"FATTED CALF" TO NEWSPER MEN

Corvallis and Newport Entertain the State Association

The annual meeting of the Oregon State Editorial association held at Corvallis last Friday and Saturday forenoon with a trip to Newport in the afternoon, extending till the following day as a climax, was the most successful in the history of the association. Nearly 200 newspaper makers were in attendance, and there was keen interest in the program which was given in an Oregon Agricultural college building.

To a very large degree the association was the guest of the Corvallis chamber of commerce and the college during the time spent at Corvallis and of the Newport Community club while at Newport. These organizations entered into the affair wholeheartedly—killing the fatted calf and serving it with a graciousness which brought smiles to the grim visages of the "oneriest" of the bunch. Yes, it was real genuine hospitality, with "kick" enough to make it a memorable event.

What the newspaper men did is of little import to the public. They talked shop, they passed resolutions, and they feasted—body and soul. It was one occasion when the boys—most of them gray haired, by the way—felt that they were off duty, a time when they could relax and not feel that they had to hurry to catch the mail or elude the bill collector.

They were lunched down town and banqueted in the domestic science building of the college by the chamber of commerce; they were provided sleeping quarters in Snell hall, and then as a parting token all members of the party were presented by the chamber of commerce with a round trip ticket to Newport on a special train over the Southern Pacific.

A key of mammoth proportions had been turned over to the newspaper association. It was not just ornamental—it was a key to every heart in Corvallis. For the ladies of the party there were receptions by Mrs. Kerr and others, automobile rides to the country club and other places of interest, visits through the college buildings.

This same key was taken to Newport and it fitted every lock there. When the boat landed at the dock at Newport, a band was extending a welcome and the same spirit was in evidence during the stay there. The Newport Community club served a banquet in the Odd Fellows hall, at seven o'clock the evening of arrival, with seven varieties of sea food on the menu and following a most elaborate repast, oratory and repartee were spilled quite promiscuously. And to round out the night, there were the dance halls, the skating rink, the swimming tank, all of which were opened by the magic key. Sunday morning, ample diversion was offered—auto visits to the light house and other points of interest along the coast; deep sea fishing with sturdy tugs; but strange to say, the attractiveness of divine service was not dangled before the visitors.

And what was best of all—was the feeling of good fellowship which was so markedly in evidence in both Corvallis and Newport. The veneer which surrounds most humans had been removed, revealing a likeable bunch of folks on a frolic.

Newport's one big problem is to overcome its inaccessibility. Confronted with an enormous task to improve her highways and byways, there is a feeling that the Roosevelt highway is going to be the ultimate solution to outside points. What will be a most excellent highway from Corvallis to the bay is now in process of building, but in order that Newport may take the place to which she is rightfully entitled, through advantage of location and its great resources, it will be necessary to build a through coast highway. Newport folks are bound up in this project. B. F. Jones, who by the way, is a former Independence resident, and the republican nominee for representative from the Polk-Lincoln district, is president of the Newport Community club, and will be a very ardent advocate of the highway at the coming session of the legislature.

NEWS EVENTS AT OREGON NORMAL

Superintendent J. A. Churchill visited the Normal on Monday and addressed the students at the chapel hour. He discussed in considerable detail the changes which are being made in the course of study for the elementary schools, which course is to be ready for distribution September 1. The subject was one of particular interest to Normal students as nearly all who teach will use this course of study.

President and Mrs. Charles K. Edmunds of Christian College, Canton, China, accompanied by Miss Marvin of Salem, were guests of Miss Todd at lunch last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds are returning to their work in China after having spent several months in the United States.

Many students will leave Monmouth on Friday evening, having completed six weeks of the work in the summer school. Several courses which were organized particularly for this group of people will be supplemented by others of the same sort for the last half of the term. More than half of the present student body are remaining to complete the work of the whole term which will close September 1.

President Campbell of the University spoke at the chapel hour last Friday morning. President Campbell, always a loyal friend of O. N. S. was cordially welcomed by the student body who listened with great interest to his address on character building.

The training schools in Monmouth, Independence, and the Rural Centers will close Friday after a most successful term of summer school.

L. A. Robinson was a visitor at the Normal last Friday morning. On Tuesday morning, S. A. Barton of the Forestry service spoke to the students regarding the protection of white pine trees from blister rust. Mr. Churchill has in mind a definite campaign through the schools against this disease, so all teachers and prospective teachers are interested in the subject.

A very lovely gift in the form of a three volume edition of Tissot's "Life of Christ" has recently been presented to Miss Todd for the dormitory library. The books are exceptional in several respects; they contain the Biblical text in a three fold form, the Latin and the English in parallel column on one page, and a narrative account on the opposite page. Perhaps the most attractive features of the books are the illustrations, 350 pictures, many in colors, depicting events in the life of Christ. These pictures are, of course, reproductions of the well known paintings by Tissot, which were exhibited in the United States in the Chicago Art Institute about 1902-3, being brought here from exhibitions in Paris and London. The books, therefore, are a valuable addition to the library at the dormitory, and a gift which is very much appreciated.

Monmouth

A very interesting illustrated lecture on "Alaska" was given at the Evangelical church last Sunday evening by Professor W. G. Beattie before a crowded house. Prof. Beattie spent many years in Alaska in educational work, having been sent there by the federal government. In addition to giving an excellent idea of the character of the country by means of slides and descriptions, he traced the development of the natives and told of several splendid missionary enterprises that have benefited the Alaskan Indians.

Mr. Rutherford, a missionary from India who is attending the Normal, gave a lecture on India at the Baptist church last Sunday evening. Mr. Rutherford also occupied the period in Mr. Gentle's class in history of education Tuesday and gave the students a description of the modern India.

A social was held at the Christian church Tuesday evening. A large number attended and a splendid time was reported.

The ladies of the Evangelical church held a successful cooked food sale at the Miller store last Saturday.

Rev. Victor Morris of Eugene, formerly pastor of the local Christian church, was a visitor in Monmouth this week.

Mrs. Lydia Carmichael and small daughter arrived from Lexington Tuesday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Powell.

Miss Laura Emerson and her mother arrived Monday from an extended visit at Fernvale, near Glendale, where her brother has a home.

Francis Arant of Eugene was visitor in Monmouth Monday.

WEEK'S DOINGS IN HIGHLAND COUNTY

Harley Alexander was the guest of his brother, W. N. Alexander, Sunday. He is in the plumbing business at Stevenson, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dick were in Portland Monday attending the funeral of Mrs. Dickinson's mother, Mrs. Dell Alexander had her mother, Miss Elvea Fischer of Salem, here over Sunday.

William Peyree and Don Dick made a business trip to Portland Monday.

Threshing is on this week. Grain is beginning to get into the warehouse. However, crops look mighty discouraging to the farmer.

Mrs. Jack Stapleton is entertaining her aunt, Mrs. Addie Wright of Astoria.

Mrs. Fred Featherstone has been spending several days at her home in Oregon City.

Miss Nellie Young of Lebanon was the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Oren McElmurry.
