NEWS EVENTS AT OREGON NORMAL

The editor-in-chief and his staff are hard at work on the material for the "Norm" which goes to press this week. It is planned to sell the book much earlier this year than ever before, and thus give every student a better opportunity to secure one.

The pupils of the Monmouth training school and those of the high school were guests of the Normal last Thursday morning at the chapel hour to see a motion picture made from Pilgrim's Progress. The film was secured from the collection owned by the University for rental at a small charge throughout the schools of the state.

President Landers spoke last Saturday at an institute in The Dalles in the morning, and in Dufur in the afternoon.

Following the custom established last year, the May Day festivities at the Normal will be combined with the old Junior day in one celebration known as Junior week-end, and May 5 and 6 have been selected as the dates this year. An entertainment will be given in the chapel Friday evening, May 5, by the Juniors and the May queen will be crowned and the various events and contests in her honor staged on the campus Saturday, May 6. The celebration will conclude with a dance sponsored by the Seniors in honor of the Juniors Saturday evening in the gymnasium.

Miss Laura Keen, a Junior, was elected May queen at an election held at the chapel hour Monday morning. The choice is a very popular one both with the faculty and students, and enthusiastic plans for the various events are under way.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoggard of the institution for the blind in North Carolina appeared at the chapel hour on Tuesday morning. Mr. Hoggard spoke of education for the blind and then played some selections on his flute.

A. C. Rutherford, a Baptist missionary from India, has been visiting the Normal this week.

The Delphians and Vespertines will give a joint program in the chapel Friday evening, April 7, at 7:30.

A dancing party supervised by the Juniors will be given in the gymnasium Saturday evening, April 8. Local friends on the social list are cordially invited to attend this party.

EVENTS OF INTEREST AT OAK POINT

L. L. Constance of Eugene spent a few days last week visiting at the home of his brother, H. C. Constance.

Howard Dean rode his bicycle from Salem to the Mitoma ranch to see the Williams family.

The Oak Point community service club will meet today. Mrs. C. L. Fitchard and Mrs. J. J. Williams are hostesses.

The Oak Point children had a general clean up yesterday morning at the school house.

Rev. Lewis of the Evangelic church of Monmouth conducted services at the Oak Point school house last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bigelow and family visited Mr. and Mrs. George Keller last Sunday.

Albert Dean had an x ray taken of his leg last Saturday, April 1st and it was found that the bone was out of place.

The Oak Point Sunday school will hold an election of officers next Sunday after the regular Sunday school, which begins at 10:30.

On Saturday evening, March 25th the Gleaner class of the Sunday school held a party, at which Dr. Dunsmore spoke to the people about the Holy land, which he visited a few years ago. The party was a success and everybody had a good time.

Mrs. Osia McDonald died in a hospital in San Francisco, following an operation, on March 25th. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Gosso of Dallas. The body was shipped to Dallas and the funeral held from the Christian church there March 29th. Mrs. McDonald was born in Oklahoma, but had spent the greater part of her life at Dallas, leaving there about three years ago. Beside her parents, she is survived by four brothers and one sister.

If wishes were autos beggars would run over everybody.
