

CATARRH.

Symptoms, Effects, Treatments and Cure by Dr. Darrin At Williamette Hotel.

Among the chief chronic diseases which affect the human frame, catarrh is the most prevalent, most offensive, most productive of discomfort and a variety of distressing and dangerous complications. Its earliest and most prominent symptom is a discharge from the head, varying in its nature in different cases, and even in the same individual at different times. It may be a thin, colorless, acrid fluid, or a glairy, starch-like substance. Generally, however, it is thick, purulent, or mucopurulent matter, either ash-colored, or of a deep green tint, occasionally streaked or flecked with blood. So copious and offensive is the discharge in many cases, that patients express the belief that their heads are one "mass of corruption."

"Hawking."

Much of the discharge passes backward, either dropping in the throat, or collecting as a tough, viscid, tenacious phlegm, behind and above the soft palate to the passage between the throat and the head. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration, and creates a constant discomfort by drawing the offensive substance into the throat by a loud insuflation through the nose, so as then to be able to eject it by a disagreeable "hawking."

Fatal Effects of Catarrh.

The swallowing of catarrhal secretions deranges the function of the stomach, causing indigestion and loss of appetite and health. Debility, paleness, lassitude, headache and disturbance of mind soon follow. In some instances the mental affection is one of irritability, the patient being unduly annoyed by all the perplexities of life. In others the prominent feeling is that of melancholy depressions of spirits, when the invalid can see no hope in the future for himself or his affairs. Catarrhal deafness is almost sure to follow in a majority of cases.

Offensive Breath.

In the most advanced stages, the discharges are generally of an offensive odor, causing great annoyance to one's friends and the patient himself, while his sense of smell remains. This annoyance from the odor becomes almost beyond endurance, more especially when the disease assumes the form of syphilis, and delicate bones of the nose become diseased.

Deformity of the Nose.

In cases where the bones of the nose become diseased, not only is the offensiveness of the breath greatly increased, but there is a liability to serious personal deformities, among which are flattening of the nose.

Consumption and Death.

Catarrh affections, unchecked by treatment, are prone to extend by continuity of surface along the natural air passages to the substance of the lungs, thus causing consumption and death. In this connection it should also be remembered that the air which enters the lungs of a catarrhal patient is every breath of it poisoned by the foul secretion of the diseased surface. By such air the blood cannot be properly purified, and made fit to import healthy vigor in its mending circuit to all and every part of the animal mechanism. One would suppose that this consideration alone would be sufficient to induce every application for relief.

Treatment and Cure.

By the medicinal and electric system of treatment, which Dr. Darrin has adopted and pursued for years with uniform success a complete and permanent cure of this repulsive disorder can be effected. Thus, he has demonstrated in thousands of cases, representing the disease in every form and all its various stages of development.

His applications are made to reach the diseased parts in the most direct and positive manner, instantaneously penetrating every cell and cavity of the head communicating with the nostrils, and subjecting every portion of the membrane to the healing action of the remedy employed, with the most beneficial result, without causing the least pain or unpleasant sensation. The affected cavities are thoroughly cleansed from incrusts morbid matter, the offensive smell is removed and relief from other troublesome symptoms is almost immediately experienced. The discharge soon diminishes, irritation is allayed, the inflammation subsides, ulcerations are made to heal, and finally a radical and permanent cure is effected.

Numerous testimonials have appeared in this paper during the past few weeks from those who thought they owed it to the doctor, as well as hundreds of life sufferers, to speak of the good work that has been done for them.

Postmaster Merriman, of Medford tells how His Wife Was Cured by Dr. Darrin.

Noticing Dr. Darrin's advent, I think it no more than right to tell the public what he did for my wife two years ago. For about six years my wife had a troublesome catarrh of the head, which resulted in bronchitis and asthma. All previous attempts at cure proved futile. Dr. Darrin cured her of the above mentioned trouble in about three months. I am glad to give this card in justice to Dr. Darrin, as well as the good it may do the public. Refer any one to me or my wife at Medford, Or.

Prominent Salem Lawyer Divorced.

The Salem Statesman has this to say of parties well known in Independence: On yesterday afternoon Judge R. P. Boise, in department 2 of the circuit court ordered a decree entered in the case of Carey F. Martin vs. Adda D. Martin, forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant on the grounds of desertion.

The parties are well known in Salem where it was generally known that they had not lived together during the past four years and it was supposed by many that the legal separation had already been granted but the record does not show that any papers were filed until the 8th of the present month and the final decree granted on yesterday. Judge F. Bonham appeared for the plaintiff and the defendant made no appearance.

ACQUITTAL THE VERDICT.

Chas. Brown Accused of Pulling up Hop Vines.

Last week a case came up in Justice of the Peace Irvine's court wherein the State of Oregon was plaintiff and Chas. Brown, defendant, in which said Brown was accused by Sing On, a wealthy hop raiser, of having premeditatedly destroyed the growing hop vines belonging to him. Sing rents a hop yard of Brown, and the former claimed Brown destroyed his vines with the view to so discourage him that he would give up the yard. The case was tried by a jury, and after a few minutes' deliberation brought in a verdict of not guilty.
