There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable.

Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.

It is a small dark gray bird that plucks the blossom for the purpose of extracting the sweet juices from the stamens.

A dozen of these voracious creatures will make the ground white with blossoms in a few minutes.

The bird is apparently a new comer in this section, and our orchardists should use every effort to exterminate the pest.

Arbor Day Exercises. The Independence public schools duly celebrated Arbor day last Friday, April 12, with appropriate exercises and the planting of a maple sapling in the front schoolhouse yard.

About 1:30 p. m. quite a crowd of Independence people congregated in the grove on the school grounds.

The roll of the drum announced that the exercises were about to begin.

The school filed out of the building in solid column led by Mrs. Tuck's primary department.

After reaching the spot where the tree planting was to take place the pupils formed a sort of hollow square and in one voice repeated the invocation.

After the invocation. The tree was placed in the ground the pupils filed back in line to the front steps of the school house, where the following program was rendered:

1. Salute to the flag; 2. Song, "America," by the school. 3. Dialogue by pupils of second grade;

4. Song, by pupils of first grade; 5. Recitation by Nellie Whiteaker; 6. Concert recitation by fourth grade; 7. Music, by school orchestra;

8. Music, by school orchestra; 9. Guardians of the forest, by 3d and 4th grades; 10. Essay, "Trees," by Ann Mann; 11. Recitation, by Charlie Richardson; 12. Music, by school orchestra; 13. Recitation, by Ivy Burton; 14. Recitation, by Lillian Connaway; 15. Song, by 8th grade; 16. Solo and chorus, "Red White and Blue."

Various states of the Union have striven to encourage tree-planting by appointing a certain day in the year to be known as Arbor Day, for the voluntary planting of trees by the people.

We believe that the honor of originating Arbor day belongs to Secretary of Agriculture J. Sterling Morton.

The Nebraska Board of Agriculture in 1874 recommended the second Wednesday of April as a day dedicated to the work of planting trees.

This was the first public step taken towards inaugurating Arbor day, since then the custom has been adopted by 44 of the states; in 21 states, as legal holiday; in five as holidays for schools.

DIED. KIMBALL.—At the residence of Dr. Boynton, in Buena Vista, Or., April 12, 1895, Mary Sophia Kimball, of paralysis, in her 60th year.

Miss Kimball was born in Bradford, Mass., 1835. She was a graduate of Bradford Academy and later on graduated from the State Normal at Salem, Mass. She taught school in Missouri, and in 1849 emigrated to California.

Miss Kimball was made principal of the Oakland public school, which position she filled acceptably for twenty years. She retired from the school room some two years ago, and about one year later she was stricken with nervous prostration, which was the primary cause of her death.

Rev. O. B. Whitmore, of Independence, preached the funeral sermon last Sunday, and the remains were laid to rest in I. O. O. F. cemetery at Buena Vista.

When Baby was sick, we cried for Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
