Hopville Notes

We are observing "Prune Week" at our school. Each day we have a new recipe of some prune dish.

Last week we thought we might lose some school on account of the high water, but the water soon began to fall.

Friday, the 18th is the date set for the next Parent-Teachers' meeting. The mothers will serve a delicious luncheon in keeping with prune week.

The school celebrated Abraham Lincoln's birthday last Friday. Both rooms had the same program. Two of the seventh grade girls gave sketches of his life and Miss Watzling read "A Perfect Tribute," which was enjoyed by all.

As Monday was St. Valentine's day we had a valentine box. The little room came into the big room and the valentines were distributed to the boys and girls. In the afternoon the "little room," had a valentine party. They had made little heart shaped baskets, which were filled with home-made candy. They ate the candy while Miss Watzling told them stories about St. Valentine's day.

Last Monday morning the teachers of Hopville had the misfortune to get stuck in the mud on the way to school. When they arrived at the schoolhouse everything was quiet. On entering the building they found that the president of the student body, Wade Carter, had called the school to order. He took charge of the big room and one of the older girls took charge of the little room. The teachers were delighted to find that the pupils were so thoughtful.

POULTRY MEETING AT MONMOUTH, FEBRUARY 25

—Mrs. Lottie H. McIntosh, teacher of voice and piano, has received a certificate from the state superintendent of public instruction, which qualifies her to grant credits to high school students who desire to study music outside of their regular school work. She is also a member of the Oregon state teachers' association.

Oregon Normal

The new heating plant was fired up for the first time last week and works very satisfactorily.

Friday evening at seven-thirty the Delphians will give their regular literary program. The entertainment is planned around St. Valentine's day as a motif. The public is welcome to this program.

Miss Mabel West and Edna Mings attended the monthly luncheon and meeting of the Association of Collegiate Alumni—an organization of which they are members—in Portland on February 5th.

The Normal was pleased to entertain on last Friday afternoon and evening Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. Mosier, and little Louis Bean. These ladies are wives of members of the legislature now in session in Salem.

The winner of the preliminary contest held at the Normal last week was Miss Jennie Carroll, who spoke on "The Stranger Within Our Gates." Miss Carroll will represent the Normal in the State Oratorical Contest to be held in Eugene early in March.

Miss West gave an excellent talk at the chapel hour on Wednesday. She spoke on cultural reading, calling attention to many recent books on various subjects, books which every well-informed reader should know and enjoy.

The Normal men's basketball team played Philomath last Saturday evening. The game must have been exciting as the score was 28 to 33 in favor of Philomath. The Normalites are good losers, however, and promise to reverse the score when a return game is played in Monmouth.

Next week is National Week of Song, and the Oregon normal school will endorse this nation-wide movement by singing each morning in the chapel the good old songs which reflect the great heart of the people. "Ben Bolt," "Robin Adair," "Music in the Air," "Minstrel Boy," "All Thru the Night," "How Can I Leave Thee," are a few of the many songs to be enjoyed.

The cast of the play, "Green Stockings," to be given by the Juniors in March has been selected as follows: the Misses Anna Ulen, Eleanor Wells, Leone Barger, Ruth-Anne Hoffman, Fannie Steinberge, and Messrs. Mark Conklin, Joe Stover, Chester L. Ward, Glen D. Turner, W. L. Van Loan, W. J. Mulkey, and A. W. Johnson.

"The Penalty," one of the big pictures of the year, is scheduled to be shown in the chapel on Saturday evening, February 19. The story is one of tremendous power, forcefully showing how good impulses finally overcome and took the place of hatred and revenge. Of course this sort of play requires skillful presentation and the actors are said to be fully equal to their tasks.

A motion picture showing "How Magazines and Books are Made" was shown at the chapel hour Monday to the children from the training school as well as the normal students. This film was used to illustrate some work being done in the classes in Library methods and some model lessons on the use of the library being worked out in the training school. The picture was secured from the free collection of films loaned by the University of Oregon.

Mr. Albert Loughridge of Salem will speak at the chapel hour Friday morning, February 18. Mr. Loughridge is a distinguished veteran of the Civil War; a man who was identified for many years with the educational history of Iowa, being a teacher in the State Normal, and directing the first summer school ever held in that state. He has led an active, varied life and assuredly has a message of worth for his hearers. The townspeople are invited to come to this chapel exercise.

The choral work chosen for the annual concert of the Oregon Normal School music forces was one of the most ambitious ever attempted here. Deems Taylor's cantata "The Highwayman" was the offering this season. It is an interesting fact that the young American composer wrote this especially for the fifth festival of the MacDowell Memorial association held at Peterboro, New Hampshire, in August, 1914. Miss Schuette, the head of the Music department, had, for its intelligent appreciation, a lecture-recital in the Monday morning chapel period. With the admirable support of John Claire Monteith, dramatic baritone of Portland, and Mrs. Rychard, the reader of Alfred Noyes' poem, the Oregon Normal Glee Club gave an unusually satisfactory interpretation of the cantata.

inson that the result of the election became a little later in the evening reports from Dalles apparent that Robinson had a walkaway and subsequent confirmation upon the completion of the Independence precincts.

There was general rejoicing over the result and venturesome ones went to Monmouth and Prof. Gilmore—he of the load of gravel notori-

McDonald, Madsen and Spitzbart sang pleasingly the three-part song "Dreamy Town" by Clifford Chambers.

Mr. Monteith himself sang a well-balanced program in addition to the solo work in "The Highwayman." He is a favorite with Monmouth audiences and the rich smooth beauty of his tones and his charming delivery during the evening brought him much applause. His accompanist was Miss Ida May Cooke.

The school orchestra played as if inspired and have never this year shown to better advantage. Miss Zelma Sauvain, Cecil Hughes, Gertrude Rogers, Helen Cornelius, Mary Cole, Mildred Scott, Dorothy Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Lee and Donald-Skeen were chosen to give the orchestral numbers. Very commendable was the work of the school accompanist,

His Mission
An Irishman made country jail and asked to see the governor.

On being ushered into the governor's presence he favored an interview of a man who was to suffer penalty of the law in the morning.

"No, my man," said the governor, "you cannot see the man who is to be executed in half an hour unless you are not a prisoner on the day of what might be your death."

"Shure, sor," answered the man, "I will be his birthday, and I will be his manny happy."

"Its not work itself like work, that is tired," is a wise remark of Madame Montessori by dice's "The New Child" or believes that the Mod. od is not only an educational but a philosophy of life.
