FLIES ARE DOING WELL
 This summer just because a great many people think it's economy to let their horses go without nets. That's a mistake.

TREAT YOUR HORSE LIKE A MAN!
 He'll do better work, be less nervous and require less feed when protected from insects. It's near the end of the season just when flies bite hardest and stick tightest. Nets are cheapest now—not at cost, but with mighty small profit—some at 50 cents, some at $1, and all prices between.

Mr. J. W. Elliot, who lives in Bridgeport precinct, was in the city Tuesday looking for hop pickers. He says that about 50 pickers could find employment in that vicinity.

Mr. Jerome Dornstet returned this week from a ten day's trip in Idaho. He says the season has been unusually dry and that crops are a failure except where they have irrigation.

Among the Independence arrivals Tuesday from Newport were Mrs. W. P. Conaway, Mrs. V. Wells, Mrs. W. H. Craven and Miss Cora Snell, who were also accompanied by Mrs. L. W. Robertson and daughter, Miss Lottie, from Portland.

Hop pickers' outfits, such as Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, Comforters, etc., can be bought cheaper and more satisfactorily at Rosendorf & Hirschberg's than at any other place in Independence. Before buying call on us and convince yourself of the fact.

The Payallup Citizen says: Conditions in Yakima are about the same. In most of the bottom yards the crop have made such headway that the lice have ruined an inability to obtain pick-money, the blue market outlook and early neglect and subsequent abandonment of yards, will it admitted by well informed parties engaged in the industry, cut down the Yakima output to 5,000 bales.

Dr. Reese Holme is sufficiently recovered to resume his professional duties, and his antagonist Dr. Ausplund is able to be about the street, although he still carries his lame arm in a sling. The bloody duel has given both these professional gentlemen considerable notoriety and which, no doubt, will add materially to their practice.

An exchange says: "Ollie Heacock, a 12-year-old girl living near Newberg, discovered a chicken hawk in a fight with the mother of a brood of young chickens. She stepped up behind the hawk, placed her foot on its tail and then put it in a sack." The enterprising paragrapher omitted to say whether the little maiden sprinkled salt on the hawk's tail, a process usually considered necessary to the capture of birds in this manner.

The Salem Post relates that the notorious Jordan boys attempted to hold-up the Allen brothers, who live near the Rickreall, as they were passing near Putnam's hopyard last Saturday. Their horse took fright, running away and breaking the buggy into kindling wood. A little later on Frank Ferrel, of Salem, and a friend were passing along the same road, and were also called to a halt by the Jordans and striking one of the Jordans in the face, broke his nose, and then turned upon the other fellow and gave him a sound thumping.

Brother Gault, of the Hillsboro Independent, is one of those old fogies who is everlastingly in love with the beautiful Willamette valley. Here is the way he talks: "There has been a doubt in the minds of some of us younger fry, touching the soundness of our father's judgment in the 50's when they passed Burnt river, Powder river and Grande Ronde, and came that last weary 300 miles to the Willamette valley. A recent trip through that country shows that the old men made no mistake. The country that waited for them in the Willamette valley is worth a journey through that sage brush and grease wood. Nothing equals the desolation of the Snake river hills."

About ninety hop pickers from Corvallis and vicinity are leaving today and tomorrow to begin hop picking Monday in Buena Vista yard. They were engaged by Cal. Thrasher, and 77 of them go to Bonsey and Herren's yard, where they pay 50 cents per box, and the rest will pick for Poterfield at 40 cents.—Corvallis Times.

We herewith invite all the ladies of Independence and vicinity to call and examine our new line of dress goods and ladies' shoes. We claim and will prove that we now have finer dress goods than any house in Polk county, and as fine as any in Portland. Come and examine the styles and quality. Our ladies' jackets and cloaks will arrive this week. Rosendorf & Hirschberg.

An ENTERPRISE reporter visited W. L. Wilkins' hop yard Wednesday, and as far as he could observe, the hops were free from both lice and mould. We have heard but little complaint of lice in this vicinity, and if the weather continues as bright and promising as it is today the entire hop crop will be harvested without damage.

Clinton Bradley placed upon our table last Saturday several magnificent peaches of the Early Charlotte variety and also several fine yellow plums. One of the peaches measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference and one of the plums measured 7/8 inches in circumference. The fruit is of excellent flavor and was raised on W. P. Bradley's farm near Parker, distant about six miles south of this city.

Clint Brown, who lives in the south part of the county, was arraigned before Justice Irvine Tuesday on the charge of assaulting his 14-year-old son. The trouble occurred down at Mr. Eph Young's where the boy had taken refuge after running away from the parental roof several weeks ago. The testimony went to show that Brown had beaten the boy over the head with his fist and otherwise maltreated him. After carefully weighing the evidence the court fined the defendant $5 and costs.

The streets and sidewalks of the city have been crowded with Uncle Sammy's erstwhile wards for the past week. Several of the lusty braves behaved the same as some white men do when they visit the city. That is to say, they filled themselves to the neck with "chain lightning" and got fired into the "cooler." Poor Lo is experiencing some of the inalienable privileges of citizenship, but he shows more dignity in standing up and paying his fine than some of his white brothers do. In fact, as a rule, the Indian is a better man of the two.

There have lately been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an absolute edition of "Webster's Dictionary." These books are given various names, "Webster's Unabridged," "The Great Webster's Dictionary," "Webster's Big Dictionary," "Webster's Encyclopedic Dictionary," etc., etc. Many announcements concerning them are misleading. The Webster reprint portion of each from A to Z is the same—forty-six years behind the times, and printed from plates made by photographing the old pages. The old book has been padded out by various additions culled from various sources, but the body is the same that was published when Polk was president and buried in the incoming of Lincoln. The Webster, current from Lincoln to Harrison, is the popular copyrighted "Unabridged" which has recently been superseded by WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY.—See advertisement in another column of this paper.

Peaches at Clodfelter Bro's. Cheaper than ever.

The streets of Independence were crowded with native sons and daughters last Saturday. They hailed from the Grand Ronde and Siletz reservations.

Makes Pure Blood. These three words tell the whole story of the wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best blood purifier and spring medicine.

Mrs. and Mrs. D. H. Craven came home Tuesday from their outing at the Upper Soda on the Santiam. They report having a good time and plenty of venison and trout.

The light draft river steamer Gypsy made her first trip up the river Wednesday, returning again today. The Gypsy is a neat little steamer and skims through the water as gracefully as a seagull.

The Webbing Sisters performed before a fair sized audience at the opera hall last Tuesday evening. These talented artists sustained their reputation as interesting and brilliant entertainers of the public.

In anticipation of the next G. A. R. Encampment to be held at Independence next year, the people of that city are erecting a building 80 feet in diameter. They never do things by halves up there.—McMinnville Transcript.

The Dallas papers announce that the County Board of Equalization meets on Monday, September 23, 1895. Those of our tax-payers who consider they have been over-assessed should avail themselves of the opportunity to lay their grievances before the county board, or forever afterwards hold their peace.

Mrs. McGinn & Catlin, successors to Mrs. L. Campbell, are making the City restaurant one of the most popular eating resorts in the city.

These ladies are up-to-date in the culinary art and the accommodations are the best. They are at the old stand on Main and Monmouth streets where the hungry can get meals at all hours of the day.

G. A. R. Hall Opening.

The members of Gibson post G. A. R. and the W. R. corps will give a grand concert at the big G. A. R. Hall on Thursday evening, September 25. An interesting program will be rendered consisting of speeches, music, etc. State Commander Ethan W. Allen will be present. Arrangements are being made to have Senator Mitchell deliver the opening address. Full program announced next week.

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the firm of J. P. Irvine will please call and settle immediately. The undersigned can be found at Justice Irvine's office for a few days, and is authorized to collect and receipt for all bills.

Respectfully,
 CLARENCE IRVINE.

DEATH OF MAYOR HURLEY

HURLEY.—In Independence, Or., August 31, 1895, at 8:45 p. m., Andrew M. Hurley, of catarrh of the stomach, aged 56 years, 8 months and 17 days.

Andrew Moore Hurley was born in Bangor, Maine, December 14, 1838. He came of Scotch-Irish stock, his ancestors having emigrated to this country in the latter part of the 18th century. The Scotch character was strongly marked in the mentality and physiognomy of the deceased. When the family emigrated to Wisconsin when Andrew was quite young. Several years after locating in that state the father died, leaving a widow and six children, three sons and three daughters. The widowed mother, who was now left to her own resources, found in Andrew a strong arm on whom to lean for comfort and material assistance. The responsibilities of life early developed the youth into a strong and self-reliant young man, strong in mental power, moral character and industrious habits.

Mrs. Jane Hurley, accompanied by her three sons, Andrew, Hartwell and William, and daughter Mary, emigrated to Oregon in 1864, locating in the Willamette valley. Two of the sisters were married in Wisconsin, but subsequently removed to this state, after the mother and brothers had located here. Andrew Hurley was what the world recognizes as a self-made man, he had received very little of the culture given by the schools, but his mind was richly stored with useful knowledge and a large fund of practical wisdom. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1873, and has enjoyed a fair practice in the courts of the state for the past twenty years. He was married to Miss Almira M. Smith, of West Chehalum valley, Yamhill county, in November 1874, and for a number of years made his home in Lafayette. The family removed to Independence in November 1888, and Judge Hurley at once became prominent in the social, business and political affairs of Polk county. His has been a familiar form upon the streets of this city for the past seven years, and everyone have come to recognize the high character and moral worth of the man. Judge Hurley's father was a minister of the gospel, devout and enthusiastic in the cause of his Master, and the son inherited much of his father's deep religious nature, although his mental development led him far away from many of the theological tenets of his early training. He possessed a strong nature, sympathetic and tender but earnest, and it can be truly said that those who knew him best loved him the most. It was the privilege of the writer to have become intimately acquainted with the deceased, and the inner temple of this man's noble nature was revealed to his view. There was nothing mercenary or mean in Judge Hurley's character, his heart was as pure as the limpid waters from a mountain spring and his thoughts as lofty as the stars. Some men, like a steep and rugged mountain, are grand and imposing to the view from a distance, but repellent and unapproachable when you come into immediate contact with them. Our departed friend was comparable to a beautiful valley, which is duly observed from a distance, but is seen to be blossoming with flowers, golden with fruit and radiant with sunshine and fructifying heat when you come in touch with its vernal environments.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, in the death of Mayor Andrew M. Hurley an all wise Providence has removed from the associations of men a most useful and respected citizen, therefore be it

Resolved, By the common council of the city of Independence, Polk county, Or., that while we bow with humble submission to the decree of the Infinite, we mourn the loss of an able presiding officer and the wise counsel of a highly honorable, upright and conscientious member of this body.

Resolved, That the intimate relations which existed between the members of this council and its late presiding officer, and the interest which he exhibited in forwarding the work and prescribing the duties of this body will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of the members of this council be extended to the widow and children of their deep bereavement, and that a page in our records suitably inscribed be devoted to the sacred memory of our lamented presiding officer, and a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased and published in the local papers.
