Ir would seem that the triple alliance have succeeded in bullying Japan to some purpose. They have already succeoled in wresting Port Arthur and the Liau Tong peninsula from the conquerors of China, and now decrepit and engagenlated old Spain demands that Russia, Germany and France compel essential qualifications to success in mosa. It is hardly probable that this them and no one ever failed who pos last demand will be pushed to the extreme, for the intrepid Japanese are too gallant a people to surrender the "island of the beautiful" without an appeal to arms. Spain is too weak to fight Japan single handed, and she stands in deadly fear of the new power that has arisen in the Orient. She fears that Japan will become aggressive in the future and turn her ironclads and batallions upon the Phil ipine islands. came over from Salem yesterday on The possession of Formosa places the Japanese within easy striking distance of these islands, honce the Spaniard's alarm. There is apparently some grounds for Spain's trepidation, for Japan is certain to put the bulk of the Chinese indemnity into a formidable mavy. The argument against the single gold standard, and it is the only argument, is that there is not a sufficient quantity of gold to do the business of the world. When the volume of money is lessened it causes values to depreciate, and falling values always mean distress among the masses.
