From this distance and at this point in the evidence it appears that the defense in the Durrant case have to build upon a very frail superstructure. While all the evidence both for the prosecution and the defense is strictly circumstantial, yet the weight of testimony is against the defendant. It is barely possible that Durrant's neck will be saved from the hangman's noose, but he is standing upon dangerous ground, which must be apparent even to his callous nature. If Theodore Durrant is innocent, he is certainly the most unfortunate of men for fate and circumstances are against him.

It is a gruesome and blood-curdling story that comes from Linn county in regard to the attempted murder of Mrs. Hiatt near Scio last Thursday evening. The would-be assassin is a woman. It is alleged that Mrs. Emma Hannah, disguised as a man, is the person who made the murderous assault upon Mrs. Hiatt. There appears to be some diversity of opinion as to the motive. There is evidence to show, as it is alleged, that the motive was for the purpose of robbery, while there is other evidence that the "green-eyed monster" inspired the murderous deed. It is hoped for the credit of woman that Mrs. Hannah will prove her innocence.

ATTENTION is called to notice of special meeting of the "Sons and daughters of Oregon pioneers" to be held in this city on the 19th instant. It is hoped that as many as can conveniently attend will be present. The object of the meeting is to sufficiently organize so the "sons and daughters association" can co-operate with the "Polk County Pioneer Association's" reunion at Dallas next June. The movement is certainly worthy in every way and we trust that the descendants of the Oregon pioneers will gladly aid in perpetuating the memory and noble work of their mothers and fathers. No pioneer's son or daughter should be recreant to this sacred duty.

SPECIAL attention is called to Principal Hayes' announcement of the opening of the Independence schools, which appears in another column. Parents should carefully read the list of books which come under each grade and see to it that their children are properly equipped with the necessary supplies. The name of every child in the district should appear upon the school enrollment. There is no excuse in this day and age for depriving the boys and girls of this country of the benefits of a common school education. It is better for the state to pay for the education of the young than it is to support a horde of paupers and criminals, and it is better for parents to deny themselves some of the conveniences of life than to raise their children in ignorance. The jails and almshouses are filled with illiteracy; and, other things being equal, the person with a common school education is better equipped for life than those who have not these advantages. In all ages of the world ignorance has been the hot bed of crime, and it is largely the influence of the common schools of this country that makes Americans the most progressive and the most enterprising people of the world today.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at any Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Our Roseburg correspondent again discusses an interesting topic in his usual entertaining manner in this week's ENTERPRISE.

It has been the purpose of the publishers of the ENTERPRISE to enlarge the paper and make other essential changes as soon as they could see their way clear to do so. The change is made with this week's issue. We have never said much about the improvements we had in view, for we think it better to work diligently, "saw wood and say nothing" than to fill up our columns with promises only made to be broken and vain vauntings empty as a vacuum. The ENTERPRISE has now more reading matter than any newspaper in the county, and the matter is fresh, diversified and entertaining. It gives the news from all parts of the world in a concise, entertaining form; there is romance for the gay, solid thought for the sedate and a variety of sparkling brevities for all classes of readers. The farmer's column and the world's market reports are of special interest to those engaged in agricultural pursuits. The local and editorial departments of the paper will be along similar lines traversed heretofore, modified, of course, by such improvements as we may be able to make from time to time. We confidently predict that our readers will be pleased with the mechanical and literary changes in this week's issue.

THE newspapers of Western Oregon are quite generally discussing the question whether or not the climate and soil of the Willamette valley is adapted to the cultivation of sugar beets. To be sure, the experiment has never been tried on a large scale, but a number of progressive, intelligent farmers have been experimenting in a small way in sugar beets for several years and with fairly good results. An analysis of the product sent to the Agricultural college in 1892 from seven Willamette valley counties gave an average percentage of 14.98 in crystallized sugar from the juice of the beets. This falls about 95 per cent below the average richness of the German product, yet the samples from Linn county yielded as high as 17.10 per cent. It is the concurrent opinion of intelligent observers that the Willamette valley is destined at no distant day to become a great sugar beet producer, and that beet sugar will be one of the staple productions of the country. It requires a peculiar quality of soil and plenty of sunshine to produce a good quality of sugar beets, and our farmers should continually experiment so as to ascertain the localities best adapted to successful production of this product.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

GRAND OPENING EXERCISES.

The Splendid G. A. R. Auditorium Formally Opened To The Public.

SPEECHES, RECITATIONS AND MUSIC.

The G. A. R. auditorium was formally opened to the public on Thursday evening, September 26. At least 500 people paid admission to the building, and by their applause and enthusiasm manifested their appreciations of the very entertaining program. The main building is lighted by a 2000-candle power arc light, while the stage is furnished with 7 incandescent lights. The seating accommodations are very good, consisting of chairs and comfortable benches. The stage was occupied by the members of the General Gibson post, No. 64, also the newly enrolled members of the Sons of Veterans, the speakers and chorus singers of the evening. The opening exercises were begun by singing the ode "America". Post Commander J. L. Stockton, in a neat speech, welcomed the people and briefly reviewed the history of the building. He said the citizens had subscribed $315, and the building has a debt of only $530 standing against it. The labor in the construction of the building had been gratuitously contributed by members of the Gibson post and other generous and public-spirited citizens of Independence. Commander E. W. Allen, of Portland, and Colonel Hoefler, of The Capital Journal, delivered eloquent and interesting addresses. Commander Allen reviewed the work of the Grand Army of the Republic, and spoke very feelingly in regard to the healing of the old wounds between the North and the South. Colonel Hoefler appealed to the patriotism of the people and said that the essential safe-guards to citizenship were moral character and high intellectual purpose. Mrs. Ungerman, of McMinnville, spoke interestingly for a few minutes on the good work being done by the Woman's relief corps. Mrs. J. P. Irvine, of McMinnville, recited "The Dandy Fifth" in her usual acceptable manner.

Prof. Wymer, of Salem, and Mrs. Walter Babbitt, of this city, elicited storms of applause by their masterly renditions on the piano. Both are unquestionably very fine musicians and it is seldom that an Independence audience has an opportunity to hear such talented artists.

The Novello Club simply covered themselves with glory. They are inimitable, irrepresible and incomparable; good actors as well as trained and accomplished singers. The Dallas Glee Club proved themselves to be a musical quartette of very high order, and their rendition was applauded to the echo.

The local talent of Independence sang some very interesting selections. Miss Susie Fennell, one of our local talents, rendered an excellent violin solo, accompanied by Miss Ella Fennell on the piano. The program as a whole was highly entertaining.

The gross receipts of the evening amounted to $118, and the net proceeds will be applied on the indebtedness of the building.

During the afternoon a camp of the Sons of Veterans was organized with 24 members. The following officers were elected: W. P. Conaway, captain; Ira Clodfelter, 1st lieutenant; Fred M. Brown, 2nd lieutenant; W. A. Baker, W. L. Wilkins, Harry Hosler, council.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundeman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at any Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A DRAMATIC CARNIVAL.

The citizens of Independence have been entertained during the past week with a series of dramatic plays by Jed Carlton's celebrated company of players. This company is composed of some of the leading star players of the country, notably: Frank Readick, Eugene Kay, Stanley Ross, Jed Carlton, Misses Millie Freeman, Emma Morris, Ada Sherman, Florence Earl and others.

On Friday night "Destiny" or "From Florida to New Mexico," a dramatic tale of the Sunny South, was played in a rather small but enthusiastic house. The cast of characters was well sustained. Mr. Readick and Miss Freeman represented the hero and the heroine of the story and played in their usual good style, often eliciting applause by their realistic personations. On Saturday night Alexander Dumas' masterpiece, "Monte Cristo" was played before a much larger audience than was present the night before. This is a drama of rare power, unlooked for surprises and a most tragic and fascinating denouement. "Hazel Kirke," the most fascinating and pathetic play of the series, was interesting throughout. Eugene Kay's personation of Dunstan Kirke, the old miller was most admirable and Miss Ada Sherman, as Dolly Dutton, won all hearts by her piquant vivacity and roguish coquetry. Miss Florence Earl was pathetically interesting in the delineation of the miller's beautiful daughter, Hazel Kirke, and Mr. Jed Carlton played to perfection the character of Pittacus Green, the jolly young Englishman. Of course, it goes without saying, Stanley Ross sustained the character of Arthur Carrington, the young English nobleman, in his usual interesting and gallant style. The combination of talent in the Carlton company has rarely been equaled and never surpassed by any dramatic troupe that has ever visited this city.
