R. M. Smith informs us that while cutting timber in an oak grove on H. J. Butler's farm, north of Monmouth, he found an old 45-60 calibre Winchester rifle, buried about six inches beneath the surface of the ground. The stock was rotten and the gun had probably lain there some six or eight years.

Quite a crowd gathered at the boat landing last Saturday to take a look at the new little craft, the "Alice A." At the invitation of Captain Skinner the West Side scribe, the Independence National Bank cashier, and the ENTERPRISE reporter took a short ride up the river on the little steamer.

The boat runs quite smoothly and when under full pressure of steam will be able to make good time against the current. We wish the "Alice A." a successful career.

The Transcript complains that an ENTERPRISE correspondent is seeking to cast odium on the Dallas Academic literary society. We think that our esteemed contemporary is mistaken. However, we will say to our correspondents that it is contrary to the ENTERPRISE's established code of ethics to speak disrespectfully of any worthy person, association, object or thing, and they will please hold in check the ironical tendency of their unbridled fables when discussing those subjects.

L. C. Gilmore has a new 6 x 18 inch mockingbird whistle in operation at the City Water Works. It has a coarse tone and can be heard a distance of twenty miles. The tone is more distinct a mile distant than it is a few hundred yards away.

The Statesman says: "A passenger steamer built for the accommodation of the Salen-Independence trade has made her initial trip. With a time card arranged for the accommodation of the public there is no reason why this little craft should not build up a paying business. Success to the 'Alice A.'"

Judge Hurley, of this city, seems to be under the hallucination that he is something of a racer. While over at Dallas last week he tried his speed at running down the N. G. R. train, but soon learned that the fires of youth and the springs of steel had departed from his erstwhile sinewy limbs.

Apropos of our recent city election the following story is recalled to mind: A young man came West and writing home to his father said, "Come West, dad, come West. They elect some mighty bad men to office out here."

We trust that the gentleman who received only nine majority will not take this as personal to himself.

The great storm wave which has been sweeping over the Mississippi valley reached this coast last Thursday and Friday, and for some three or four days one of the severest storms of recent years raged in this valley. The storm was all the more disagreeable because of its suddenness and marked contrast with the splendid autumnal weather of the past three months.

Fred Brown, the man who has caused our officials more trouble and the taxpayers of the county more ready cash than any man they have "taken to raise" for a long time, had his trial yesterday and a verdict of not guilty was returned. Allen, who was under bonds as an accomplice of Brown in his operations, will be discharged. Prosecuting Attorney McCain informs us.—Dallas Transcript.

TOLD IN SIDE-HEADS.

Penmanship.—Prof. C. N. Faulk organized a class of 40 in penmanship last Thursday evening at the school house. The professor's blackboard "chalk lecture" was very fine. He is an expert penman and a thorough master of his art. The cost of tuition is $1.50 for a series of ten lessons. The professor gives three lessons per week.

Grand Jury Report.—We learn from the Dallas Observer that the grand jury in their report of Dec. 6, say: "We have visited the offices of the various county officers and after inquiry find them all in very good shape, so far as we have been able to judge. We have been shown the books of the different officers and find them neatly and properly kept, so far as we can judge. We also visited the county jail and find the same kept neatly and in order."

Beautiful Paintings.—An ENTERPRISE reporter called at the home of Miss Emma Coquillette the other day and examined some of her fine oil and water color paintings. Miss Coquillette is developing fine talent in this line, and some of the paintings are fine specimens of artistic skill. The fine oil paintings of "Mt. Hood," "Mt. Shasta," "Wild Stags in the Forest" and "Sweet Charity" reveal the mystic touch of the true artist. The water color paintings and the china decorations are very tasteful and pretty. Miss Coquillette first developed a talent for painting at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Salem, and she subsequently attended the art school in Portland.

The "Alice A."—This trim little craft was brought up to Independence last Friday evening, arriving here at about eight o'clock. Geo. S. Skinner, the owner of the boat, acted as engineer and captain, and Henry Pierce as pilot. The "Alice A." is a small steamcraft, thirty-three feet long by seven feet wide. She has a double-acting, compound-condensing, 8-horse power engine, which is limited to 150 pounds of steam. The motor power is a small screw propeller. The boat has a passenger capacity of 10 or 15. The cabin is canvas covered and finished overhead with Spanish cedar. Mr. Skinner expects to operate the "Alice A." between this point and Salem.

Seventieth Birthday.—The Dallas Itemizer gives an interesting sketch of a reception and dinner given at the residence of Hon. W. C. Brown, the pioneer merchant of Polk county, in honor of that gentleman's seventieth birthday. A number of old pioneer guests were present, and Bro. Wash says that "Grandpa Emblee, who is 80, seemed to be the youngest of the lot, quoted poetry, passed around snuff and cigars raised and made at home, and was full of reminiscences extending back to 1844." Mr. Brown came to Oregon nearly fifty years ago, "poor as a church mouse and for several years could carry all his possessions on a wheelbarrow." He made his first wages by hiring to Uncle Cary Emblee and taking his pay in wheat and sheep. In 1853 he purchased Col. Nesmith's Ellendale stock of goods for $2,500 payable in one year without interest, and removed the store to old Dallas. He paid for the goods within six months, and has been engaged in the mercantile business continuously ever since. Mr. Brown is one of Polk county's most prominent pioneer citizens. He has represented this county in the state legislature and by his strict integrity and conscientious sense of duty won the esteem of his associates and the gratitude of his constituents. Although he has now reached the three-score-and-ten mark, there are yet many days of usefulness before him, for he possesses a strong and vigorous physique and unabated mental activity.

A Step Forward.

The Polk County Teachers' association, which convened at Monmouth on the 1st instant, made a step forward in the interest of educational work in this county. The association appointed a committee to consider bids from the newspapers of the county for the purpose of selecting an official organ for the public schools of the county. The ENTERPRISE was the successful competitor. The school teachers of Polk county have the honor of taking the initiative in this movement. Polk county is the first county in the state to have an official organ for the public schools. The idea is not new, it has been in vogue a number of years in the east and is quite a successful means of awakening interest in the common schools of the country.

The public schools of each county should have a recognized official organ, for by this method they can do better and more efficient work in the cause of education. It enables the teachers to concentrate their efforts, to formulate plans, to awaken mutual enthusiasm among the schools and arouse public interest in educational matters. The ENTERPRISE is to give a column each week for the benefit of the public schools of the county. The monthly reports of each school and other matter pertaining to education will appear from time to time. This very interesting feature of our paper will be found on the fourth page. First installment begins in this issue. Do not fail to read it, for if you have children in school it will interest you.

DIED.

CLODFELTER.—At his residence in Independence, Ore., December 10, 1894, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., David H. Clodfelter, of typhoid fever, aged 41 years, 9 months and 6 days.

David Clodfelter was born in Monroe county, Iowa, March 4, 1853. He was the fifth son and youngest child of William and Malinda Clodfelter. He was married on Christmas day, 1873, to Miss Mary E. Harris, and five children have blessed their union, of whom two boys and two girls are living. Mr. Clodfelter first visited Oregon in 1885 in company with his brother, N. O. Clodfelter. They rented a ranch near Philomath, Benton county, and engaged in stock raising for one year, when they returned to their families in Iowa. In 1888 the Clodfelter family, Grandpa and Grandma Clodfelter, N. O. Clodfelter, F. M. Clodfelter and David Clodfelter, accompanied by their wives and children, came to Oregon, and they have ever since made their home in Polk county.

The subject of this sketch was a Christian gentleman of sterling integrity. His word was as good as his bond and his associations with his fellow men were always of a pleasant and amiable character. He became an active church member at the early age of 14 years, and he lived a consistent Christian life until called away from "this bank and shoal of time." At the time of his death he was a member of the Congregational church of this city.

The deceased was patient and cheerful under the chastening hand of affliction, never complaining at any time during the long, weary weeks while the deadly typhoid was slowly eating his life away. A peculiar circumstance occurred about eight days before his death. He had lost the power of speech, was weak and helpless, but still retained the fullness of his mental faculties. His brother Noah was sitting at his side, and motioning for a slate, the sick man wrote as follows: "Will be this way till after eight days. Will be well in eight days. So don't grieve or bother about me till the eight days—I will be well. Won't take any medicine. You don't need to sit up with me. Will pop up bright the eighth day. So let me alone. The doctor needn't come." The peculiar coincidence is, he died on the eighth day. He had indeed arisen "bright the eighth day."

Rev. D. V. Poling, his beloved pastor, preached a very impressive funeral discourse on Tuesday at 2 o'clock p. m. The remains were interred in the Odd Fellows cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow, four children, an aged father and mother, who have made their home with him for the last twelve years, two brothers and one sister to mourn his death, all of whom live in this vicinity.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address

REVISED
Christmas Eve
not a day of merriment
but a day of reflection and of deep and quiet joy

The returning board made the official count of the late city election Saturday evening. There were no changes made in the vote as previously announced in this paper.

Rev. L. S. Fisher is conducting quite a religious revival at the Evangelical church in Monmouth. The meetings have been going on for five weeks with unabated interest and zeal. There were 24 conversions and 16 additions to the church reported Tuesday. These services will be continued during the week, if not longer. The baptisms will take place Sunday.

Council Proceedings.

The city council met, pursuant to call of J. D. Irvine, president of the board, Dec. 6, 1894. In the absence of Mayor Hurley, the president of the council called the meeting to order. Councilmen present: Cook, Finch, Irvine, Kirkland, Percival and Strong. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. The committee on streets submitted the following report:

"We, your committee, would suggest the following improvements: First, that the ditch running on the south side of D street from Third to Railroad street be opened and all obstructions be removed, and also the ditch on the north side of E street from Third to Railroad be opened and the marsh be instructed to notify the property owners along said streets to open the ditches, and the marshal to make proper openings across each street and alley."

"Third. That all electric light poles for the stringing of wires be not less than 12 feet higher than the present poles now in use."

"Fourth. That the expense of lighting the city be reduced 20 per cent from the present price, or be asked to run all night at the present price."

"Fifth. That a new sidewalk be put down on Monmouth street at the corner of Eighth street along the property known as the Mrs. Frank Burch place and to join on the south side of a city bridge."

"Sixth. That an ordinance be passed prohibiting the use of bicycles in the city of Independence, as it is dangerous to the people walking along on the walks."

[Signed] H. C. FINCH, PETER COOK, J. E. KIRKLAND, Committee.

Moved that sections 5 and 6 of the report be adopted and the balance of the report be laid over until next meeting; carried.

Moved that the street committee be instructed to confer with the officers of the electric light company and make definite terms with them in regard to the cost of lighting the city; carried.
