Editor Brown and Manager Bailey, of this paper, accompanied by Mrs. Brown, took a drive out into the country last Sunday afternoon, going as far as the county seat. They were very favorably impressed with the country and the neat and thrifty appearance of the farms.

Corvallis is hit hard by the moral wave. Last Sunday that erstwhile Bacchanalian town was both cigarless and drinkless. There was wailing and gnashing of teeth among the old tobacco and whiskey toppers, and even the poor belated house-wife, who had forgotten to order bread from the baker on the evening before was compelled to bake hot biscuits for the family board during the day. Alas and alack, these are trying times for the happy-go-easy Corvallisites! When will the clouds pass by?
