thronged with friends, who were appointed for the event. glad of this opportunity to meet the of the names were suggested. For for the same, instance, the ladies were a bit shocked to remove his hat, but when the name ments. Manhattan was suggested the apparent oversight was explained, and Prof. Byers, immaculate in appearance, but minus a necktie caused considerable agitation among his students, the pupils. One pleasing feature was Burgle and Mrs. H. M. Witherow were morning at 11 and evening at 7:30. until some one remembered Noti, and so on there were dozers of places represented and an hour or more was passed solving them.

The "observation" questions caused no end of fun, the question as to whether our Mayor wore glasses, being a poser, till correctly answered by one of the young ladies, no one seemed to be sure what member of the board were glasses and no one but Van Ness Johnson was at all certain as to the number of churches in the town, and there wasn't a soul in the room could tell the color of Dinty Moore's hair. The pleasant evening was closed by the serving of lunch by those having the entertainment in charge.

When the members of the Tatting club met with Mrs. C. W. Henkle Monday afternoon they found a pleasant surprise in store for them. Instead of the usual sewing and reading Mrs. Henkle took her guests for a long ride. The route chosen was to Albany on the west side with a short stop in that city's beautiful park, then on the newly paved highway to Salem. In this city the party stopped for refreshments, then to Independence.

The paved route between Albany and Salem is a most scenic one, the road winding as it does thro' the hills with long sweeping curves and gentle grades, then out into the open country past fine farm houses and well kept prosperous looking farms, makes a trip long to be remembered, and the ladies were unanimous in the opinion that Mrs. Henkle had planned and carried out a delightful after ing Mrs. Henkle's hospitality were: Mesdames Hibbs, Drexler, Walker, Mattison, Thomas, Robinson and ance

At the Baptist church last Friday evening was held one of those "Baptist Mixers," for which these people are becoming famous. At 6:30 tables were spread in the basement and those present enjoyed a dinner of everything from chicken to pumpkin pie with whipped cream. Then followed a musical program in the church, one of the numbers being a selection by the newly organized church choir. At the annual business meeting which followed, Mr. Proppe was called as pastor of the church for an indefinite period. The new church year promises to be a most prosperous one.

Mrs. Eliza Ewing, whose birthday occurred last Monday had decided to give herself a birthday party and had invited Mr. and Mrs. Orr and Mr. and Mrs. Stalling to help her celebrate the occasion. But Mrs. Ewing's friends had other plans for the day and shortly before noon several ladies arrived at the Ewing home bearing well filled baskets and announced that they had come to dirner. It was a short matter to extend the dining table and Mrs. Ewing's fried ehicken and "fixins" added to the contents of the baskets made a feast most thoroughly enjoyed by the merry party seated about the table. Guests of the day were: Mr. and Mrs. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Stalling, Mesdames E. B. Smith, Stansberry, Wellington and McHenry Smith.

To compliment Mrs. Edna Byers, whose birthday occurred recently, several of the Methodist ladies planned and carried out a pleasant surprise for her in the church parlors. The large room was made most attractive with autumn leaves and huge clusters of deen red dahlias. At the close of a pleasant aftermoon passed will gowing and conversation the 25 ladies were seated at long prettily decorated tables, where a delicious lunch was served. Ladies having the
