Anderson who has been quite ill with rheumatism. She is now slowly improving.

W. R. Beyens and wife of Portland are here among relatives and friends. "Billy" was formerly in business here and his many friends are always glad to see him back.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Holcomb, who came here from Athena, Kansas, several weeks ago, have bought a farm of 90 acres and moved to their new home near Albany Monday.

A contract was let for new telephone poles to Mr. Romenger at 40 cents per pole. A new line will be built and new members taken on.

John Knighton and family of Portland visited over Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Henry Knighton.

Return From Cascadia

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Craven returned Monday from a month's outing at Cascadia where they had a very enjoyable time. That they found the fishing good is evidenced by the generous sample with which they remembered friends on returning.—Monmouth Herald.

Mrs. Oliver Smith is improving in the Portland hospital where she has been confined for several weeks, according to word brought here by Mr. Smith Thursday. It is expected that she will be able to leave the hospital in another week.

DAYS OF CHIVALRY ARE GONE

This Hustling Age Seems to Have Little Time for the Merest Elementary Courtesy.

It was the hottest and most uncomfortable day of the summer and the car was even more crowded than usual, says the Indianapolis News. Two young women who had done their full share of work for eight long hours, managed to squeeze into the car with the rest of the passengers. Of course all the seats were taken. Even a suggestion that some one offer the girls a seat was far from their minds. They stood in the aisle, as good-naturedly as they had done nearly every day in months past. One can imagine their surprise when an elderly man rose to proffer one of the girls a seat.

"Take my seat, lady," he said, "you look lots more tired than I."

Gratefully, one of the girls started for the seat. A tall broad-shouldered man was just ahead of her.

"Now, yuh don't," he snarled, "I guess I'm nearer the seat than you are," and he started to sit down.

"Well, I guess if you are going to take the seat I may as well keep it until I am ready to get off," the first man said, and with that he sat down again.

Two blocks later he got off the car, the tall broad-shouldered man rushed to the seat, and the young woman held on to the straps.

More Than Her Mouth.

Although the groundhogs at the "Zoo" did their best to keep the spring day away from that fine park and playground for the people, time will bring spring within a few weeks now, at the worst. Time has a way of making things move.

Although crowds at the National Zoological park have fallen off materially during these cold winter Sundays, nevertheless many visit the park every Sunday. Much attention is given the animals kept indoors, naturally.

Thus the mother hippopotamus has her admirers. Recently two small boys, that good sort that shy rocks at cats and sparrows, were standing in front of the hippopotamus cage, watching Mrs. Hippo eat hay.

"Look at 'er open 'er mouth!" said one boy, lost in admiration.

"Mouth nothin'!" exclaimed the other, "That ain't 'er mouth—it's 'er whole head she's openin'!"—Washington Star.

every department, from the Sunday school on up to the money in the treasury department. At the regular quarterly business meeting of the church the treasury reported the church free from debt and money in the treasury for the first time in its history. God has blessed the work in every department. An organ has been purchased for the primary department. The Young Peoples' society hopes to give a social or hay-rack party next Thursday. Come out to the meetings Sunday night at 7 p. m. and hear the definite announcements. The Sunday school will hold its regular meeting at 10 a. m. Sunday morning at the hour of 11 Rev. Here's Service For You

Gilroy, California, May 13, 1920
Chevrolet Motor Company,
Oakland, Calif.

Dear Sirs:

In reply to your favor of the 12th: Several years ago we purchased through Mr. R. M. Thomas of this city a "Chevrolet Four-Ninety" Roadster and at the same time purchased an interchangeable light delivery body and have used it as a delivery car ever since; giving it the hardest kind of usage, with all kinds of drivers and we frankly confess that the service we have had has been marvelous. At times we have carried loads up to a ton in weight.

In spite of this and other abuses our repair bill has been extremely small and the car has been very economical in the way of tires, gasoline and oil.

We were so well pleased with the service we had on this little car that we have recently purchased through the same source one of your 1 Ton Trucks, although the little delivery car is still in daily use.

We congratulate you on the manufacture of what we consider the most serviceable and reliable car on the market, cost considered.

Truly,
GROW'S NURSERIES.
