Make Success MORE Certain

Have you made a success? Do not allow a fire to eat up your surplus.

Do not make your business stand the financial loss of a valuable consignment destroyed by a wreck.

Do not find that an accident at the factory has stopped profits as well as production. Do not permit a strike to shut off all income.

Insure your present success by making sure of your future success.

Insurance makes success more certain.

OREGON BREVITIES

initiative petitions relating to the voters of Oregon at the general election in 1924 a constitutional amendment providing for state government reorganization and proportionate occupational representation, were filed with the secretary of state at Salem. It had been intended to place this amendment on the ballot at the election next month but lack of sufficient signatures on the petitions necessitated the delay.

The Davidson Fruit company of Hood River has loaded aboard the steamer Gothelstar, which departed from Portland Friday, the first shipment of pears dispatched directly from Portland to Europe by an all-water route. The pears, of assorted varieties, were shipped in the way of an experiment. If the fruit holds up well it is anticipated heavy shipments of the fruit will be made by the all water route next year.

CITY IN BRIEF

From one vine of Isabella grapes, H. C. Compton has sold about a dozen dollars' worth, had ample for his own use and has remembered numerous friends with quantities of the delicious fruit, as the Enterprise force can testify.

Mrs. Joy of Monmouth, who was for years a resident of Independence, has sold her home at Monmouth and will leave in the near future for Los Angeles, where she will make her home.

William Sloper of Salem, a brother-in-law of T. W. Hart, suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday and is in a critical condition. Mr. Sloper is 72 years old.

LOST SLEEP OVER NOTHING

Explorer's Story of a Bad Night He Spent in Venezuela Makes Amusing Reading.

William J. La Varre, Jr., who discovered diamonds in South America, tells as follows of an exciting adventure he had in Venezuela, says the World's Work.

The nearest I have ever come to catching up with adventure was just over the boundary in Venezuela when I sought the hospitality of a night at the cabin of a Spanish ranchero in the mountains. He provided me with food and shelter and I tried to convince him that I was conferring as much distinction on him as he was conferring kindness on me by showing him a letter of recommendation from the President of his country. I then discovered that my host was a revolutionist and one of the President's bitterest enemies. He did not withdraw his hospitality, however, so I swung my hammock on his porch and was about to drop off to sleep when I overheard him and a companion talking in low tones. Their concluding remark in Spanish was: "We won't kill him till morning." I spent an almost sleepless night with my revolver thrust in the breast of my shirt and with one eye always half open for trouble. In the gray of the dawn I saw a figure emerge from the house carrying in its hand a glittering rifle barrel. I carefully got my pistol ready for action and kept it trained on the figure without shifting my position in the hammock. The figure advanced to the edge of the porch, turned its back to me, took firing position and blazed away. Instantly loud squeals from the brush surrounded and to my immense relief I learned that the discussion of the night before referred to the pig which was to be slaughtered for my breakfast.

COULD REBUKE WITH EFFECT

Kindly Cardinal Manning Had Caustic Wit, Which He Only Occasionally Employed.

Cardinal Manning had a caustic wit and he loved to "take down" those who exhibited pomposity. In "Pages From the Past," John Ayscough (Rt. Rev. Mgr. Count Beckersstaffe Drew) tells how the cardinal snubbed an ostentatious prelate.

Once he brought a very magnificent bishop, who by no means despised ornament, to see St. Thomas' seminary.

"It is very plain," remarked his lordship, scanning the rather austere facade.

"You are right," rejoined the cardinal most sweetly. "Quite. There is nothing vulgar about it."

On another occasion the same prelate was a fellow guest, with the cardinal, of royalty. The bishop came in purple; the cardinal presently arrived in his ordinary black coat, breeches, gaiters, and apron; to whom the bishop rushed up, much perturbed at thus eclipsing in splendor a prince of the church.

"Never mind, my dear lord," said the cardinal. "It does not matter. I dare say no one will notice you."

Social Events

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Pengra entertained last Friday evening William Harris, his mother, Mrs. Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. William Grabenhorst of Salem. Mr. Harris resided here for a time while in the employ of the Standard Oil company and is a soloist of much ability.

The Bridge club was entertained delightfully last Thursday night by Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mattison, who are now nicely settled in their new home at the corner of Monmouth and Fifth.

Miss Rita Ruch entertained a number of her young friends at the home of her parents on the east side of the river last Saturday night. Dancing formed the principal diversion. The hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Myers, Ramona Moore, Velma Anderson, Faith Kimball, Laura Wright, Kathleen Mitchell, Arthur Myers, George Ray, Jim Stapleton, Valma Bullis, Cecil Ruef, Carrol Smith, and Roland Johnson of Salem.

Little Mary Emma Miller entertained a number of little friends at her home Monday afternoon, celebrating her 6th birthday. The little folks passed an enjoyable afternoon with games and did full justice to the luncheon served by Mrs. Miller shortly before dispersing. The decorations as well as the favors given the children at the lunch table, were indicative of the Halloween season, and caused much merriment. Little guests present were: Doris Matthews, Nelda Butt, Naomi Hewett, Betty Kelley, Atha Fisher, Ruby Pickens, Frances Knott, Lillian and Gordon Smith.
