NO LONGER SIMPLE PROBLEM

Matter of Food, in These Days of Statistics, Has Become Question of Calculation.

Once upon a time this problem of food was a very simple matter. Three times a day, as a rule, the attention of man was drawn to a hollow feeling located due east of the lower end of the vertebral column. This vacancy he proceeded to fill with a slab of bread, a chunk of beef, a pot of rice, etc., flavored as a rule with butter, jam, garlic, etc., according to race, religion, climate, age, etc. This settled the problem till the next call from the far East.

It pains us to say that this was living to eat and not eating to live. It showed no adjustment of means to end. It was a system of food that made no distinction between a longshoreman and a free-verse poet. It was internal anarchy.

Happily the truth has been realized. The consumption of food is no longer destructive but constructive. Man no longer eats corned beef and cabbage, but the vitamins in the beef and the polyzeugments in the cabbage. When he picks up the bill of fare he no longer says, "What will most speedily and cheaply allay the unrest in my far East?" but he says, "Where can I find the 12,500 carbonates that will give me the right outlook on the League of Nations?" And he finds it in unpolished rice. Or he says to himself, "I am now at work on the fourth act of my poetic drama; to make it convincing to Belasco I must absorb 3,200 per-manganazoids daily for the next 30 days." So he shaves the kernels off the corn and eats the cob. Perhaps with coconut butter, for the added colloidal saxophonians.

This very midnight in our great city a couple of army corps of teething infants will be lulled to rest with 23,175 pneumodactylines warmed up in a bottle.—New York Evening Post.

HAD IT ALL PLANNED OUT

Colored Soldier Knew Exactly What He Was Going to Do With All Those Black Clothes.

Here is a story of two negro soldiers, who were talking just after the signing of the armistice:

"Rastus," said one, "what you gwine do when you-all gets home?" "What am I gwine do? Wal, in the fust place, nigger, I's gwine buy me a white suit o' clo'es, 'n white shoes, 'n a white shirt, collar 'n tie, 'n a white hat. I's gwine be white all over, nigger, an' den I's give up you nigger folks 'n allus do my 'sociating wid white folks."

"The boy paused, then asked: 'What you-all gwine do, Jake?' 'Wal,' says Jake, 'I's gwine buy me a black suit, 'n black shoes, 'n a black shirt, 'n a black tie, 'n a black hat. I's gwine be black all over. Den, when dat's done, I's gwine buy me a big piece of black crape and fasten it round my Rastus hat.'

"'Man,' says Rastus, 'what you-all mean by all dem black clo'es and by dat black crape? What for you gwine wear dat black crape?' " 'Nigger,' says Jake, 'I's gwine wear dat black crape to your funeral.'—Wendell D. Howie in the Boston Transcript.

A Leech.

A man on the South side advertised his car for sale. Early the next morning a man who lived across the street came over and said: "Pardon me, but I see by last night's paper you advertised your car for sale."

"Quite true," said the man who advertised the car, "but surely you are not in the market for it."

"No," was the reply, "but I only live across the street and I also want to sell my car. And there would be no need of me spending my money for an advertisement if after the people were through looking at your car you could just send them across the street to look at my car."—Indianapolis News.

The Scrap.

Representative Frear interrupted the reading of a report to say:

"Official language is always rather ludicrous. Once two scrubwomen in government employ had an argument, as a result of which the weaker vessel was laid up for some days.

"An official inquiry was duly held, and the victorious scrubwoman received a letter which said, among other things:

"'Is it true, as reported, that said Mrs. Hagun received certain ocular and nasal contusions at your hands?'"

"The scrubwoman in official language wrote back:

"'I regret to say that the answer is in the infirmary.'"

'At a Boy!

At the speedway races a tire company gave away toy balloons as advertisements. A lad about four years old came up to the man on the job and said: "Please may I have two balloons?"

The man replied: "Sorry, my little lad, but only one balloon to a boy. Have you any brothers at home?" After a minute of deep thinking the lad gave this answer: "No, I have no brothers, but I have a sister who has a brother."—Indianapolis News.

Law and the Profits.

"How did you come to be a profiteer?"

"It was all because of the law of the supply and demand," whimpered the culprit. "I was trying to get a sufficient supply of money to meet the demand for it."

BETTER LIVE STOCK IN OREGON IS IN SIGHT

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis—Pure bred stock placed with boys and girls of Oregon in club work is expected to do much toward building up the pure bred stock industry in Oregon, by the state leaders of club work. The young people, it is said, are interesting the grown-ups in paying more attention to quality of stock.

L. J. Allen, assistant state club leader, announces that live stock placed with the boys and girls include 84 dairy calves valued at $14,795; 50 beef calves, $12,280; 54 brood sows, $4,120; 141 weaning pigs to be grown for meat purposes, $1,180; and 87 pure bred pigs, weaning age $1,760.

The price paid for the stock was small enough to make it possible for the young people to make a profit. The club leaders have put special stress on the fact that not only should an animal be pure bred, but of a good strain.

O. A. C. SET NEW PACE IN EGG LAYING

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis—A new long distance egg laying record has been established by an O. A. C. pen of five barred Plymouth rocks, in the egg laying contest at the Western Washington Experiment station.

"For the full period a pen of O. A. C. Barred Plymouth rocks led all other entries with 940 eggs, the second pen being white leghorns owned by D. Tancred of Kent, Wash., with 912 eggs," reads a report issued by the department of poultry husbandry at the college.

The O. A. C. pen, which has been first for several months, has averaged 188 eggs a hen for the eight months. This record, it is believed, has never been equalled anywhere at any egg laying contest for a like period. The best hen in the pen has laid 208 eggs. The contest continues for four months longer. The "Oregons" which won the first place in June are now sixth for the full period of eight months and going strong.

The pen of college "Oregons" which led the contest for the month of June made a record for the five hens in the pen of 128 eggs. The Oregons are also good long distance layers. This pen is expected to advance steadily in the contest as the months go by. The Oregons were introduced by Prof. James Dryden, head of the department of poultry husbandry.
