FLIES ARE DOING WELL

This summer just because a great many people think it's economy to let their horses go without nets. That's a mistake.

TREAT YOUR HORSE LIKE A MAN

He'll do better work, be less nervous and require less food when protected from insects. It's near the end of the season just when flies bite hardest and stick tightest. Nets are cheapest now—not at cost, but with mighty small profit—some at 50 cents, some at $3, and all prices between.

Constable Curt Hubbard, of Dallas, was shaking hands with old acquaintances on our streets last Friday. Curt is full of his recent trip East. He saw some fine country, especially in Eastern Nebraska, Northern Iowa and Eastern Illinois. Mr. Hubbard says that Ogden is a most beautiful and home-like city, while Chicago is a marvel of bigness, thrift and enterprise.

A material change has been made in the matter of lighting the big G. A. R. hall. Instead of canvas windows at the sides the building will be lighted from the top by glass windows in the tower. It is considered that this method is an improvement upon the old style of canvas windows, besides being equally as cheap it is a decided improvement in the appearance of the building. The tower will be 16 feet square and will afford ample light for the building. There will also be a large transom over each entrance or doorway which will afford considerable light.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Laughary returned home the first of the week from their outing over in the Alsea country. An electric sensation has broken out in Newport, and the summer visitors there of a gossipy turn of mind are up to their eyes in the dirty details. A musical man and the unmarried sister of his wife are the chief figures in the affair, and their discovery in a situation compromising, and the subsequent anxiety of the horn blower to quit Newport for the sequestered shades of Salem is the beginning and the end of the story. Since people sometimes go away from home to misbehave, it is well that this couple had their sins exposed to the effect that a lesson may be learned to the effect that puritanic deportment is as important in Newport as it is in Salem.—Corvallis Times.

Richard F. Wells, Esq., a prominent real estate dealer and attorney of Tacoma, is visiting friends and relatives in this city and vicinity. Mr. Wells is well known in Polk county, having made his home here from early boyhood to mature manhood, but some ten years ago located in Tacoma and at once became identified with the business element of that enterprising city. Mr. Wells has recently been East on business going as far as Ohio. He spent several weeks in the newly discovered oil regions of Ohio, and says that region of the old Buckeye state is passing through one of the biggest booms he ever saw. Mr. Wells expects to visit Alaska soon, and perhaps Southern California later in the fall. We are pleased to state that Dick (that is the way his Polk county friends address him) is looking as fine as a duke, and is, as usual, the best ideal of good fellowship.

MARRIED.

HAWLEY—LANDESS.—In Monmouth, Or., August 14, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. Curtis L. Hawley and Miss Rose Landess, Rev. Sumpter, officiating.

The marriage ceremony was celebrated in the Christina church which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The guests consisted only of the families of the bride and groom.

The gallant young groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hawley, of Monmouth, who rank among the first families of the county. Curtis Hawley is a young gentleman of much promise, and stands well in the community where he lives.

The fair young bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Landess, who reside near Monmouth, and are people of high respectability.

The many friends of the young couple wish them a happy journey through life together. The groom and bride left for Newport on the 11 o'clock train, where they will enjoy a few days of the social season before beginning the every day realities of wedded life.

WELLS—DAVIDSON.—At the residence of William Wells, near Buena Vista, Oregon, Sunday, August 11, 1895, Emmet Wells and Miss Mabel Davidson, Rev. Lees, officiating.

The gallant groom is a son of Wm. Wells, Esq., one of Buena Vista's pioneer hop-growers, and the fair bride has made her home with the family of Mr. J. B. Williams since last spring, and has many friends in this vicinity. Her people reside in Ashland, Oregon.

The marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The many friends of the happy couple wish them a pleasant journey together through life, a pathway strewn with roses and a home filled with mutual love and confidence.
