YOUNG BOYS EXPERT JOCKEYS

Mongolian Youths at Home in the Saddle at an Astonishingly Tender Age.

If a daring traveler braves the dangers of a trip into Mongolia he is fascinated by the natives at the time of their summer festivals. Then every Mongolian family puts on its best bibs and tuckers and goes to the fair, much in the same way the people in our own country sections go to the county fair. However, at the Mongolian county fair one does not "hit the baby" and get a five-cent cigar, or throw rings at canes to obtain a prize, but one does see horse races.

Instead of sitting in a grand stand and watching the entire race, as you do here, you see only the start or finish. For the races in Mongolia are 30 miles long.

The Mongolians are great horsemen, and learn to ride at a very early age. Their lives are spent with and on horses. The women ride as well as the men, and by the time a boy has reached the age of ten he is an expert horseman. In fact, the jockeys are ten-year-old boys.

These little fellows are mounted on the very fast Mongolian ponies, without saddles. Their only trappings are a bridle, a whip and a handkerchief.

They start on their wild ride over the steppes with the courage and spirit of men, whipping their horses fiercely, but often reaching over kindly to wipe the dust from the eyes and nostrils of their ponies.

GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN HERO

Memory of Simon Bolivar Worthily Honored by the Nations He Served So Well.

Simon Bolivar lived during that period in the history of mankind when political revolution was the order of the day. He was born in Caracas, Venezuela, July 24, 1783. The American War of Independence had just then come to an end, and while visiting Paris Bolivar had an opportunity to witness the closing scenes of the French Revolution. By this time the Spanish colonies in South America were beginning to make their various struggles for political independence, and when Bolivar returned to his native land he soon found himself allied with the agitators who were struggling to free their country from the domination of Spain. He rapidly rose to a position of great prominence, both as a statesman and a soldier, and he was again and again appointed as dictator until such time as political independence would be assured. He achieved the political independence of three states: Colombia (in 1819), composed of Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador (from which the last two withdrew in 1830); Peru (1824); and Bolivia, named after Bolivar (1825). When he died, December 17, 1830, he did not have any public money in his possession, although he had had complete control of the treasuries of these republics.

Animal Folklore From India.

Chaucer and "Uncle Remus" obtained inspiration for their stories from the same source—India—according to a theory advanced by Prof. J. M. McBryde of Tulane university. Professor McBryde says the stories probably came from India, on the one hand to England by the way of the Crusaders, forming part of the great wave of animal folklore which spread over Europe, and on the other hand, through Buddhist missionaries into Africa, whence they were brought by the negroes to Southern plantation homes. Stories of the fox outwitting the wolf in the well episode as told by an English poet a century before Chaucer, and by "Uncle Remus" to "the little boys," both paralleling an ancient tale of India, and the "far baby" theme of one of the tales of Buddha's 550 transmutations, are among those cited by Professor McBryde to prove his point.

Good American Word.

Despite its Latin appearance, the word "caucus" never saw Rome in the person of a Latin ancestor. The term is a memorial of the Revolutionary war, and first saw the light in Boston. In a dispute with some British soldiers, the ropemakers and cutlery hotly denounced the British government at a public meeting. Such meetings of protest, expressing open disloyalty to the Crown, came to be humorously characterized by the Tories as "caucus" meetings. From that term of contempt the transition of the word to its use in its present form as a part of our basic electoral machinery was short. It became firmly imbedded in the American language as distinct in several minor details from the language spoken in England.—Detroit News.

The Trial of a Lawyer.

A successful Chautauqua lecturer, a prominent attorney in his own city, has for years entertained large audiences with his lecture, "The Trial of Jesus From a Lawyer's Standpoint." Recently he listened to the following diverting introduction from the lips of a platform manager: "I am very glad to introduce to you, ladies and gentlemen, Mr. B—, who will now entertain us with his celebrated lecture, 'The Trial of Jesus From a Lawyer's Standpoint.' I can only imagine one lecture which might prove more interesting to this audience than the one announced. That would be 'The Trial of a Lawyer From Jesus' Standpoint.'"—Everybody's Magazine.

OREGON ASSOCIATION IN LEAD IN COW TESTING

Oregon cow testing associations lead all cow testing associations in the western states for butter fat production during the month of May, it is announced by Professor L. B. Fitts of the college extension service. The 3460 cows tested in this state gave an average yield of 41.6 pounds of butter fat per cow for the month, or 1.34 pounds daily. In the state the Tillamook association led all the others with 2442 cows tested, with an average butter fat yield of 44.42 pounds.

"Pet"—a grade Jersey owned by J. L. George of Tillamook, made the highest yield from an individual cow, with 114.62 pounds of butter fat produced. Three Oregon associations—Smith, Umpqua, Columbia and Clatsop, are now in the 100 percent pure bred bull class, according to the college's records.

RURAL SERVICE CONTEST CREATES MUCH INTEREST

Oregon weekly and semi-weekly newspapers have been fairly pouring into the office of the department of industrial journalism of the college to be listed in the rural news service contest to be a feature of the annual meeting of the State Editorial association at Corvallis, July 21 to 23. Elbert Bede, president of the association and editor of the Cottage Grove Sentinel, will be chairman of the judging committee.

Indications are that even more interest is being taken in the contest by Oregon editors than was the case last year when competition was keen.

Classes in the contest are: First, grand champion, free for all, except dailies; second, paper published in town of not more than 1500 population; third, paper of fewer than 28 columns all home print. Suitable prizes will be awarded as announced.

"RED CROWN" used exclusively in ANNUAL ECONOMY RUNS

The Los Angeles-Yosemite (Camp Curry) Economy Run is probably the most famous event of its kind in the motor world. Every year about the middle of May, while the snow still lies deep in the mountain passes, from 15 to 20 cars start the strenuous 360-mile run across the interior valleys and up the difficult mountain roads into the Yosemite Valley. Every car is carefully groomed for victory, and driven by an expert.

And in all the six runs so far held, all cars entered have used Red Crown gasoline exclusively.

This year the car making the run on the lowest consumption of fuel, a Chevrolet driven by Dominick Basso, made the entire trip of 360 miles on 12 gallons of "Red Crown" (an average of 30 miles to the gallon), and a pint of Zerolene.

The average gasoline consumption for all cars participating was phenomenally low. This furnishes striking evidence of the continued success of this company in manufacturing a motor-car fuel of the highest grade, justifying for six successive years the unanimous choice of automotive engineers eager to establish the best possible records for their cars. This year, 18 of the 20 cars entered made the entire distance on less than 20 gallons of "Red Crown," although owing to recent rains the roads were unusually difficult.

Red Crown gasoline is the most economical motor fuel on the market today, because it contains the maximum number of heat units that can be rapidly and uniformly vaporized in the modern carburetor and go into complete combustion in the cylinders, producing the maximum power the engine was designed to develop.
